U.S. Plans New Strategy For Ban on Nuclear Tests

LEADERS OF COUNTY VOLS—George B. Ohley, (front, right) of Saugerties elected president of Ulster County Volunteer Firemens Association at the annual meeting Friday night, receives congratulations from outgoing president, Oscar Lambert, chief of Esopus Fire Company. Ohley, a life member of C. A. Lynch Fire Company, Saugerties, served as vice president last year. Others named were Herbert Faurote, first vice president; Frederick C. Harder, secretary for his 21st term, and Henry DuBois, treasurer for his 19th term. Morton Finch of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company, chairman of the board of directors presented the past chief's pin to Lambert. Edward F. Mains, Port Ewen fire chief was reelected to a five-year term as director. The post of second vice president will be filled at a later date. The convention sessions were held at Esopus Firehouse. (Freeman photo).

1963 Convention in Saugerties

County Vols Pick Ohley Reelect Harder, DuBois

George B. Ohley, life member of C. A. Lynch Fire Company of Saugerties, was elected president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Friday night at the 27th annual convention held at Esopus Firehouse.

The Town of Esopus fire companies are host to the convention, which will come to a conclusion at 5 p. m. today with the parade at Port Ewen.

According to tradition the naming of Ohley would place the 1963 county convention in Saugerties, home of the new president.

Others Named

First vice president, Herbert F. Faurote of Bloomington.

Second vice president was left open until the August meeting.

Secretary, Fred C. Harder of Kingston, who serves as president of Weiner Hose Company No. 6, of Kingston, and now begins his 21st term as secretary.

Treasurer, Henry DuBois of New Paltz, who is also mayor of New Paltz, and now begins his 19th term as treasurer.

Elected Director

Edward F. Mains, chief of the Port Ewen Fire Department, was reelected to the board of directors for a five year term.

President Oscar Lambert, chief of Esopus Fire Company presided at the business meeting held at Esopus Firehouse. After the opening prayer by the Rev. Harry Christiana, chaplain of Port Ewen Fire Department, Councilman Stirling Potter, on behalf of Supervisor Roger Mabie, extended a welcome to the visiting firemen. Supervisor Mabie was absent from town.

At the meeting Friday evening Woodstock Fire Company No. 2, Wittenberg, was admitted to membership, bringing the total membership to 7 fire companies.

During the presidency of Chief Lambert three fire companies joined the association, a most unusual accomplishment for the administration of any county presidency. The companies were Wodstock No. 4, Woodstock No. 3, and last night Woodstock No. 2.

Presents Gavel

Chief Lambert, on retiring as president of the association, presented the gavel to incoming President Ohley, thanked the officers and members of the association for their cooperation during the year and extended best wishes to the incoming officers. Chief Lambert presented the president's badge to Ohley and Director Morton Finch presented the retiring president with the past president's badge.

Secretary Harder, who was entering his 21st year of office, was presented with a 20-year lapel pin by Jim Hicks, who commented upon the long and faithful services of Secretary Harder.

An amendent to the by-laws which would provide for not less than seven or more than nine members on the board of directors, was read and will be given its record reading at the August

4th Death Noted In Explosion of Propane Truck

BERLIN, N.Y. (AP)—The disaster that struck this Eastern New York hamlet Wednesday when a propane gas tank truck exploded claimed a fourth life today.

Kenneth McCumber, 51, died in Samaritan Hospital, Troy, early today of the injuries he suffered when the explosion tore apart his home, which was in the immediate path of the blast.

His wife, Florence, 55, and seven other persons remained in critical condition in Troy and Bennington, Vt., hospitals.

Leveled by Fire

Eleven homes, a church and a barn were leveled by fire as a result of the explosion. Thirty persons were left homeless in this community of 400.

The driver of the truck, who also died, apparently left the State Thruway at the wrong interchange and lost his way, his employer says.

In Philadelphia, Pa., Robert Shertz, president of E. Brooke Matlack Inc., said Friday night a ticket found in the wreckage indicated that the driver, Robert J. McLucas, had left the Thruway at an interchange other than the one he had intended to use.

A company spokesman said McLucas, 39, of Pomeroy, Pa., had been making the run from Philadelphia to Bennington, Vt., for about 10 years.

Log Destroyed

McLucas' log was destroyed in the fire, Shertz said, and his exact route has not been determined.

State Police said McLucas apparently missed a turn at Route 7, a more direct route. Witnesses said he had read what appeared to be a map during a stop and had asked directions.

The blast occurred near the bottom of a steep, winding, two-mile-long hill on a county road.

Shertz said the Interstate Commerce Commission planned to reconstruct the truck cab and trailer at Catskill, N.Y., to try to determine the cause of the accident.

Reedy Denies Any Benefit To Johnson

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—An indicted associate of Billie Sol Estes testified Friday that the Texas financier mentioned giving part interest in a grain elevator to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Almost in the same breath, the associate, Coleman T. McSpadden, said he doubted the truth of Estes' remark.

McSpadden said the promoter dropped the Vice Presidents name in connection with plans to build a giant grain terminal at Hereford, Tex.

How He Put It

When Estes was asked how the project was being financed, McSpadden said he replied, "For one thing, I'm giving one-eighth interest to Lyndon Johnson."

An assistant to the Vice President, George Reedy, said in Washington that neither Johnson nor his family ever had any business dealings with Estes, even indirectly.

"He was never offered, directly or indirectly, any interest in a grain elevator by Mr. Estes," Reedy said. "He did not, directly or indirectly, receive any interest in a grain elevator from Mr. Estes. He never discussed any interest in a grain elevator with Mr. Estes."

Continues Today

The testimony came during the second day of a court of inquiry that continued today to seek more information from McSpadden and two other former associates of Estes, the now-bankrupt king of farm finance.

Awaiting calls to continue testimony were Harold E. Orr, 31, president of Superior Manufacturing Co.; Ruel W. Alexander, 36, vice president, and McSpadden, 45, majority stockholder in Superior, an Amarillo tankbuilding firm.

Counsel for Commercial Solvents corp., which sold anhydrous ammonia worth millions for distribution by Estes, had sought and failed to win a state court order to prevent the inquiry.

Commercial Solvents contended that the inquiry, eighth of a series in various cities, would hamper its defense against a state anti trust suit based on the Estes empire's rise and fall.

Says Cost Was $100,000

McSpadden testified earlier that Estes had told him about spending $100,000 a year to maintain a favorable "situation in Washington" but gave no details about where the money went.

McSpadden said "it like to scared me to death" in July 1961, when Estes told him their opera-

Rivals Are Reported Agreeing

Confident About Peace in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's rival political factions were reported today to be moving toward a settlement of the leadership dispute that has divided the fledgling North African nation into two armed camps and raised the prospect of French intervention.

"All is being arranged," informed sources reported. They said an agreement was being worked out in a "climate of confidence."

Optimism Follows Meeting

The optimistic appraisal followed a meeting between moderate Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and Mohammed Khider, special envoy and top lieutenant of radical Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, who awaited developments in Oran.

But there was no official announcement of any progress toward accord and there was no indication of how the seemingly incompatible Ben Khedda and Ben Bella factions intended to iron out their differences.

Ben Khedda's ministers insisted, however, the "we are doing everything to avoid civil war."

The ministers' words appeared to be born out by the absence of any significant military movement on either side. The Ben Bella forces that had been reported moving on Algiers from the west apparently marked time while the talks continued.

Get Orders

Guerrilla units of the various opposing Wilayas (military zones) also were reported to have received firm orders to stop crossing into hostile territory in an effort to minimize the possibility of an amed clash.

But the third major military force in Algeria—the 300,000-man French army stationed there—showed signs of activity again. For the first time since Algerian independence July 3, French army patrols showed up in the streets of Algiers.

Aug. 10 Sentence Date for Pair In Bank Robbery

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Two New York City men will be sentenced Aug. 10 for their part in the $43,000 robbery of the Dover Plains National Bank.

William J. Maslavesky, 21, and James Cooper, 35, pleaded guilty Friday before acting Dutchess County Judge W. Vincent Grady. Also awaiting sentencing in the case is a third New Yorker, Kenneth Graham, 29, who pleaded guilty earlier this month.

Perry P. Paulding, 20, also of New York, has maintained his innocence, although he was arrested with Graham after their car crashed in Wingdale, 15 miles from the scene of the April 16 bank holdup.

Maslavesky and Cooper were arrested at a Greenwich Village apartment in New York. The loot was recovered.

HEADQUARTERS AT SEARCH SCENE—Reports of searchers are studied and areas covered are checked on map by state police officers at search headquarters set up at Wawarsing Sportsmen's Association Clubhouse near Napanoch. The search for missing Solomon Schwartz, 6, went into its sixth day this morning. All Marines Drawing Out Of Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is withdrawing from Thailand the remaining 1,800 Marines sent to defend the Southeast Asian nation last May.

No reason for Friday's withdrawal order was given. It apparently signified a lessening of concern in the Kennedy administration over security of Thailand's border with neighboring Laos.

The Marines were sent in when advances by pro-Communist rebels in Laos raised fears they would cross the Mekong River into Thailand.

Some Troops Staying

The Marine withdrawal still leaves about 2,200 Army troops and 1,000 Air Force men and planes in Thailand, protecting other approaches from Laos. About 1,000 Marines were withdrawn July 1.

President Kennedy, in dispatching forces, said the pro-Western Thai government had asked for them to supplement the U.S. Army troops already there to take part in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization maneuvers.

14 Nations Sign

Earlier this week 14 nations signed an agreement in Geneva guaranteeing the independence and neutrality of Laos. A coalition government of pro-Communist, pro-Western and neutral officials has been formed.

Part of the agreement calls for removal of all foreign troops—pro-Communist and pro-Western—within 75 days. This apparently has led to a belief there will be less danger of Communist guerrilla infiltration from Laos into Thailand.

Government Resigns

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—The Cambodian government, including its chief prince Norodom Sihanouk, resigned today. It is expected to be reappointed within the next few days.

A collective letter of resignation was sent to the newly-elected National Assembly, which theoretically could choose a new government. However, all 77 members of the National Assembly were picked by the ruling Sangkum party, and there is no possibility of political upheaval.

Search Enters 6th Day

More Troops to Join Hunt for Missing Boy

Additional military troops reportedly were en route this morning from their bases to Napanoch to bolster the search parties groping their way foot-by-foot through the rugged terrain in the vicinity of Camp Rav Tov, seeking some trace of Solomon Schwartz, 6, who vanished last Monday.

State police officers in command of the search today called for additional volunteers to participate in the search as the hunt for the missing boy entered its sixth day.

Skin divers from Port Jervis, Middletown and other clubs in the state were expected to arrive today to probe Honk Lake. One group, not identified, prepared to enter the lake before 10 a. m.

Warned Against Snakes

Searchers have been advised to wear hip boots or leather leggings as a precaution against attack by snakes. State troopers have been ordered to wear leather puttees to guard against snakes.

The search party today started with more than 300, including troops from the Army, National Guard and Air Force.

Participating in the search Friday were 126 of the missing boy's Hassidic coreligionists. One of them, Uri Hain, 22, of Danville, Va., was bitten by a copperhead snake yesterday. He was rushed to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville for treatment. His condition was reported "satisfactory."

Asked if there was any suspicion of foul play, State Police Lieut. Harry J. Ashe said, "Anything is possible, but that is highly improbable. We are looking for a boy who is alive."

Lieut. Ashe said there is nothing to indicate the boy has left the area. "We are assuming the boy is lost somewhere in this vicinity and we are going to continue to search on that theory."

Over 150 members of the Civil Air Patrol reported Friday and will continue today with other searchers to battle their way through the dense countryside.

1,000 May Be in Force

Some officials believe there will be 1,000 or more in the search today.

In addition to volunteer firemen, scores of state troopers, Red Cross workers, State Conservation Department men, civilian volunteers and other groups the search party yesterday comprised 168 men of the 170th Artillery New York Army National Guard; 115 men of the 50th Engineering Battalion of the First Infantry Regiment, West Point, and an unestimated number of the Air Police from Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh.

Senators Help Out

Rockefeller Backs Boss of Troopers In Lawson Case

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has given his support to State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius in a controversy over the transfer and demotion of a veteran State Police officer.

An attorney for Capt. John J. Lawson said Friday Cornelius had refused Lawson's request for a hearing on his demotion to lieutenant and his shift to Troop A, Batavia. Lawson was relieved of command of Troop K, Hawthorne.

15 Criticisms Mentioned

The attorney, Henry Hirschberg, said in Newburg that Cornelius notified Lawson of the denial of his request in a letter which included 15 criticisms of the administration of Troop K. He did not say what the criticism concerned.

Hirshberg said legal action was being considered on Lawson's behalf.

Friends and neighbors of Lawson, 59, who lives in Fishkill, complained to Rockefeller last week. The governor's office said it had received approximately 25 letters and telegrams asking Rockefeller to intercede on Lawson's behalf.

Has Guard On Sneak Explosions

Concessions Are Planned for Reds

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is planning a new strategy for the nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva, beginning with a blunt challenge to Russia to reverse its stand against international inspection safeguards.

President Kennedy and his advisers are reported ready to offer concessions in Western conditions for a test ban treaty based on new scientific information on the detection of sneak underground nuclear explosions.

But administration leaders have decided that there is no point in offering these concessions unless the Soviet Government is prepared to enter into serious negotiations on the whole inspection issue.

Dean Called Home

Kennedy has called U.S. Ambassador Arthur Dean home from the Geneva disarmament conference. The action was announced following a White House meeting Friday between Kennedy and his principal advisers on the nuclear arms race and test ban treaty problems.

Dean, according to plans reported to have been mapped at Friday's conference, will be given full information on the new U.S. scientific findings to take back to Geneva at the end of next week.

This information, according to the recent Defense Department announcement, shows that with new instruments underground explosions may be detected over distances running into many hundreds of miles. Some advances also have been made in distinguishing between earth shocks due to nuclear blasts.

Inspections Proposed

In the recent past, the United States and Britain, as the main Western nuclear powers, proposed 19 internationally staffed control posts on Soveit territory. The task of such posts would be to monitor earth shocks in the Soviet Union, as a means of detecting evidence of suspicious earth disturbances.

The Western powers also proposed between 12 and 20 inspections a year at the site of any suspicious shock waves.

The new scientific data, Kennedy's advisers agreed, would permit the number of on-site inspections and the number of control posts to be reduced. Some scientific advisers are known to have argued that international control posts inside the Soviet Union might be safely eliminated in the interest of getting a test ban treaty.

Barriers in Moscow

However, the White House meeting reportedly produced an accord that it would not be good strategy for the President to send Dean back to Geneva at this stage of the disarmament conference with a complete new pack-

Blue Shield Announces Rate Hike, More Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — United Medical Service Inc. (Blue Shield) has announced rate increases for nearly three million persons in the New York metropolitan area. The subscribers will receive expanded protection in exchange for the higher rates.

The rises—ranging from 72.9 to 124 per cent—will affect only the subscribers with lowest income. These make up 60 per cent of the total membership.

Blue Shield president Dr. Leonard J. Raider said in making the announcement Friday that the increases would apply to individual subscribers who earn up to $2,500 a year and families which earn up to $4,000.

Effective Nov. 1, contracts for these subscribers will be discontinued and automatically replaced with contracts covering individuals with incomes up to $4,000 a year and families with incomes up to $6,000.

Monthly group rates under the increase will go from 88 cents to $1.68 for single persons; from $2 to $4.48 for husband and wife, and from $3.40 to $5.88 for families.

The coverage under the new plan will provide greater benefits, Raider said. He added that the increases, which do not require state approval, are to meet growing deficits.

The $2,500 - $4,000 contracts, Raider said, were "inadequate by today's standards," and the rates, he added, had been too low for five years. He said Blue Shield last year paid out $6.7 million more than it received in subscriptions.

The old and the new contracts provide for payments in full for most surgical and medical services in hospitals if the client's income is below the maximum limit.

Release of Prado Could Mean Recognition of Peru

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way may be clearing for eventual U.S. recognition of Peru's military government.

Administration officials here learned with interest Friday night of reports from Lima that Peru's military junta was preparing to free deposed President Manuel Prado from custody aboard a navy transport.

The reports came some hours after speculation arose in Washington that the United States was reconsidering its tough position on relations with the military group, which ousted Prado in a bloodless coup July 18.

The State Department has refused to say whether U.S. Ambassador James Loeb, who had been criticized by the junta, would return to his post. Diplomats here said Loeb presumably would not be sent back to Peru. He was summoned here earlier in the week for consultation.

The United States had hoped for a quick commitment by the junta to an early election and some signs of a return to civilian authority. Whether these developments are in the immediate offing remain in doubt, although the military announced Friday night it was restoring civil rights suspended when it seized power.

Washington suspended relations with Lima a few hours after the junta headed by Army Gen. Ricardo Perez Godoy took over. The next day, the White House issued a statement saying the military takeover was a "serious setback" to democracy. Aid to Peru under the Alliance for Progress program was halted.

In Lima, a report from Wash-

Session to Stop Fillibuster On Satellite Held by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was called into Saturday Session today in a move to keep the pressure on filibustering foes of the administration's communications satellite bill.

The tactics of the few senators opposing the measure drew a rebuke from Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who ordered the extra session.

Meanwhile, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a backer of the bill, predicted the opposition of the handful of Democratic liberals could be overcome.

Dirksen told newsmen Friday night he didn't believe more than a half-dozen senators were prepared for a sustained fight against the bill. No more than 17, he said, would vote against it.

The measure provides for a private corporation to own and run the U.S. portion of a global satellite system for relaying television, radio and telephone signals.

The public would own half of the firm's stock. Communications companies would own the other half.

Several senators have offered a rival bill providing for government ownership. They contend the

The Marines were sent in when advances by pro-Communist rebels in Laos raised fears they would cross the Mekong River into Thailand.

Some Troops Staying

The Marine withdrawal still leaves about 2,200 Army troops and 1,000 Air Force men and planes in Thailand, protecting other approaches from Laos. About 1,000 Marines were withdrawn July 1.

President Kennedy, in dispatching forces, said the pro-Western Thai government had asked for them to supplement the U.S. Army troops already there to take part in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization maneuvers.

14 Nations Sign

Earlier this week 14 nations signed an agreement in Geneva guaranteeing the independence and neutrality of Laos. A coalition government of pro-Communist, pro-Western and neutral officials has been formed.

Part of the agreement calls for removal of all foreign troops—pro-Communist and pro-Western—within 75 days. This apparently has led to a belief there will be less danger of Communist guerrilla infiltration from Laos into Thailand.

Government Resigns

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—The Cambodian government, including its chief prince Norodom Sihanouk, resigned today. It is expected to be reappointed within the next few days.

A collective letter of resignation was sent to the newly-elected National Assembly, which theoretically could choose a new government. However, all 77 members of the National Assembly were picked by the ruling Sangkum party, and there is no possibility of political upheaval.

Search Enters 6th Day

More Troops to Join Hunt for Missing Boy

Additional military troops reportedly were en route this morning from their bases to Napanoch to bolster the search parties groping their way foot-by-foot through the rugged terrain in the vicinity of Camp Rav Tov, seeking some trace of Solomon Schwartz, 6, who vanished last Monday.

State police officers in command of the search today called for additional volunteers to participate in the search as the hunt for the missing boy entered its sixth day.

Skin divers from Port Jervis, Middletown and other clubs in the state were expected to arrive today to probe Honk Lake. One group, not identified, prepared to enter the lake before 10 a. m.

Warned Against Snakes

Searchers have been advised to wear hip boots or leather leggings as a precaution against attack by snakes. State troopers have been ordered to wear leather puttees to guard against snakes.

The search party today started with more than 300, including troops from the Army, National Guard and Air Force.

Participating in the search Friday were 126 of the missing boy's Hassidic coreligionists. One of them, Uri Hain, 22, of Danville, Va., was bitten by a copperhead snake yesterday. He was rushed to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville for treatment. His condition was reported "satisfactory."

Asked if there was any suspicion of foul play, State Police Lieut. Harry J. Ashe said, "Anything is possible, but that is highly improbable. We are looking for a boy who is alive."

Lieut. Ashe said there is nothing to indicate the boy has left the area. "We are assuming the boy is lost somewhere in this vicinity and we are going to continue to search on that theory."

Over 150 members of the Civil Air Patrol reported Friday and will continue today with other searchers to battle their way through the dense countryside.

1,000 May Be in Force

Some officials believe there will be 1,000 or more in the search today.

In addition to volunteer firemen, scores of state troopers, Red Cross workers, State Conservation Department men, civilian volunteers and other groups the search party yesterday comprised 168 men of the 170th Artillery New York Army National Guard; 115 men of the 50th Engineering Battalion of the First Infantry Regiment, West Point, and an unestimated number of the Air Police from Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh.

Rockefeller Backs Boss of Troopers In Lawson Case

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has given his support to State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius in a controversy over the transfer and demotion of a veteran State Police officer.

An attorney for Capt. John J. Lawson said Friday Cornelius had refused Lawson's request for a hearing on his demotion to lieutenant and his shift to Troop A, Batavia. Lawson was relieved of command of Troop K, Hawthorne.

15 Criticisims Mentioned

The attorney, Henry Hirschberg, said in Newburg that Cornelius notified Lawson of the denial of his request in a letter which included 15 criticisms of the administration of Troop K. He did not say what the criticism concerned.

Hirshberg said legal action was being considered on Lawson's behalf.

Friends and neighbors of Lawson, 59, who lives in Fishkill, complained to Rockefeller last week. The governor's office said it had received approximately 25 letters and telegrams asking Rockefeller to intercede on Lawson's behalf.

Has Guard On Sneak Explosions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is planning a new strategy for the nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva, beginning with a blunt challenge to Russia to reverse its stand against international inspection safeguards.

President Kennedy and his advisers are reported ready to offer concessions in Western conditions for a test ban treaty based on new scientific information on the detection of sneak underground nuclear explosions.

But administration leaders have decided that there is no point in offering these concessions unless the Soviet Government is prepared to enter into serious negotiations on the whole inspection issue.

Dean Called Home

Kennedy has called U.S. Ambassador Arthur Dean home from the Geneva disarmament conference. The action was announced following a White House meeting Friday between Kennedy and his principal advisers on the nuclear arms race and test ban treaty problems.

Dean, according to plans reported to have been mapped at Friday's conference, will be given full information on the new U.S. scientific findings to take back to Geneva at the end of next week.

This information, according to the recent Defense Department announcement, shows that with new instruments underground explosions may be detected over distances running into many hundreds of miles. Some advances also have been made in distinguishing between earth shocks due to nuclear blasts.

Inspections Proposed

In the recent past, the United States and Britain, as the main Western nuclear powers, proposed 19 internationally staffed control posts on Soveit territory. The task of such posts would be to monitor earth shocks in the Soviet Union, as a means of detecting evidence of suspicious earth disturbances.

The Western powers also proposed between 12 and 20 inspections a year at the site of any suspicious shock waves.

The new scientific data, Kennedy's advisers agreed, would permit the number of on-site inspections and the number of control posts to be reduced. Some scientific advisers are known to have argued that international control posts inside the Soviet Union might be safely eliminated in the interest of getting a test ban treaty.

Barriers in Moscow

However, the White House meeting reportedly produced an accord that it would not be good strategy for the President to send Dean back to Geneva at this stage of the disarmament conference with a complete new pack-

Blue Shield Announces Rate Hike, More Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — United Medical Service Inc. (Blue Shield) has announced rate increases for nearly three million persons in the New York metropolitan area. The subscribers will receive expanded protection in exchange for the higher rates.

The rises—ranging from 72.9 to 124 per cent—will affect only the subscribers with lowest income. These make up 60 per cent of the total membership.

Blue Shield president Dr. Leonard J. Raider said in making the announcement Friday that the increases would apply to individual subscribers who earn up to $2,500 a year and families which earn up to $4,000.

Effective Nov. 1, contracts for these subscribers will be discontinued and automatically replaced with contracts covering individuals with incomes up to $4,000 a year and families with incomes up to $6,000.

Monthly group rates under the increase will go from 88 cents to $1.68 for single persons; from $2 to $4.48 for husband and wife, and from $3.40 to $5.88 for families.

The coverage under the new plan will provide greater benefits, Raider said. He added that the increases, which do not require state approval, are to meet growing deficits.

The $2,500 - $4,000 contracts, Raider said, were "inadequate by today's standards," and the rates, he added, had been too low for five years. He said Blue Shield last year paid out $6.7 million more than it received in subscriptions.

The old and the new contracts provide for payments in full for most surgical and medical services in hospitals if the client's income is below the maximum limit.

Release of Prado Could Mean Recognition of Peru

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way may be clearing for eventual U.S. recognition of Peru's military government.

Administration officials here learned with interest Friday night of reports from Lima that Peru's military junta was preparing to free deposed President Manuel Prado from custody aboard a navy transport.

The reports came some hours after speculation arose in Washington that the United States was reconsidering its tough position on relations with the military group, which ousted Prado in a bloodless coup July 18.

The State Department has refused to say whether U.S. Ambassador James Loeb, who had been criticized by the junta, would return to his post. Diplomats here said Loeb presumably would not be sent back to Peru. He was summoned here earlier in the week for consultation.

The United States had hoped for a quick commitment by the junta to an early election and some signs of a return to civilian authority. Whether these developments are in the immediate offing remain in doubt, although the military announced Friday night it was restoring civil rights suspended when it seized power.

Washington suspended relations with Lima a few hours after the junta headed by Army Gen. Ricardo Perez Godoy took over. The next day, the White House issued a statement saying the military takeover was a "serious setback" to democracy. Aid to Peru under the Alliance for Progress program was halted.

In Lima, a report from Wash-

Session to Stop Fillibuster On Satellite Held by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was called into Saturday Session today in a move to keep the pressure on filibustering foes of the administration's communications satellite bill.

The tactics of the few senators opposing the measure drew a rebuke from Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who ordered the extra session.

Meanwhile, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a backer of the bill, predicted the opposition of the handful of Democratic liberals could be overcome.

Dirksen told newsmen Friday night he didn't believe more than a half-dozen senators were prepared for a sustained fight against the bill. No more than 17, he said, would vote against it.

The measure provides for a private corporation to own and run the U.S. portion of a global satellite system for relaying television, radio and telephone signals.

The public would own half of the firm's stock. Communications companies would own the other half.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove ...and lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Christ's baptism was one instance when all three persons of the Blessed Trinity were present—the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove.

As a Christian symbol, the dove has many meanings. The dove with the olive branch in its beak, in the story of the flood, came to be a symbol of peace and reconciliation. The dove also has been used in Christian literature to denote inspired theological knowledge, and also the virtues of purity and humility. In the Song of Solomon the bride is called a dove, and from this reference the symbol has been applied to the Catholic Church.

Preaching Last Sermon Sunday At Port Ewen

REV. HARRY E. CHRISTIANA

The Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, will preach his last sermon in that church Sunday. He is retiring Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Christiana has been the church's pastor for the past 15 years. He has also been pastor of Ulster Park Reformed Church for that same period of time. Prior to coming to Port Ewen, he served as pastor in the Stuyvesant and Stuyvesant Falls Reformed Churches, St. John's Reformed Church in St. Johnsville and the Fultonville Reformed Church.

He was born in Krumville in 1897 and graduated from Mt. Hermon School, Mt. Hermon, Mass., in 1918 and Syracuse University in 1921. At Syracuse he was a member of the Sigma Delta Epsilon the honorary fraternity. In 1924 he graduated from Union Theological Seminary in New York and was ordained in Flatbush Reformed Church, Brooklyn, as associate minister.

During his pastorate here, the Rev. Mr. Christiana has been a member of the Kingston Ministerial Association and the Kingston Area Council of Churches in which he has served on the committee for migrant workers. He is also a representative of World Church Missions and recently attended the Inter-Denominational Conference on World Missions at Silver Bay, at Lake George as a delegate for the Classis of Ulster.

He has been active in Boy Scout work for the past 38 years and received his Silver Beaver Award in 1946 from the Sir William Johnson Council in Gloversville.

The retiring pastor had also been active in civic affiairs. He has served as chaplain for Port Ewen Fire Department and Port Ewen Drum Corps. He is also a member of the Town of Esopus Lions Club and served as secretary of that organization in 1961.

The Rev. Mr. Christiana married the former Florence Britt Aug. 4, 1923 at the Methodist Church in Oriskany Falls. They have three children, Robert and David Christiana of Mt. Marion, and Mrs. Gerald Calvin of New Paltz; also a foster son, Ray Mitchell of Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. Christiana is also a graduate of Syracuse University and is a teacher at Myron J. Michael Junior High School in Kingston.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Christiana have moved into a new home on River Road, Port Ewen.

EcuadorPresident Was to Visit Site Of Fair Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Ecuador President Carlos Julio Arosemena was scheduled to visit the site of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair today, then fly to Niagara Falls for a reception and tour.

Ecuador has signified its intention of setting up an exhibit in the international area of the fair.

Following a tour of the exposition area, President Arosemena and his party of 34 were to fly to Niagara Falls and lunch at the Niagara Falls Country Club.

The group then was scheduled to inspect the Robert Moses power plant of the New York State Power Authority, view the falls from the new observation tower and get a closeup glimpse of the scenic attraction aboard the boat Maid of the Mist.

The president's party planned to return to New York City tonight.

12,000 Idle Are To Report Back On Welfare Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) —More than 12,000 jobless West Virginians began receiving orders Friday to report back to work on public works projects.

The orders followed revival of the state's emergency employment program, officially known as Aid for Dependent Children of the Unemployed.

State Welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said the program will be resumed full tilt Monday.

President Kennedy signed legislation Thursday continuing for five years provisions under which the federal government provides help to the program on a 70-30 matching basis.

West Virginia's program has been idle since shortly after July 1 when federal participation was suspended pending action by Congress.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, submits the following article on curtain and drapery fabrics:

Curtain and drapery fabrics suffer from more severe conditions of service than fabrics used for almost any other purpose and certainly more than the average person suspects.

With the trend toward greater use of glass in home and office design, sunfading of curtains and draperies has become a real problem. The textile industry is constantly striving for better fabric performance and consumer satisfaction. In recent years there has been amazing progress made in textile manufacturing. As a rule, the solution-dyed fibers, pigment print colors, and vat dyes are the most capable of furnishing the higher rates of fastness desired.

Follow carefully the instructions on the labels regarding care of your curtains and draperies. Most curtains and draperies last longer and look better when cleaned or laundered regularly—at least once a year.

In selecting curtain and drapery fabrics, it is important to pick the right fabric for the job. For sunny locations, use fabrics that are resistant to sunlight deterioration and fading. It may be wise to furnish protection for your draperies by lining them, by installing blinds or shades, or by rotating window sets for evener wear.

Shrinkage is a common consumer complaint about curtains and draperies. Some shrinkage is to be expected, but if fabrics are to be washed, choose those guaranteed not to shrink more than 2 per cent. This is about 2 inches per 2½ yard length. The weight of curtains and draperies may cause a return to the original length as they hang at the window.

Abrasion is another cause of damage to curtains and draperies. At windows which are open a good deal, the hem edge can become frayed very quickly from rubbing against the window sill. Also, if draperies are frequently drawn to cover the windows, the pleated top which slides in contact with the rod or window frame can become badly frayed. Glass and metallic fibers are partciularly sensitive to abrasion.

Yellowing or streaks in draperies, which may at first look like mere soil accumulation, show up after laundering or drycleaning as yellow, permanent stains. This is more apt to happen with cellulose fibers, rayon and cotton, than any other fibers. The effect is always most severe at the tops or crests of folds. Sometimes people blame the cleaner for scorching or staining the fabric when actually the yellowing is a condition probably due to chemical reaction and already existing before it is noticed.

Special finishes sometimes present difficulties. Follow cleaning and laundering directions carefully.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove ...and lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Christ's baptism was one instance when all three persons of the Blessed Trinity were present—the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove.

As a Christian symbol, the dove has many meanings. The dove with the olive branch in its beak, in the story of the flood, came to be a symbol of peace and reconciliation. The dove also has been used in Christian literature to denote inspired theological knowledge, and also the virtues of purity and humility. In the Song of Solomon the bride is called a dove, and from this reference the symbol has been applied to the Catholic Church.

Preaching Last Sermon Sunday At Port Ewen

REV. HARRY E. CHRISTIANA

The Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, will preach his last sermon in that church Sunday. He is retiring Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Christiana has been the church's pastor for the past 15 years. He has also been pastor of Ulster Park Reformed Church for that same period of time. Prior to coming to Port Ewen, he served as pastor in the Stuyvesant and Stuyvesant Falls Reformed Churches, St. John's Reformed Church in St. Johnsville and the Fultonville Reformed Church.

He was born in Krumville in 1897 and graduated from Mt. Hermon School, Mt. Hermon, Mass., in 1918 and Syracuse University in 1921. At Syracuse he was a member of the Sigma Delta Epsilon the honorary fraternity. In 1924 he graduated from Union Theological Seminary in New York and was ordained in Flatbush Reformed Church, Brooklyn, as associate minister.

During his pastorate here, the Rev. Mr. Christiana has been a member of the Kingston Ministerial Association and the Kingston Area Council of Churches in which he has served on the committee for migrant workers. He is also a representative of World Church Missions and recently attended the Inter-Denominational Conference on World Missions at Silver Bay, at Lake George as a delegate for the Classis of Ulster.

He has been active in Boy Scout work for the past 38 years and received his Silver Beaver Award in 1946 from the Sir William Johnson Council in Gloversville.

The retiring pastor had also been active in civic affiairs. He has served as chaplain for Port Ewen Fire Department and Port Ewen Drum Corps. He is also a member of the Town of Esopus Lions Club and served as secretary of that organization in 1961.

The Rev. Mr. Christiana married the former Florence Britt Aug. 4, 1923 at the Methodist Church in Oriskany Falls. They have three children, Robert and David Christiana of Mt. Marion, and Mrs. Gerald Calvin of New Paltz; also a foster son, Ray Mitchell of Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. Christiana is also a graduate of Syracuse University and is a teacher at Myron J. Michael Junior High School in Kingston.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Christiana have moved into a new home on River Road, Port Ewen.

EcuadorPresident Was to Visit Site Of Fair Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Ecuador President Carlos Julio Arosemena was scheduled to visit the site of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair today, then fly to Niagara Falls for a reception and tour.

Ecuador has signified its intention of setting up an exhibit in the international area of the fair.

Following a tour of the exposition area, President Arosemena and his party of 34 were to fly to Niagara Falls and lunch at the Niagara Falls Country Club.

The group then was scheduled to inspect the Robert Moses power plant of the New York State Power Authority, view the falls from the new observation tower and get a closeup glimpse of the scenic attraction aboard the boat Maid of the Mist.

The president's party planned to return to New York City tonight.

12,000 Idle Are To Report Back On Welfare Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) —More than 12,000 jobless West Virginians began receiving orders Friday to report back to work on public works projects.

The orders followed revival of the state's emergency employment program, officially known as Aid for Dependent Children of the Unemployed.

State Welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said the program will be resumed full tilt Monday.

President Kennedy signed legislation Thursday continuing for five years provisions under which the federal government provides help to the program on a 70-30 matching basis.

West Virginia's program has been idle since shortly after July 1 when federal participation was suspended pending action by Congress.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, submits the following article on curtain and drapery fabrics:

Curtain and drapery fabrics suffer from more severe conditions of service than fabrics used for almost any other purpose and certainly more than the average person suspects.

With the trend toward greater use of glass in home and office design, sunfading of curtains and draperies has become a real problem. The textile industry is constantly striving for better fabric performance and consumer satisfaction. In recent years there has been amazing progress made in textile manufacturing. As a rule, the solution-dyed fibers, pigment print colors, and vat dyes are the most capable of furnishing the higher rates of fastness desired.

Follow carefully the instructions on the labels regarding care of your curtains and draperies. Most curtains and draperies last longer and look better when cleaned or laundered regularly—at least once a year.

In selecting curtain and drapery fabrics, it is important to pick the right fabric for the job. For sunny locations, use fabrics that are resistant to sunlight deterioration and fading. It may be wise to furnish protection for your draperies by lining them, by installing blinds or shades, or by rotating window sets for evener wear.

Shrinkage is a common consumer complaint about curtains and draperies. Some shrinkage is to be expected, but if fabrics are to be washed, choose those guaranteed not to shrink more than 2 per cent. This is about 2 inches per 2½ yard length. The weight of curtains and draperies may cause a return to the original length as they hang at the window.

Abrasion is another cause of damage to curtains and draperies. At windows which are open a good deal, the hem edge can become frayed very quickly from rubbing against the window sill. Also, if draperies are frequently drawn to cover the windows, the pleated top which slides in contact with the rod or window frame can become badly frayed. Glass and metallic fibers are particularly sensitive to abrasion.

Yellowing or streaks in draperies, which may at first look like mere soil accumulation, show up after laundering or drycleaning as yellow, permanent stains. This is more apt to happen with cellulose fibers, rayon and cotton, than any other fibers. The effect is always most severe at the tops or crests of folds. Sometimes people blame the cleaner for scorching or staining the fabric when actually the yellowing is a condition probably due to chemical reaction and already existing before it is noticed.

Special finishes sometimes present difficulties. Follow cleaning and laundering directions carefully.

Uptown Merchants Foresee Growth Of Area, Modernize Their Stores

Opening of three new stores in the uptown business area and the remodeling and modernization of a fourth long established business place, is an indication of the march of progress in Kingston.

Faith in the future growth of Kingston business was expressed by the proprietors of all four of the stores.

Although open for business since last week Wonderly's Little Shop at 324 Wall Street will observe an "official" grand opening on Tuesday, July 31, at 10 a. m. when Mayor John J. Schwenk will participate in the opening program. Clifford Allenson, executive director of the New York State Retail Council of Merchants, of Albany, will also be a guest of Clyde E. Wonderly Jr., proprietor of the new store, and also owner of The Wonderly Co., Inc., store at 314 Wall Street.

Completely Remodeled

Wonderly's Little Shop is located in the building formerly occupied by the United Cut Rate drug store, which some time ago moved to new, larger quarters at 329 Wall Street. Wonderly's Little Shop will carry a complete line of infant to pre-teen merchandise for girls and to size seven for boys. The store has been completely remodeled, re-decorated in yellow, blue and pink with wall-to-wall carpeting.

In charge of the store is Miss Ottilia M. Riccobono, assisted by Emmy Kruppa and Mrs. Phyllis M. Milliken. Mrs. Joyce L. Wonderly and Mrs. Gladys Johnson are buyers for the store.

To Be Real Modern

Extensive alterations are being completed at London's, 33-35 North Front Street, which when finished will make it one of the most modern stores in the city. A complete new, modern front is being installed, the entrances will be brought out twelve feet to give additional space in the store and when completed the building will present one continuous front with entrances at either end to give access to the Children's portion of the store and the Junior Bazaar Department. It is expected the work will be completed by mid-August. Plans call for later in the year alterations to exterior of the upper floors of the store.

At present the new front entrance is being completed in the children's area, with entrance to the two departments through the junior bazaar. When alterations are completed in that area it will be opened and the work on the new entrance to the junior bazaar will go forward.

Modest Beginning

London's began business in a small store on John Street a number of years ago and several years ago, because of growing business, moved to the present larger quarters on North Front Street, where a complete infants and juniors line of merchandise is carried.

Another new business recently opened at 43 North Front Street is The Bridal Centre, which moved from 53 Albany Avenue to North Front Street due to need for larger quarters. The store, entirely renovated and modernized, is in the Leon C. Miller premises, formerly occupied by Leon's children's wear store, which will be reopened shortly in the adjoining store.

Prior to opening The Bridal Centre in Kingston Vincent J. Ciccone, who with his wife Connie Ciccone conduct the shop, was engaged in the manufacture of bridal outfits for over 25 years in Grand Street, New York City, where he also conducted three retail stores.

Creator of Gowns

Designer and creator of custom bridal gowns, Mrs. Connie Ciccone, who has years of bridal consultant experience, conducted the Bridal Shop on Albany Avenue but because of need for larger manufacturing and sales space in an expanded program of custom made gowns, the uptown site was acquired.

In addition to designing and creating bridal gowns, Mrs. Ciccone also designs and creates other formal gowns, gowns for flower girls and wedding attendants. Beside catering to local people, Mrs. Ciccone also designs and created gowns for the trade in New York City. A formal opening of the store is planned for later in August.

Remodeling Leon's

Workmen are now engaged in remodeling the adjoining store which will be opened shortly as a Children's wear store by Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Miller who formerly conducted Leon's Young Togs store.

Expanson of present business in the Uptown shopping area and the establishment of new business is an indication of the faith of business men that the Uptown Business Area wil continue to move forward and give Ulster County shoppers a wide assortment of every type of merchandise.

Groton Dairyman Named Star Farmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russell L. DeMond, 20, of Groton, N.Y. has been named Star American Farmer for the 12-state North Atlantic region, the Future Farmers of America announced Friday.

DeMond and three other regional winners will receive $500 cash awards at the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11. The four regional winners will vie for the Star Farmer of America award, which carries an additional $500 prize.

DeMond operates a 572-acre dairy farm with his mother near Groton, Tompkins County. Award selections are based on farming achievements and leadership in FFA activities.

Stories of Jinxed Ship Fly Along Portland Docks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) —Old sea stories of a jinxed ship flew along the waterfront Friday following the departure of the German freighter Carl Fritzen.

The master of the ship, ill and despondent, hanged himself in his cabin at San Pedro, Calif., 10 days ago.

The steward found him. Two days later the steward suffered a heart attack and had to be relieved.

Then the chief engineer died.

The chief mate had to be relieved of his duties. No reason was given.

The boatswain suffered a heart attack.

A new master and chief engineer were flown from Germany, and the steamship sailed for Portland to load a cargo of grain.

At Astoria, where the ship entered the Columbia River to head for Portland, the second officer had to be relieved of his duties. As was the case of the chief mate, there was no explanation.

By that time a new chief mate had arrived from Germany. He joined the ship at Astoria and made the journey 100 miles upstream to Portland.

But Portland turned out to be the wrong port. The mistake was not explained, but the ship was told to turn around and sail for Seattle, where the ship's 11,000-ton load of grain was waiting.

So the Carl Fritzen headed back out of Portland Thursday night.

The new officers professed to be undisturbed by it all.

They did not discuss a jinx.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Patrolman William Koegle flagged a woman driver to the curb when she was clocked driving 47 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. Writing the ticket, Koegle asked the woman when she'd like to appear in court. "How about June 29 at 1 p. m.?" Koegle asked. The woman reached into the glove compartment for an astrology book, flipped through it briefly, then answered: "That will be fine."

Couple, 2 Children Are Found at Minerva

MINERVA, N. Y. (AP) — A young couple and two children were found safe, camped near a marsh, after wandering for 24 hours in the Adirondacks near this Essex County community.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Price, both 20, of Esperance, Schoharie County and Price's brother and sister, Thomas, 10, and Cathy, 12 both of Schoharie were found Friday by searchers, sitting under a lean-to they had built near Bullhead Pond, where they had gone fishing Thursday.

The party missed the pond and kept walking until nightfall, Price said. He told police they had planned to find the Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks Friday, after hearing a train Thursday night, but no train passed.

Railroad Begins Weekend Trips to Carry Passengers

ARCADE, N. Y. (AP) — A gleaming steam engine, and the two bright orange platform coaches it pulls 15 miles along their Western New York route, mark the bold re-entry of the Arcade & Attica Railroad into a rapidly declining field — railroad passenger service.

Most railroads have been cutting back on passenger service today, but the Arcade & Attica inaugurated Friday its return to the field by carrying 75 stockholders, boosters, politicians, steam buffs and hangers-on from Arcade up through the hills of Wyoming County to Curriers.

Enroute, a group of masked youngsters staged a holdup and some unrehearsed cows forced the train to stop when they loped across the track.

Actual service — daily trips up and down the line on weekends —begins Aug. 4, and A&A President Richard I. Cartwright said the railroad also hopes to make the train available for excursions

"From now until September will be a kind of break-in time for us," he said. "Next spring, we'll really get this thing under way.

The steam engine is 42 years old and was found in Michigan. The coaches were bought from the Erie-Lackawanna. In reserve, if needed, is President Grover Cleveland's honeymoon Pullman.

The passenger service will augment the A&A's operation of hauling from Arcade to North Java.

Many Entrants For Auto Show

The Irish A, winner of best in show honors at many auto shows in New York State, is among the entrants for the Saratoga Automotive Festival, August 3-4-5, it was announced today.

The Irish A, a model A Ford elaborately arrayed in chrome and naugahide, will be among the exhibits in the rod and customs division of the Saratoga show, which is expected to present approximately 40 cars on the floor of the State Armory.

The Saratoga Springs YMCA Men's Club, which is sponsoring the show in cooperation with the local Chamber of Commerce, also announced today that the festival would offer the first exhibit in this area of the new Jet-fire Oldsmobile, a car with a turbo-charged V8 power plant. This will be among the exhibits in the sports class.

Entrants in the special interest class will include a midget racer and one of the very old Hal-D-O sprint cars.

Models dating from 1903 through 1924, including high calibre restorations and originals, have been entered in the antique class.

Such fancy cars of the 1930's as the Cadillac V-16 and the Auburn Speedster are entered in the classics division.

Another scheduled for this exhibit is a dragster with a former national record to its credit.

Live Body

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — A fisherman reported a body "in some kind of a sack" on the Spring River bank near Carterville, Mo. "There was a body, all right," reported sheriff's deputy sent to investigate, "but it was a live one, a female from Webb City, asleep in a sleeping bag." She told officers she was waiting for her boy friend.

A new master and chief engineer were flown from Germany, and the steamship sailed for Portland to load a cargo of grain.

At Astoria, where the ship entered the Columbia River to head for Portland, the second officer had to be relieved of his duties. As was the case of the chief mate, there was no explanation.

By that time a new chief mate had arrived from Germany. He joined the ship at Astoria and made the journey 100 miles upstream to Portland.

But Portland turned out to be the wrong port. The mistake was not explained, but the ship was told to turn around and sail for Seattle, where the ship's 11,000-ton load of grain was waiting.

So the Carl Fritzen headed back out of Portland Thursday night.

The new officers professed to be undisturbed by it all.

They did not discuss a jinx.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Patrolman William Koegle flagged a woman driver to the curb when she was clocked driving 47 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. Writing the ticket, Koegle asked the woman when she'd like to appear in court. "How about June 29 at 1 p. m.?" Koegle asked. The woman reached into the glove compartment for an astrology book, flipped through it briefly, then answered: "That will be fine."

Railroad Begins Weekend Trips to Carry Passengers

ARCADE, N. Y. (AP) — A gleaming steam engine, and the two bright orange platform coaches it pulls 15 miles along their Western New York route, mark the bold re-entry of the Arcade & Attica Railroad into a rapidly declining field — railroad passenger service.

Most railroads have been cutting back on passenger service today, but the Arcade & Attica inaugurated Friday its return to the field by carrying 75 stockholders, boosters, politicians, steam buffs and hangers-on from Arcade up through the hills of Wyoming County to Curriers.

Enroute, a group of masked youngsters staged a holdup and some unrehearsed cows forced the train to stop when they loped across the track.

Actual service — daily trips up and down the line on weekends —begins Aug. 4, and A&A President Richard I. Cartwright said the railroad also hopes to make the train available for excursions

"From now until September will be a kind of break-in time for us," he said. "Next spring, we'll really get this thing under way.

The steam engine is 42 years old and was found in Michigan. The coaches were bought from the Erie-Lackawanna. In reserve, if needed, is President Grover Cleveland's honeymoon Pullman.

The passenger service will augment the A&A's operation of hauling from Arcade to North Java.

Couple, 2 Children Are Found at Minerva

MINERVA, N. Y. (AP) — A young couple and two children were found safe, camped near a marsh, after wandering for 24 hours in the Adirondacks near this Essex County community.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Price, both 20, of Esperance, Schoharie County and Price's brother and sister, Thomas, 10, and Cathy, 12 both of Schoharie were found Friday by searchers, sitting under a lean-to they had built near Bullhead Pond, where they had gone fishing Thursday.

The party missed the pond and kept walking until nightfall, Price said. He told police they had planned to find the Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks Friday, after hearing a train Thursday night, but no train passed.

Many Entrants For Auto Show

The Irish A, winner of best in show honors at many auto shows in New York State, is among the entrants for the Saratoga Automotive Festival, August 3-4-5, it was announced today.

The Irish A, a model A Ford elaborately arrayed in chrome and naugahide, will be among the exhibits in the rod and customs division of the Saratoga show, which is expected to present approximately 40 cars on the floor of the State Armory.

The Saratoga Springs YMCA Men's Club, which is sponsoring the show in cooperation with the local Chamber of Commerce, also announced today that the festival would offer the first exhibit in this area of the new Jet-fire Oldsmobile, a car with a turbo-charged V8 power plant. This will be among the exhibits in the sports class.

Entrants in the special interest class will include a midget racer and one of the very old Hal-D-O sprint cars.

Models dating from 1903 through 1924, including high calibre restorations and originals, have been entered in the antique class.

Such fancy cars of the 1930's as the Cadillac V-16 and the Auburn Speedster are entered in the classics division.

Another scheduled for this exhibit is a dragster with a former national record to its credit.

Live Body

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — A fisherman reported a body "in some kind of a sack" on the Spring River bank near Carterville, Mo. "There was a body, all right," reported sheriff's deputy sent to investigate, "but it was a live one, a female from Webb City, asleep in a sleeping bag." She told officers she was waiting for her boy friend.

THE CUBANS WHO LEFT

Every week more Cuban refugees take the flight to freedom and land in Miami. But the immediate circumstances in which they find themselves are strange, confusing and difficult, in spite of the valiant efforts of government and church-sponsored refugee services and other officials of Miami and Dade County.

Housing is crowded. Jobs are extremely scarce. School facilities are strained by the influx of students of different background. Adding to all the other problems is the fact that many of the Cubans do not speak English.

Resettlement to other parts of the country is imperative, but the movement has developed slowly. Most of the refugees have been reluctant to go to places that seemed cold in climate, foreign in character and very far from home. They have worried about feeling lost and having difficulty finding jobs. Meanwhile persons and organizations in other cities who might be helping have been unaware of the need or uncertain about how to proceed.

All that is required of sponsors is that they find a home and a job, provide enough cash to tide a family over its first few weeks, and offer friendly attention to help the Cubans get established. The government now pays for transportation from Florida. Any church, civic organization, business or neighborhood group can serve as sponsor, working through the government refugee office in Miami or the religious denominations operating refugee centers there.

Noisy night: When sonic booms and a thunderstorm and the hot-rodder down the street all go into action at once.

AID FOR AMERICA

Christian Herter, former Seceretary of State, has proposed a program of "reverse foreign aid" for the United States. This would not be comparable to American aid to other nations, involving large sums of money and supplies, but rather it would be a program of inviting others to offer to the United States valuable ideas, scientific techniques, and practical discoveries of many kinds.

Besides the obvious advantages of aiding American science, industry, government services and cultural life with the fruits of learning in other countries, Herter's "Point V Program" would have the effect of expressing respect for accomplishments of people whose economic status makes them ask for financial aid.

As more and more Americans become world travelers, they discover for themselves the special assets and bright ideas found useful and profitable elsewhere. Giving official encouragement to the exchange of such ideas, processes and even experts who might teach Americans certain specialties undoubtedly would aid the United States, in both direct results and the inevitable gain of more satisfying relations with the less-developed nations.

UNEASY ALLIANCE

The United States moved swiftly and properly in cutting diplomatic relations with Peru and cancelling aid scheduled under the Alliance for Progress.

After the grab of power by military leaders, our government had no choice if it was to stand by its principles of supporting constitutional goverment, free elections and the democratic approach. The forces now in control in Peru have thrown President Prado in prison, annulled results of a national election and suspended constitutional guarantees.

In short, the military control group in Peru has invalidated the very things the Alliance for Progress was designed to aid and strengthen. Although it starkly illustrates the need for outside assistance for the growth of democracy in Latin America, the seizure of power was too violent to leave room for any compromising with diplomacy or economic aid from the United States.

Peru is in grave trouble right now, and at the moment there is little that outsiders can do to help. The quick, firm action of the United States, however, will be recognized with appreciation by other governments in South America which are trying to develop their own forms of democracy. It has demonstrated that the United States intends to live by its goals in the Alliance for Progress.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

A Joint Resolution was passed by the present Congress providing for "the establishing of the former dwelling house of Alexander Hamilton as a national memorial."

This means that the home of Alexander Hamilton, known as "The Grange," situated in New York City, becomes a national memorial.

The role of Alexander Hamilton as one of the founders of the United States is often forgotten. Born in the West Indies, Alexander Hamilton came to New York to study at King's College which ultimately became Columbia University. Young Alexander Hamilton, even as a student, became politically active in support of the Revolution. He became an aide to George Washington and was undoubtedly his ghost writer. During the Revolutionary War, he was constantly at Washington's side.

However, Hamilton's greatest service to the new government was the publication, with John Jay and James Madison, of "Federalist Papers" which to this day laid the foundation for the understanding of the Constitution and the perpetuation of the New Government. As Secretary of the Treasury, he laid down the economic basis in his "Report on Manufactures" which established the concept of the protective tariff and which gave to the country economic independence.

Hamilton's ideas conflicted with those of Thomas Jefferson. Hamilton feared the incompetence of the masses; Jefferson believed that the voice of the people is the voice of God.

I will be permitted this over-simplification which is good enough for present purposes; otherwise a monograph beyond allowable space would be necessary. Aaron Burr, who disliked Alexander Hamilton, was the leader of the Democrats in New York, perhaps the founder of Tammany Hall. At any rate, Burr and Hamilton fought a duel over on the Jersey side and Hamilton was killed at the age of 47.

In these days of Keynesian economics and sophisticated assumptions, it is good to see that Congress has recalled the name and significance of Alexander Hamilton. It is interesting also to recall the words of Elihu Root, written in 1934 which somehow sound like 1962:

"The United States is at the threshhold of a very serious discussion upon matters materially affecting our system of government and our social organization. For the avowed purpose of dealing with an emergency, many powers have been assumed and exercised by our government which the people of the country had never thought of granting. The people generally, however, have felt that an emergency did exist, in the stagnation of business and in the lack of employment for millions of workers of all kinds, and they have strongly desired the success of the Administration in its efforts to produce activity in business, general reemployment, and renewed prosperity; and although many Americans have doubted the wisdom or the authority of some of the things that have been done, there has been a general unwillingness to undertake active opposition to particular acts lest such opposition might tend to retard or to show lack of sympathy with the special efforts the Administration was making."

It would be advantageous for an understanding as to why the American economy was unlike any in Europe to study the papers of Hamilton who could foresee in 1791 that:

"There are certain species of taxes, which are apt to be oppressive to different parts of the community, and, among other ill effects, have a very unfriendly aspect towards manufactures. All poll or capitation taxes are of this nature. They either proceed according to a fixed rate, which operates unequally and injuriously to the industrious poor, or they vest a discretion, in certain officers, to make estimates and assessments, which are necessarily vague, conjectural, and liable to abuse. They ought, therefore, to be abstained from in all but cases of distressing emergency."

Perhaps some of our current statesmen might have a look at this to see what is preventing our economy from moving. They would perhaps find in Alexander Hamilton rather than in John Maynard Kaynes the intellectual leadership which is so sorely needed at the moment.

However, when anyone complains of the youth of President Kenedy and his entourage, it might be recalled that Alexander Hamilton was only 34 when he wrote his "Report on Manufactures," that he was 30 when he wrote "The Federalist"; that he was 32 when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury. He was only 47 years old when Aaron Burr shot him. This country was founded by young men.

The Mature Parent

Children Will Love 'Maya'

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"The little bee had hidden herself in the heart of the alder blossoms and was listening and blinking under the pointed darts of the sunlight when she heard someone beside her sigh. Turning around she saw—well, it really was the strangest of all the strange creatures she had ever met. It must have had at least a hundred legs along each side of its body. It was three times her size and slim, low and wingless.

"For goodness sake! Mercy on me!" Maya was quite startled. "You must certainly be able to run!"

"The stranger gave her a pondering look. 'I doubt it,' he said. 'I have too many legs. You see, before they can all be set in motion, too much time is lost. I didn't use to realize this and often wished I had a few more legs. But God's will be done. Who are you?'"

This is your first taste of one of the most satisfying children's books ever written—"The Adventures of Maya the Bee" by Waldemar Bonsels, a German classic published years ago which children of Europe know and love. Few American children know and love it, as it went out of print when its original American publisher went out of business. Now it is in print again. So, during my coming vacation, the space I leave behind me will be given to excerpts from this book that I hope will send you out to buy its whole enchantment for your child.

I met "Maya" when I was 18, the summer I worked for its original publisher, and have loved it ever since.

It is a beautiful children's book because it does not seek to enlarge their information about the world but to transform what they already know about it into wonder and reverence.

The tender spirit of the author has taken the commonplace, taken-for-granted insects of the summertime and given them back meaning as tiny creations of God—wonderful little sparks of aspiring, irascible, impatient, vain, struggling life not so different from our own. So your little boy and girl will delight with the daddy-longlegs when he disentangles his delicate legs from the knot the wind has made of them and move with Maya's own excitement into the beetle's rose house with its too-fragrant, too-intoxicating walls.

After reading "The Adventures of Maya the Bee," no child can ever again pass a field, a garden or a tree as he was able to pass it before.

I am indebted to the publishers of her adventures who have permitted me to give your children tastes of my favorite book in juvenile literature.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This new space-age fashion note came to the fore when President Kennedy made the 1962 Collier trophy award for outstanding achievement in aviation to four X-15 pilots:

Any astronaut who wants to be in high style must wear a foot-and-a-half-long band on his electronic wrist watch. It takes a strap this length to wrap around the bulky space suit sleeves.

MOST NOTABLE understatement of the week is credited to Attorney General Robert F. (Bobby) Kennedy.

"I'm not going to take an active part in the campaign," he told a group of Democratic congressional candidates at a breakfast rally.

"The President has taken me out of politics because of the kind of work I do."

SOON TO BE sworn in as new secretary of health, education and welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, mayor of Cleveland, has another claim to fame that will make him unique in Washington.

"I was perhaps the greatest gandy dancer ever, at the age of 14," he recently told the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers convention. He explained that his father was a railroader, working on the tracks as a laborer. In his summer vacations, the new cabinet member worked right beside him. In railroad slang, track workers are known as "gandy dancers."

SEN. KARL E. MUNDT, R-S. D., says that following swearing-in ceremonies for Joseph H. Bottom as successor to the late senator from South Dakota Francis Case, Vice President Johnson ushered them both along to his ceremonial office for photos, since picture taking is forbidden on the Senate floor.

Having to go through the ceremony the second time, the vice president quipped:

"I certainly hope this isn't an omen of what's to come—all I've been swearing in this year have been Republicans."

DEMOCRATIC National Committee Chairman John M. Bailey opened the second Democratic Candidates' Conference with the comment: "I think it fitting that the so-called all-Republican conference was held in a circus tent in General Eisenhower's cow pasture. Goldwater didn't attend, neither did Rockefeller. And neither did Romney.

"So the only entertainment was furnished by the Ev and Charlie show. Ev and Charlie didn't want to attend either, but they arrived at the last minute, arms slightly twisted."

When SEN. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., was awarded the Florists' Telegraph Delivery first annual Golden Rose Award at the Capitol, there was some discussion as to whether alcoholic beverages should be served after the ceremony.

The public relations man responsible for settling up the affair suggested a punch made of champagne. Bill Lewis, administrative assistant to Senator Smith immediately turned down the suggestion becuase the question of whether alcoholic beverages should be served on the Hill was, as he put it, "still bottled up in committee."

All parties finally agreed that the punch should be made of Senator Smith's favorite beverage — white, sparkling grape juice.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S top economic adviser now has a little set introduction which he makes at the beginning of his talks to various groups on the business situation.

"I'm Walter W. Heller," he says, "not William E. Heller, and I did not lend $7 million to Billie Sol Estes. I'm not that good a credit risk."

WHEN THE RECENT announcement was made about a Russian MIG fighter "making a pass' at a United States transport plane over Berlin, a Pentagon wag headlined it: "Fresh MIG."

A NEW TERM on Capitol Hill is "hopper dropper." It's applied by unadmiring colleagues to a congressman who submits bills (drops bills in the hopper) at the slightest provocation in order to get publicity, then promptly forgets all about them.

AN AIR FORCE TYPE in charge of firing the big Minuteman missiles at Cape Canaveral is still complaining about his Fourth of July celebration with his son.

Although the airman can fire the big intercontinental ballistic missile at the Cape, he says unhappily that the law won't allow him to fire a puny skyrocket at their home in Maryland.

Onteora Recognizes Need for Oral Training of Children

During the past three years, there has been a growing awareness of the need of training all children in oral and written communication in the Onteora Central Schools District, District Principal George R. Sullivan says.

In the spring of 1961, Mrs. Mary Caughey, the speech correctionist, informed Walter S. Van Wagenen, principal of the Woodstock and West Hurley schools, that all children requiring her attention had been cared for and there was no further need of her services in those schools for at least a year.

Van Wagenen, who had been watching the progress of the children, knew this announcement would soon be made and was ready with a counter proposition: all classes, third through sixth grades, were to be given a half-hour weekly lesson in oral communication.

Speech correction is not new to the Onteora Central Schools District, Dr. Sullivan points out. A part-time correctionist from the Board of Cooperative Educational Services has been in the district schools for five years. Drama clubs have been organized in the high school from time to time but they have not constituted a major activity.

During the school term just completed these classes have been held. According to their grade levels, the children have received training in articulation, diction, voice inflection and volume control, speech courtesy, listening, oral sentence structure, simple speeches, choral speaking and pantomime for bodily control and poise.

At the Boiceville schools, workshops on various phases of speech arts were conducted for the teachers at the Bennett School and for the English teachers of the Onteora High School. One lecture on "Listening" was given to the entire secondary faculty.

On Full Time Basis

Mrs. Caughey has now been employed by the Onteora Central Schools District on a full-time basis as a teacher of speech and coordinator of the speech arts from kindergarten through 12th grade. Although the speech arts have been taught for some years in cities and on Long Island, Onteora is the first "country" district to incorporate the subject into the curriculum on such a comprehensive basis.

Speech, oral communication, and speech arts are three synonymous terms used to designate the teaching of children who express themselves orally to the best of their abilities. Speech correction and speech therapy refer to corrective work with the speech handicapped, from mild articulatory defects to severe organic problems.

Aims Are Varied

The aims of the teacher of speech arts are many and varied. By the time a student has had speech work in some form from 10 to 12 years, he can be expected to participate freely and effectively in the exchange of ideas in both informal conversation and formal group discussions: read prose aloud effectively when necessary, organize, arrange and express ideas so that they will explain, persuade, entertain or actuate, concentrate on the essential message of the speaker and be able to reproduce it orally or in writing; to evaluate what the speaker says and to discriminate between better and worse, fact and opinion, truth and falsehood and, on occasion, to do so under pressure.

The student should have learned, in listening to a speech to respond critically, not merely to separate words or ideas, but to the entire meaning; to listen thougtfully until utterance has been completed; to react objectively as well as emotionally in speaking and listening situations; to express ideas in appropriate, vivid, exact concise and refined language; to use voice quality, volume, timing (rate and pause), pitch and inflection appropriate to the specific situation and to use and control facial and body action, so that they may enhance the communication of his idea or emotion and not interfere with it. In short, he should be able to listen critically and well, express himself clearly in all business and social situations and, when the occasion demands, give a creditable public speech.

It is the duty of the speech arts coordinator to prepare speech syllabi for the teachers of all grades, secure teaching materials, conduct workshops for the teachers and give classroom teaching demonstrations of each new unit. She will teach the speech unit in the high school English classes when necessary and coordinate all high school extra-curricular speech activities.

Good speech is not learned overnight or in one semester course, Dr. Sullivan concludes. It must grow as the child grows, step by step, year by year, until it is as unconscious as breathing and walking.

Dilworth Aims To Clean Rivers If He's Elected

HARRISBURG (AP)—Richardson Dilworth, Democratic candidate for governor, has promised "a vigorous anti-pollution campaign" for Pennsylvania rivers, if elected governor Nov. 6.

Dilworth's promise was in a letter to Keith C. Schuyler, conservation chairman of the Berwick Chamber of Commerce. The letter was made public Friday.

Dilworth wrote:

Every week more Cuban refugees take the flight to freedom and land in Miami. But the immediate circumstances in which they find themselves are strange, confusing and difficult, in spite of the valiant efforts of government and church-sponsored refugee services and other officials of Miami and Dade County.

Housing is crowded. Jobs are extremely scarce. School facilities are strained by the influx of students of different background. Adding to all the other problems is the fact that many of the Cubans do not speak English.

Resettlement to other parts of the country is imperative, but the movement has developed slowly. Most of the refugees have been reluctant to go to places that seemed cold in climate, foreign in character and very far from home. They have worried about feeling lost and having difficulty finding jobs. Meanwhile persons and organizations in other cities who might be helping have been unaware of the need or uncertain about how to proceed.

All that is required of sponsors is that they find a home and a job, provide enough cash to tide a family over its first few weeks, and offer friendly attention to help the Cubans get established. The government now pays for transportation from Florida. Any church, civic organization, business or neighborhood group can serve as sponsor, working through the government refugee office in Miami or the religious denominations operating refugee centers there.

Noisy night: When sonic booms and a thunderstorm and the hot-rodder down the street all go into action at once.

AID FOR AMERICA

Christian Herter, former Secretary of State, has proposed a program of "reverse foreign aid" for the United States. This would not be comparable to American aid to other nations, involving large sums of money and supplies, but rather it would be a program of inviting others to offer to the United States valuable ideas, scientific techniques, and practical discoveries of many kinds.

Besides the obvious advantages of aiding American science, industry, government services and cultural life with the fruits of learning in other countries, Herter's "Point V Program" would have the effect of expressing respect for accomplishments of people whose economic status makes them ask for financial aid.

As more and more Americans become world travelers, they discover for themselves the special assets and bright ideas found useful and profitable elsewhere. Giving official encouragement to the exchange of such ideas, processes and even experts who might teach Americans certain specialties undoubtedly would aid the United States, in both direct results and the inevitable gain of more satisfying relations with the less-developed nations.

UNEASY ALLIANCE

The United States moved swiftly and properly in cutting diplomatic relations with Peru and cancelling aid scheduled under the Alliance for Progress.

After the grab of power by military leaders, our government had no choice if it was to stand by its principles of supporting constitutional goverment, free elections and the democratic approach. The forces now in control in Peru have thrown President Prado in prison, annulled results of a national election and suspended constitutional guarantees.

In short, the military control group in Peru has invalidated the very things the Alliance for Progress was designed to aid and strengthen. Although it starkly illustrates the need for outside assistance for the growth of democracy in Latin America, the seizure of power was too violent to leave room for any compromising with diplomacy or economic aid from the United States.

Peru is in grave trouble right now, and at the moment there is little that outsiders can do to help. The quick, firm action of the United States, however, will be recognized with appreciation by other governments in South America which are trying to develop their own forms of democracy. It has demonstrated that the United States intends to live by its goals in the Alliance for Progress.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

A Joint Resolution was passed by the present Congress providing for "the establishing of the former dwelling house of Alexander Hamilton as a national memorial."

This means that the home of Alexander Hamilton, known as "The Grange," situated in New York City, becomes a national memorial.

The role of Alexander Hamilton as one of the founders of the United States is often forgotten. Born in the West Indies, Alexander Hamilton came to New York to study at King's College which ultimately became Columbia University. Young Alexander Hamilton, even as a student, became politically active in support of the Revolution. He became an aide to George Washington and was undoubtedly his ghost writer. During the Revolutionary War, he was constantly at Washington's side.

However, Hamilton's greatest service to the new government was the publication, with John Jay and James Madison, of "Federalist Papers" which to this day laid the foundation for the understanding of the Constitution and the perpetuation of the New Government. As Secretary of the Treasury, he laid down the economic basis in his "Report on Manufactures" which established the concept of the protective tariff and which gave to the country economic independence.

Hamilton's ideas conflicted with those of Thomas Jefferson. Hamilton feared the incompetence of the masses; Jefferson believed that the voice of the people is the voice of God.

I will be permitted this over-simplification which is good enough for present purposes; otherwise a monograph beyond allowable space would be necessary. Aaron Burr, who disliked Alexander Hamilton, was the leader of the Democrats in New York, perhaps the founder of Tammany Hall. At any rate, Burr and Hamilton fought a duel over on the Jersey side and Hamilton was killed at the age of 47.

In these days of Keynesian economics and sophisticated assumptions, it is good to see that Congress has recalled the name and significance of Alexander Hamilton. It is interesting also to recall the words of Elihu Root, written in 1934 which somehow sound like 1962:

"The United States is at the threshhold of a very serious discussion upon matters materially affecting our system of government and our social organization. For the avowed purpose of dealing with an emergency, many powers have been assumed and exercised by our government which the people of the country had never thought of granting. The people generally, however, have felt that an emergency did exist, in the stagnation of business and in the lack of employment for millions of workers of all kinds, and they have strongly desired the success of the Administration in its efforts to produce activity in business, general reemployment, and renewed prosperity; and although many Americans have doubted the wisdom or the authority of some of the things that have been done, there has been a general unwillingness to undertake active opposition to particular acts lest such opposition might tend to retard or to show lack of sympathy with the special efforts the Administration was making."

It would be advantageous for an understanding as to why the American economy was unlike any in Europe to study the papers of Hamilton who could foresee in 1791 that:

"There are certain species of taxes, which are apt to be oppressive to different parts of the community, and, among other ill effects, have a very unfriendly aspect towards manufactures. All poll or capitation taxes are of this nature. They either proceed according to a fixed rate, which operates unequally and injuriously to the industrious poor, or they vest a discretion, in certain officers, to make estimates and assessments, which are necessarily vague, conjectural, and liable to abuse. They ought, therefore, to be abstained from in all but cases of distressing emergency."

Perhaps some of our current statesmen might have a look at this to see what is preventing our economy from moving. They would perhaps find in Alexander Hamilton rather than in John Maynard Kaynes the intellectual leadership which is so sorely needed at the moment.

However, when anyone complains of the youth of President Kenedy and his entourage, it might be recalled that Alexander Hamilton was only 34 when he wrote his "Report on Manufactures," that he was 30 when he wrote "The Federalist"; that he was 32 when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury. He was only 47 years old when Aaron Burr shot him. This country was founded by young men.

The Mature Parent

Children Will Love 'Maya'

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"The little bee had hidden herself in the heart of the alder blossoms and was listening and blinking under the pointed darts of the sunlight when she heard someone beside her sigh. Turning around she saw—well, it really was the strangest of all the strange creatures she had ever met. It must have had at least a hundred legs along each side of its body. It was three times her size and slim, low and wingless.

"For goodness sake! Mercy on me!" Maya was quite startled. "You must certainly be able to run!"

"The stranger gave her a pondering look. 'I doubt it,' he said. 'I have too many legs. You see, before they can all be set in motion, too much time is lost. I didn't use to realize this and often wished I had a few more legs. But God's will be done. Who are you?'"

This is your first taste of one of the most satisfying children's books ever written—"The Adventures of Maya the Bee" by Waldemar Bonsels, a German classic published years ago which children of Europe know and love. Few American children know and love it, as it went out of print when its original American publisher went out of business. Now it is in print again. So, during my coming vacation, the space I leave behind me will be given to excerpts from this book that I hope will send you out to buy its whole enchantment for your child.

I met "Maya" when I was 18, the summer I worked for its original publisher, and have loved it ever since.

It is a beautiful children's book because it does not seek to enlarge their information about the world but to transform what they already know about it into wonder and reverence.

The tender spirit of the author has taken the commonplace, taken-for-granted insects of the summertime and given them back meaning as tiny creations of God—wonderful little sparks of aspiring, irascible, impatient, vain, struggling life not so different from our own. So your little boy and girl will delight with the daddy-longlegs when he disentangles his delicate legs from the knot the wind has made of them and move with Maya's own excitement into the beetle's rose house with its too-fragrant, too-intoxicating walls.

After reading "The Adventures of Maya the Bee," no child can ever again pass a field, a garden or a tree as he was able to pass it before.

I am indebted to the publishers of her adventures who have permitted me to give your children tastes of my favorite book in juvenile literature.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This new space-age fashion note came to the fore when President Kennedy made the 1962 Collier trophy award for outstanding achievement in aviation to four X-15 pilots:

Any astronaut who wants to be in high style must wear a foot-and-a-half-long band on his electronic wrist watch. It takes a strap this length to wrap around the bulky space suit sleeves.

MOST NOTABLE understatement of the week is credited to Attorney General Robert F. (Bobby) Kennedy.

"I'm not going to take an active part in the campaign," he told a group of Democratic congressional candidates at a breakfast rally.

"The President has taken me out of politics because of the kind of work I do."

SOON TO BE sworn in as new secretary of health, education and welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, mayor of Cleveland, has another claim to fame that will make him unique in Washington.

"I was perhaps the greatest gandy dancer ever, at the age of 14," he recently told the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers convention. He explained that his father was a railroader, working on the tracks as a laborer. In his summer vacations, the new cabinet member worked right beside him. In railroad slang, track workers are known as "gandy dancers."

SEN. KARL E. MUNDT, R-S. D., says that following swearing-in ceremonies for Joseph H. Bottom as successor to the late senator from South Dakota Francis Case, Vice President Johnson ushered them both along to his ceremonial office for photos, since picture taking is forbidden on the Senate floor.

Having to go through the ceremony the second time, the vice president quipped:

"I certainly hope this isn't an omen of what's to come—all I've been swearing in this year have been Republicans."

DEMOCRATIC National Committee Chairman John M. Bailey opened the second Democratic Candidates' Conference with the comment: "I think it fitting that the so-called all-Republican conference was held in a circus tent in General Eisenhower's cow pasture. Goldwater didn't attend, neither did Rockefeller. And neither did Romney.

"So the only entertainment was furnished by the Ev and Charlie show. Ev and Charlie didn't want to attend either, but they arrived at the last minute, arms slightly twisted."

When SEN. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., was awarded the Florists' Telegraph Delivery first annual Golden Rose Award at the Capitol, there was some discussion as to whether alcoholic beverages should be served after the ceremony.

The public relations man responsible for settling up the affair suggested a punch made of champagne. Bill Lewis, administrative assistant to Senator Smith immediately turned down the suggestion because the question of whether alcoholic beverages should be served on the Hill was, as he put it, "still bottled up in committee."

All parties finally agreed that the punch should be made of Senator Smith's favorite beverage — white, sparkling grape juice.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S top economic adviser now has a little set introduction which he makes at the beginning of his talks to various groups on the business situation.

"I'm Walter W. Heller," he says, "not William E. Heller, and I did not lend $7 million to Billie Sol Estes. I'm not that good a credit risk."

WHEN THE RECENT announcement was made about a Russian MIG fighter "making a pass' at a United States transport plane over Berlin, a Pentagon wag headlined it: "Fresh MIG."

A NEW TERM on Capitol Hill is "hopper dropper." It's applied by unadmiring colleagues to a congressman who submits bills (drops bills in the hopper) at the slightest provocation in order to get publicity, then promptly forgets all about them.

AN AIR FORCE TYPE in charge of firing the big Minuteman missiles at Cape Canaveral is still complaining about his Fourth of July celebration with his son.

Although the airman can fire the big intercontinental ballistic missile at the Cape, he says unhappily that the law won't allow him to fire a puny skyrocket at their home in Maryland.

Onteora Recognizes Need for Oral Training of Children

During the past three years, there has been a growing awareness of the need of training all children in oral and written communication in the Onteora Central Schools District, District Principal George R. Sullivan says.

In the spring of 1961, Mrs. Mary Caughey, the speech correctionist, informed Walter S. Van Wagenen, principal of the Woodstock and West Hurley schools, that all children requiring her attention had been cared for and there was no further need of her services in those schools for at least a year.

Van Wagenen, who had been watching the progress of the children, knew this announcement would soon be made and was ready with a counter proposition: all classes, third through sixth grades, were to be given a half-hour weekly lesson in oral communication.

Speech correction is not new to the Onteora Central Schools District, Dr. Sullivan points out. A part-time correctionist from the Board of Cooperative Educational Services has been in the district schools for five years. Drama clubs have been organized in the high school from time to time but they have not constituted a major activity.

During the school term just completed these classes have been held. According to their grade levels, the children have received training in articulation, diction, voice inflection and volume control, speech courtesy, listening, oral sentence structure, simple speeches, choral speaking and pantomime for bodily control and poise.

At the Boiceville schools, workshops on various phases of speech arts were conducted for the teachers at the Bennett School and for the English teachers of the Onteora High School. One lecture on "Listening" was given to the entire secondary faculty.

On Full Time Basis

Mrs. Caughey has now been employed by the Onteora Central Schools District on a full-time basis as a teacher of speech and coordinator of the speech arts from kindergarten through 12th grade. Although the speech arts have been taught for some years in cities and on Long Island, Onteora is the first "country" district to incorporate the subject into the curriculum on such a comprehensive basis.

Speech, oral communication, and speech arts are three synonymous terms used to designate the teaching of children who express themselves orally to the best of their abilities. Speech correction and speech therapy refer to corrective work with the speech handicapped, from mild articulatory defects to severe organic problems.

Aims Are Varied

The aims of the teacher of speech arts are many and varied. By the time a student has had speech work in some form from 10 to 12 years, he can be expected to participate freely and effectively in the exchange of ideas in both informal conversation and formal group discussions: read prose aloud effectively when necessary, organize, arrange and express ideas so that they will explain, persuade, entertain or actuate, concentrate on the essential message of the speaker and be able to reproduce it orally or in writing; to evaluate what the speaker says and to discriminate between better and worse, fact and opinion, truth and falsehood and, on occasion, to do so under pressure.

The student should have learned, in listening to a speech to respond critically, not merely to separate words or ideas, but to the entire meaning; to listen thougtfully until utterance has been completed; to react objectively as well as emotionally in speaking and listening situations; to express ideas in appropriate, vivid, exact concise and refined language; to use voice quality, volume, timing (rate and pause), pitch and inflection appropriate to the specific situation and to use and control facial and body action, so that they may enhance the communication of his idea or emotion and not interfere with it. In short, he should be able to listen critically and well, express himself clearly in all business and social situations and, when the occasion demands, give a creditable public speech.

It is the duty of the speech arts coordinator to prepare speech syllabi for the teachers of all grades, secure teaching materials, conduct workshops for the teachers and give classroom teaching demonstrations of each new unit. She will teach the speech unit in the high school English classes when necessary and coordinate all high school extra-curricular speech activities.

Good speech is not learned overnight or in one semester course, Dr. Sullivan concludes. It must grow as the child grows, step by step, year by year, until it is as unconscious as breathing and walking.

Dilworth Aims To Clean Rivers If He's Elected

HARRISBURG (AP)—Richardson Dilworth, Democratic candidate for governor, has promised "a vigorous anti-pollution campaign" for Pennsylvania rivers, if elected governor Nov. 6.

Dilworth's promise was in a letter to Keith C. Schuyler, conservation chairman of the Berwick Chamber of Commerce. The letter was made public Friday.

Dilworth wrote:

"In particular, I want to put as much effort as possible into the most pernicious of all pollution problems—acid mine drainage.

"The age of irresponsibility is over for users of our rivers. They must observe their obligations to our children and future generations and restore the vitality of our streams so that they can support our economy as long as there is a Pennsylvania."

Reports Given About People In News Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Princess Margaret is rapidly making the grade in her new passion for water skiing.

Friends said the princess, having weathered a few preliminary duckings, now frequently can make it to the end of the run without getting her bathing cap wet.

Though lacking the dash of her husband, Lord Snowdon, Margaret has mastered ski stance in 400-yard runs over a private club lake on the edge of London.

A newspaper picture of the Princess, streaking across the lake in skin-tight rubber suit and flowered swim cap, looked like boosting interest in this sport that few but the hardiest care to tackle in England's chilly waters.

Pamela Mason is suing actress Loretta Young and Lyl Productions for $137,800 in a dispute over clothing for the Masons' 13-year-old daughter, Portland.

The complaint, filed Friday in Santa Monica, Calif., claims that Portland was wrongfully fired from a co-starring role in Miss Young's television show, "Christine's Children."

Also named as defendants were CBS and the show's sponsors—Lever Bros., Papermate and the Gillette Co.

Carol Burnett, the girl with the big smile and expressive face, is breaking box office records in Dallas.

She has vaulted from the slapstick sketches of the Garry Moore television show to one of the biggest drawing cards of the summer theater circuit.

Her revue, which also features Marty ("Hello Dere") Allen and Steve Rossi, is sold out for the remainer of its two-week run in Dallas and is assured of setting new attendance and money records for the 4,120-seat Music Hall.

Idaho's Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced Friday he will not seek the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death last Monday of Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R-Idaho.

He said it was more important to him and the state to defeat the pro-gambling Democratic nominee for governor, Vernon K. Smith, in November. Smith advocates state-sanctioned gambling.

Smylie also indicated he plans to appoint an interim senator to serve until the November general election when a successor to Dworshak will be elected.

Blue Shield

payment of hospital bills, are not affected by the change.

Blue Shield has more than 5 million subscribers in a 17-county area including New York City, the Mid-Hudson Valley and Long Island. There are more than 19,000 participating physicians in the area.

Additional benefits of the $4,000-$6,000 contract include general anesthesia, 30 days' medical care in a hospital for pulmonary tuberculosis, a similar stay for mental and nervous conditions, radiation therapy for benign conditions and higher allowances for most physician services.

$500 New Allowances

Maximum surgical allowances under the old contract were $250, compared with $500 under the new. Allowances for doctors' visits totaled $452 under the old contract, compared with $895 under the new. The old contract provided $125 for an appendectomy, without an anesthesia allowance; the new one grants $175 with a $35 allowance for anesthesia.

Tonsillectomies for children under 12 will be paid for at the rate of $65 plus $20 for anesthesia, compared with $45 under the old contract.

The increase, Raider said, is similar to one made in 1950, when the early $1,800-$2,500 contract "no longer met community needs or prevailing income levels." At that time, members were transferred to the $2,500-$4,000 contract.

County Vols

meeting at which time it will receive final action.

The matter of providing food for volunteers who are called out on emergency work was brought before the meeting by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder. He called attention to need for funds to provide such necessity. It was pointed out that in the present emergency at Napanoch there was no problem to care for the volunteer firemen, but had it not been for the Red Cross canteen, it would have been impossible for the local firemen and auxiliaries to provide food for the hundreds of other volunteers who have joined the search.

A committee of three was named by President Lambert to contact the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and state legislators in regard to an amendment to Section 88 of the Penal Law to provide for fire companies and other charitable organizations holding games of chance to raise funds. On that committee is Ernest Ahlberg, Raymond Morris and Robert Lacoutte. It was suggested that a similar committee be named from the Fire Chief's Association to join with the County Association committee and carry the matter to the officials.

Among the guests at the meeting were Joseph Wicker, Orange County second vice president; Walter Lesser, public relations, and Paul Blanchard, of the inter-county committee.

From the 33 companies represented at the annual meeting there was an attendance of 140.

New members admitted were: Lee Totman, William Symour, Clyde Hosking, Karl Stimson, Kevin Kilduff and Peter Shipley of Wallkill; Edward Hung of Port Ewen, Michael Poole of Highland, Joseph Valli of Esopus and William B. Martin of Kingston.

On assuming office President Ohley thanked the convention for the honor which had been bestowed upon him and said it would be difficult to follow such an efficient president as Retiring President Lambert. He also commented on the addition of three fire companies to the roster during the term of President Lambert.

Following the parade, which will start promptly at 5 o'clock today, refreshments will be served the firemen and this evening a dinner for the officers, retiring officials and committee members is being held at the Capri in Port Ewen.

Estes reassured him, however, that "I've got 'em pulled off," McSpadden testified.

McSpadden said the names of three former U.S. Department of Agriculture officials, since dismissed or resigned because of links with Estes, "came up over and over again" in his conversations with the Pecos, Tex., promoter.

He said the men mentioned were William E. Morris, Emery E. Jacobs and James T. Ralph.

Similar Medicines May Differ Greatly

For instance, — basically all aspirin is chemically Acetyl-salicyclic acid. But, when made into five grain tablets, without proper care and testing, some tablets may contain less or even no aspirin, while others have much more.

There are always firms that can produce any product for less by eliminating some labor and expensive testing that assures accuracy. When buying any medicine, we urge you never to get any but those made by time-tested firms with reputations to maintain. We follow this policy in our pharmacy.

RESUME SEARCH FOR BOY—Three teams of skin divers resumed their search for missing six-year-old Solomon Schwartz of Brooklyn early today at Honk Lake. In a previous search divers were towed by boat shown in background at low levels. Divers will probe the bottom of the lake today. The lake is reportedly 10 foot deep in the middle. The team above, members of Fowler Rescue and Salvage Company includes (l-r) Louis Boucher, Charles Baumgarder, and Charles Decker, swimming towards boat. (Freeman photo).

More Troops

Defense a commitment of an almost unlimited number of troops to join the search.

However, it was stipulated that Captain Carl Lawson, State police officer in command of the search, would have to request their use. Captain Lawson would not be pinned down to the number of troops he was requesting, but he stated emphatically there would be more in the search area today.

Using All Means

Two helicopters, one from West Point and the other from First Army Headquarters, Governor's Island, bloodhounds from state police headquarters, Troop K, Hawthorne, and trained German Shepherds from Nevele Country Club, are actively engaged in the search under the direction of trained experts.

Friday's searching centered in the vicinity of the rugged Irish Cape, a 1,875-foothill behind the camp from which the boy disappeared last Monday.

Lt. Ashe, who is assisting Captain Lawson and Lt. Frank Dwyer, said every possible angle is being thoroughly probed. The dump near the camp's main buildings, which the missing boy and a companion reportedly visited Monday morning, has been extensively searched for clues that might lead to the whereabouts of the Schwartz boy.

It was reported earlier this week, the Schwartz boy told his companion, he wasn't going back to camp because he was afraid he would be spanked for going to the dump area. Other reports hinted the boy was not completely happy at the camp.

Deputies Take Part

Sheriff Claude Bell today ordered a detail of deputy sheriffs to go to Napanoch to take part in the search. The sheriff, Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and several deputies during the week devoted hours of their time at the search scene.

Governor Rockefeller is keeping in close contact with developments of the search.

The governor has expressed "fervent hope" that the boy will be found—alive.

The missing boy's father, Joseph Schwartz, and his mother are at the search scene. It was reported Mrs. Schwartz is under the care of a physician. The boy's father avowed yesterday he is sure his son is still alive. "My faith in God tells me so," he said.

Staff Sergeant Virginia Towey of Spokane, Wash., an electronics technician from the Air Police based at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, is believed to be the only woman in the search. She is clad in combat boots and fatigue uniform.

Kohler Resigns Presidency of Plumbing Firm

KOHLER, Wis. (AP)—Herbert V. Kohler, a 70-year-old industrialist who kept his plumbingware firm in production through six years of a long and bitter labor dispute, resigned Friday as president of the Kohler Co.

Kohler, who has been president of the family-owned firm since 1937, was elected chairman of the board at a meeting of directors. Named to succeed him as president was J. L. Kuplic, vice president and production manager, who has been with the firm since 1943.

The Kohler Co. was struck by the United Auto Workers Local 833 on April 5, 1954, when Kohler and other company officials refused to accept a union security clause asked by the UAW. The company resumed production shortly after the strike started, using non-union employes.

The union called off the strike Aug. 26, 1960, after a National Labor Relations Board ruling that the firm had been guilty of unfair labor practices was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court. Negotiations between the UAW and the company were resumed about a month ago.

Bargaining talks are continuing and some of the men who went on strike have been rehired.

Kohler's resignation came as a surprise. He was hospitalized briefly last spring, but the nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Undecided on Offer To Join Red Hook Force

A Hyde Park man said Friday he is undecided whether to accept an appointment as a full-time patrolman in Red Hook village.

Robert E. Price of 40 West Dorsey Lane, Hyde Park, is first on a civil service eligibility list. Francis A. Rabbett, Red Hook village clerk, stated that Joseph C. Bruce, 22 Delafield Street, Poughkeepsie,, has declined the appointment because he is a member of the Poughkeepsie Police Department.

Local Patrolmen Recover $167 of $180 Lost Friday

Through the efforts of patrolmen from the Kingston Police Department, a Saugerties member of the U. S. Air Force recovered the greater share of money he had reported missing Friday night.

Patrolmen Kenneth Radel and Joseph Kivlan were making a routine check of a car parked at Bryant's Shell Service Station, Onteora Trail. They found John Conway of Box 407, Saugerties, asleep in the car with the inside lights on.

He immediately reported to them that his wallet and $180 in cash were missing. Conway was called to police headquarters later to pick up his wallet but there was no report on the missing cash.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning, patrolmen returned to the area to search for the money and found $167 which was returned to Conway.

He is presently a student at International Business Machines Incorporated.

administration measure would be a "monstrous giveaway" to a private monopoly of the taxpayers' investment in the government's space program.

With other senate business stalled by the dispute, Mansfield promised to start each day's session early and continue it into the night.

But Mansfield said the leadership is virtually powerless to force action.

If opponents persist in their filibuster, the only way under the rules to halt them—other than wearing them down physically—is to clamp a time limit on debate.

Such a rule—requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting—has not been successfully invoked since 1927, despite numerous attempts to halt Southern filibusters against civil rights measures.

Release of Prado

ington on a possible U.S. change of mind was received by the government as good news.

The 73-year-old Prado's 6-year term of office expires today. He is expected to go into exile in France after being released. Then, the military regime likely would seek from the Peruvian Supreme Court a declaration that it is the nation's legal governing power.

The Peruvian situation is complicated by the fear in some hemisphere nations that military revolutions in Latin America tend to be contagious.

This may be behind Venezuela's call Friday night for a conference of foreign ministers to consider problems posed by the Peruvian takeover.

Released From Hospital

A local youth was treated and released from the Kingston Hospital Friday after an automobile mishap on Washington Avenue near the viaduct at 11:51 a. m. The youth, Steven North, 5, of 39 Murphy Street was injured when he reportedly ran into the path of a car being operated by Samuel Deckerbaum, 51, of 4840 Cote Street, Montreal, Canada.

Agents Break Up Narcotics Ring In Chicago P.O.

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's acting postmaster says additional arrests of narcotic-addicted postal employes can be expected since the disclosure Thursday that some workers were using the main post office as a market place for dope-peddling.

Harry H. Semrow said Friday that he had ordered a survey of the 20,000 main post office workers to see how many were addicts—and what to do with them. An investigation has also been ordered for the 5,000 employes of substations in Chicago.

On Thursday, a federal grand jury returned indictments against 38 persons—all Neroes—for the sale and transfer of narcotics. Thirty were employes of the main post office.

Four others were former employes and the remaining four had no connection with the federal branch.

On Friday, 11 of those indicted pleaded not guilty and asked for continuances until next week. Twenty-two were released on bond and all but three were set at $1,000.

Besides the 30 indicted workers, 125 to 150 other employes admitted Friday that they were users of heroin, marijuana, cocaine and other forms of dope.

The dope ring was uncovered after a lengthy investigation by federal narcotics agents who posed as roving mail clerks.

A Narcotics Bureau official said Friday that there may be thousands of addicts employed at the post office. His estimate was based on statistics published in Washington, which indicate 80 per cent of Chicago's underprivileged population used some form of dope.

Human Mistake Called Reason for Rocket Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An $8 million Atlas-Agena B rocket boosting a $4 million Mariner 1 spacecraft toward Venus was destroyed last Sunday because of a human mathematical mistake.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Friday that the error occurred in an equation that calculated the course the rocket should follow to start Mariner 1 on the proper route to Venus.

The error sent the rocket so far off course that radio signals from the ground were unable to correct it and the range safety officer destroyed the vehicle.

NASA said the Atlas did everything it was told to do by the computer feeding it the trajectory information from the equation, but "examination of data showed there was an error in the original guidance equation."

The equation was worked out by personnel at Space Technology Laboratories, Los Angeles. They are drawing a new formula for a second Venus shot, scheduled in about three weeks.

That will be the United States' last chance until 1964 to explore Venus. The bright planet moves into a favorable position for only a few weeks every 19 months.

Use Sleep Pills To Halt Dog's Hostile Siege

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — McDuff, a 125-pound St. Bernard dog who had staged a hostile siege of several days at his hound masters' home, finally was subdued Friday with a servin of kidney-laced liberally with sleeping pills.

Humane officers finally slipped the huge canine the "Mickey" and took him to a kennel for observation after he had bitten a little girl twice.

McDuff was the pet of Mark Gebhard, 11, son of Dr. Paul Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University.

Mrs. Gebhard said the once-friendly McDuff suddenly showed signs of ill temper Monday and developed a viciousness that kept even the family out of the yard until the dog's attention was diverted. "We had to sneak in," she said.

Mrs. Gebhard finally called authorities after the dog twice bit her daughter, Carla, 7.

ter six more Europeans had been reported kidnaped by Moslems. The move was taken as a sign that France meant business when it warned this week that it might intervene in the Algerian dispute should the lives and property of European settlers be threatened.

Algeria's leaders also were under growing pressure from the Moslem masses, weary of the squabbling that has spread chaos and confusion throughout the country. Political and trade organizations joined in the appeals.

The price of unity appeared to favor Ben Bella, who advocates sweeping social reform and close cooperation with the Communist bloc as opposed to Ben Khedda's policy of continued close ties with France.

Po'keepsie Man Hurt in Route 9G Highway Mishap

A 22-year-old Poughkeepsie youth was seriously injured shortly before 3:50 a. m. today when his car overturned off Route 9G at Feller Road, Rhinebeck.

State Police Sergeant John McCarthy, Rhinebeck, told The Freeman, Paul Duvall, of 157 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, was driving north on Route 9G when he lost control of his car.

The vehicle crossed the highway, struck an embankment and overturned. Duvall was taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital in the Rhinebeck Rescue Squad ambulance. He was treated for deep lacerations of the left elbow and a cerebral concussion.

Duvall was admitted at the hospital for further treatment and observation, authorities said.

Must Wait Longer For Decision on Plea for Abortion

By ROBERT K. WALKER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A pretty young woman who knows that she may give birth to a deformed baby must wait still longer for a legal decision on her plea for an abortion.

Mrs. Robert L. Finkbine is asking in the court to permit aborting her two and one-half-month pregnancy.

The 30-year-old star of a Phoenix kiddies television program says she has taken Thalidomide, a European-made drug blamed for births of deformed babies. The drug is a tranquilizing ingredient.

On Friday, the state attorney general and the county attorney asked to be dismissed as co-defendants in the action.

Superior Court Judge Yale McFate said he would have to study the matter until at least Monday before ruling on the motions. A speedy hearing was requested because of Mrs. Finkbine's condition.

The Finkbines and Good Samaritan Hospital are co-complaintants in the suit. Arizona law states that abortion is permissible only when a prospective mother's life is in danger.

Mrs. Finkbine discovered she had taken the harmful drug when she read a newspaper story June 16 that told of thousands of European babies born without arms and legs because their mothers took Thalidomide during pregnancy.

Local 445 Slates Meeting Today to Discuss Pickets

Members of the Teamsters Local 445 were scheduled to meet at the Kingston Stuyvesant Hotel this morning to discuss picketing of bars, restaurants, hotels and stores in eight counties including Ulster, Orange and Sullivan.

The meeting was reportedly attended by Theodore G. Daley, secretary-treasurer and principal officer of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Warehousemen, and Helpers of America, headquarters in Yonkers.

No results or decisions reached at the meeting were known today as the Freeman went to press. However, a spokesman for the local union said that there definitely would be mass picketing of the restaurants, bars, and hotels in this area.

The announcement follows a statement Friday by Vincent J. Andretta, president-treasurer of Colony Liquor Distributors Inc., that an injunction was being sought to "enjoin Local 445 from any further activities of this kind."

Union members began picketing Colony Liquor Distributors Inc. several weeks ago.

Announce Traffic Rules for Parade

Sheriff Claude Bell and Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg have assigned 12 deputy sheriffs to do traffic duty at the firemen's parade, Port Ewen, this afternoon.

During the time the parade is moving over Route 9-W from Clay Road north in the village of Port Ewen, through traffic will be detoured over the Union Center Road at Ulster Park and back to Kingston over the Eddyville Bridge. Once the parade has cleared Clay Road it will be possible to traverse that road, through New Salem and over Eddyville Bridge.

Dutchess Couple Must Face Weapons Charge

Accused of illegal possession of a .22 caliber pistol, a Dutchess County man and a woman are slated for arraignment Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. before Town of Pleasant Valley Justice of the Peace John A. Reed.

Defendants are Richard Lee Carlock, 32, Shady Creek Road, Pleasant Valley, and Mrs. Sandra Sue Keith, 26, of 12 Conklin Street, Poughkeepsie, a former Oklahoma resident.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Mrs. Keith told deputies the weapon belonged to her husband, and Mrs. Keith had brought the gun to Dutchess County from Oklahoma.

Auto Injuries Fatal

GLENMONT, N.Y. (AP)—Donald Dobert, 17, of nearby Cedar Hill, died today in Albany Medical Center Hospital of injuries suffered Friday night when he was struck by an automobile in this Albany County community. Dobert was attempting to cross Route 32 to attend a volunteer fire department fair.

Local Death Record

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our darling daughter, Marlene Rose Tiano, who passed away (16 years ago), Sunday, July 29, 1946.

Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of my heart we miss you so,
Often our darling, our tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before our eyes,
But never the one in our heart that lies,
The stars seem dim as we whisper low,
Our own darling daughter, we miss you so!

Princess Margaret is rapidly making the grade in her new passion for water skiing.

Friends said the princess, having weathered a few preliminary duckings, now frequently can make it to the end of the run without getting her bathing cap wet.

Though lacking the dash of her husband, Lord Snowdon, Margaret has mastered ski stance in 400-yard runs over a private club lake on the edge of London.

A newspaper picture of the Princess, streaking across the lake in skin-tight rubber suit and flowered swim cap, looked like boosting interest in this sport that few but the hardiest care to tackle in England's chilly waters.

Pamela Mason is suing actress Loretta Young and Lyl Productions for $137,800 in a dispute over clothing for the Masons' 13-year-old daughter, Portland.

The complaint, filed Friday in Santa Monica, Calif., claims that Portland was wrongfully fired from a co-starring role in Miss Young's television show, "Christine's Children."

Also named as defendants were CBS and the show's sponsors—Lever Bros., Papermate and the Gillette Co.

Carol Burnett, the girl with the big smile and expressive face, is breaking box office records in Dallas.

She has vaulted from the slapstick sketches of the Garry Moore television show to one of the biggest drawing cards of the summer theater circuit.

Her revue, which also features Marty ("Hello Dere") Allen and Steve Rossi, is sold out for the remainer of its two-week run in Dallas and is assured of setting new attendance and money records for the 4,120-seat Music Hall.

Idaho's Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced Friday he will not seek the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death last Monday of Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R-Idaho.

He said it was more important to him and the state to defeat the pro-gambling Democratic nominee for governor, Vernon K. Smith, in November. Smith advocates state-sanctioned gambling.

Smylie also indicated he plans to appoint an interim senator to serve until the November general election when a successor to Dworshak will be elected.

Blue Shield

payment of hospital bills, are not affected by the change.

Blue Shield has more than 5 million subscribers in a 17-county area including New York City, the Mid-Hudson Valley and Long Island. There are more than 19,000 participating physicians in the area.

Additional benefits of the $4,000-$6,000 contract include general anesthesia, 30 days' medical care in a hospital for pulmonary tuberculosis, a similar stay for mental and nervous conditions, radiation therapy for benign conditions and higher allowances for most physician services.

$500 New Allowances

Maximum surgical allowances under the old contract were $250, compared with $500 under the new. Allowances for doctors' visits totaled $452 under the old contract, compared with $895 under the new. The old contract provided $125 for an appendectomy, without an anesthesia allowance; the new one grants $175 with a $35 allowance for anesthesia.

Tonsillectomies for children under 12 will be paid for at the rate of $65 plus $20 for anesthesia, compared with $45 under the old contract.

The increase, Raider said, is similar to one made in 1950, when the early $1,800-$2,500 contract "no longer met community needs or prevailing income levels." At that time, members were transferred to the $2,500-$4,000 contract.

County Vols

meeting at which time it will receive final action.

The matter of providing food for volunteers who are called out on emergency work was brought before the meeting by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder. He called attention to need for funds to provide such necessity. It was pointed out that in the present emergency at Napanoch there was no problem to care for the volunteer firemen, but had it not been for the Red Cross canteen, it would have been impossible for the local firemen and auxiliaries to provide food for the hundreds of other volunteers who have joined the search.

A committee of three was named by President Lambert to contact the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and state legislators in regard to an amendment to Section 88 of the Penal Law to provide for fire companies and other charitable organizations holding games of chance to raise funds. On that committee is Ernest Ahlberg, Raymond Morris and Robert Lacoutte. It was suggested that a similar committee be named from the Fire Chief's Association to join with the County Association committee and carry the matter to the officials.

Among the guests at the meeting were Joseph Wicker, Orange County second vice president; Walter Lesser, public relations, and Paul Blanchard, of the intercounty committee.

From the 33 companies represented at the annual meeting there was an attendance of 140.

New members admitted were: Lee Totman, William Symour, Clyde Hosking, Karl Stimson, Kevin Kilduff and Peter Shipley of Wallkill; Edward Hung of Port Ewen, Michael Poole of Highland, Joseph Valli of Esopus and William B. Martin of Kingston.

On assuming office President Ohley thanked the convention for the honor which had been bestowed upon him and said it would be difficult to follow such an efficient president as Retiring President Lambert. He also commented on the addition of three fire companies to the roster during the term of President Lambert.

Following the parade, which will start promptly at 5 o'clock today, refreshments will be served the firemen and this evening a dinner for the officers, retiring officials and committee members is being held at the Capri in Port Ewen.

More Troops

Defense a commitment of an almost unlimited number of troops to join the search.

However, it was stipulated that Captain Carl Lawson, State police officer in command of the search, would have to request their use. Captain Lawson would not be pinned down to the number of troops he was requesting, but he stated emphatically there would be more in the search area today.

Using All Means

Two helicopters, one from West Point and the other from First Army Headquarters, Governor's Island, bloodhounds from state police headquarters, Troop K, Hawthorne, and trained German Shepherds from Nevele Country Club, are actively engaged in the search under the direction of trained experts.

Friday's searching centered in the vicinity of the rugged Irish Cape, a 1,875-foothill behind the camp from which the boy disappeared last Monday.

Lt. Ashe, who is assisting Captain Lawson and Lt. Frank Dwyer, said every possible angle is being thoroughly probed. The dump near the camp's main buildings, which the missing boy and a companion reportedly visited Monday morning, has been extensively searched for clues that might lead to the whereabouts of the Schwartz boy.

It was reported earlier this week, the Schwartz boy told his companion, he wasn't going back to camp because he was afraid he would be spanked for going to the dump area. Other reports hinted the boy was not completely happy at the camp.

Deputies Take Part

Sheriff Claude Bell today ordered a detail of deputy sheriffs to go to Napanoch to take part in the search. The sheriff, Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and several deputies during the week devoted hours of their time at the search scene.

Governor Rockefeller is keeping in close contact with developments of the search.

The governor has expressed "fervent hope" that the boy will be found—alive.

The missing boy's father, Joseph Schwartz, and his mother are at the search scene. It was reported Mrs. Schwartz is under the care of a physician. The boy's father avowed yesterday he is sure his son is still alive. "My faith in God tells me so," he said.

Staff Sergeant Virginia Towey of Spokane, Wash., an electronics technician from the Air Police based at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, is believed to be the only woman in the search. She is clad in combat boots and fatigue uniform.

Kohler Resigns Presidency of Plumbing Firm

KOHLER, Wis. (AP)—Herbert V. Kohler, a 70-year-old industrialist who kept his plumbingware firm in production through six years of a long and bitter labor dispute, resigned Friday as president of the Kohler Co.

Kohler, who has been president of the family-owned firm since 1937, was elected chairman of the board at a meeting of directors. Named to succeed him as president was J. L. Kuplic, vice president and production manager, who has been with the firm since 1943.

The Kohler Co. was struck by the United Auto Workers Local 833 on April 5, 1954, when Kohler and other company officials refused to accept a union security clause asked by the UAW. The company resumed production shortly after the strike started, using non-union employes.

The union called off the strike Aug. 26, 1960, after a National Labor Relations Board ruling that the firm had been guilty of unfair labor practices was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court. Negotiations between the UAW and the company were resumed about a month ago.

Bargaining talks are continuing and some of the men who went on strike have been rehired.

Kohler's resignation came as a surprise. He was hospitalized briefly last spring, but the nature of his illness was not disclosed.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched today the seventh unmanned earth satellite of its current summer series. The launching was announced by Tass, which said the Sputnik carried various scientific instruments.

Undecided on Offer To Join Red Hook Force

A Hyde Park man said Friday he is undecided whether to accept an appointment as a full-time patrolman in Red Hook village.

Robert E. Price of 40 West Dorsey Lane, Hyde Park, is first on a civil service eligibility list. Francis A. Rabbett, Red Hook village clerk, stated that Joseph C. Bruce, 22 Delafield Street, Poughkeepsie,, has declined the appointment because he is a member of the Poughkeepsie Police Department.

The Red Hook police post pays $3,100 a year.

Local Patrolmen Recover $167 of $180 Lost Friday

Through the efforts of patrolmen from the Kingston Police Department, a Saugerties member of the U. S. Air Force recovered the greater share of money he had reported missing Friday night.

Patrolmen Kenneth Radel and Joseph Kivlan were making a routine check of a car parked at Bryant's Shell Service Station, Onteora Trail. They found John Conway of Box 407, Saugerties, asleep in the car with the inside lights on.

He immediately reported to them that his wallet and $180 in cash were missing. Conway was called to police headquarters later to pick up his wallet but there was no report on the missing cash.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning, patrolmen returned to the area to search for the money and found $167 which was returned to Conway.

He is presently a student at International Business Machines Incorporated.

Sessions to Stop

administration measure would be a "monstrous giveaway" to a private monopoly of the taxpayers' investment in the government's space program.

With other senate business stalled by the dispute, Mansfield promised to start each day's session early and continue it into the night.

But Mansfield said the leadership is virtually powerless to force action.

If opponents persist in their filibuster, the only way under the rules to halt them—other than wearing them down physically—is to clamp a time limit on debate.

Such a rule—requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting—has not been successfully invoked since 1927, despite numerous attempts to halt Southern filibusters against civil rights measures.

Release of Prado

ington on a possible U.S. change of mind was received by the government as good news.

The 73-year-old Prado's 6-year term of office expires today. He is expected to go into exile in France after being released. Then, the military regime likely would seek from the Peruvian Supreme Court a declaration that it is the nation's legal governing power.

The Peruvian situation is complicated by the fear in some hemisphere nations that military revolutions in Latin America tend to be contagious.

Released From Hospital

A local youth was treated and released from the Kingston Hospital Friday after an automobile mishap on Washington Avenue near the viaduct at 11:51 a. m. The youth, Steven North, 5, of 39 Murphy Street was injured when he reportedly ran into the path of a car being operated by Samuel Deckerbaum, 51, of 4840 Cote Street, Montreal, Canada.

Apprehend Speeder

Peter Muellner, 25 of Route 3, Box 111, Saugerties was issued a summons for speeding on Ulster Avenue, Saugerties by Patrolman John Pavlak Friday night. Muellner will appear before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers Monday, 3 p. m.

Drive-ins to Pay Tolls

Hyde Park and Overlook Drive-in Theaters announced they will refund bridge tolls of patrons attending from Ulster County and the west side of the river. Receipts dated the same day as attendance must be presented at the box office for refunds.

Agents Break Up Narcotics Ring In Chicago P.O.

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's acting postmaster says additional arrests of narcotic-addicted postal employes can be expected since the disclosure Thursday that some workers were using the main post office as a market place for dope-peddling.

Harry H. Semrow said Friday that he had ordered a survey of the 20,000 main post office workers to see how many were addicts—and what to do with them. An investigation has also been ordered for the 5,000 employes of substations in Chicago.

On Thursday, a federal grand jury returned indictments against 38 persons—all Neroes—for the sale and transfer of narcotics. Thirty were employes of the main post office.

Four others were former employes and the remaining four had no connection with the federal branch.

On Friday, 11 of those indicted pleaded not guilty and asked for continuances until next week. Twenty-two were released on bond and all but three were set at $1,000.

Besides the 30 indicted workers, 125 to 150 other employes admitted Friday that they were users of heroin, marijuana, cocaine and other forms of dope.

The dope ring was uncovered after a lengthy investigation by federal narcotics agents who posed as roving mail clerks.

A Narcotics Bureau official said Friday that there may be thousands of addicts employed at the post office. His estimate was based on statistics published in Washington, which indicate 80 per cent of Chicago's underprivileged population used some form of dope.

Human Mistake Called Reason for Rocket Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An $8 million Atlas-Agena B rocket boosting a $4 million Mariner 1 spacecraft toward Venus was destroyed last Sunday because of a human mathematical mistake.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Friday that the error occurred in an equation that calculated the course the rocket should follow to start Mariner 1 on the proper route to Venus.

The error sent the rocket so far off course that radio signals from the ground were unable to correct it and the range safety officer destroyed the vehicle.

NASA said the Atlas did everything it was told to do by the computer feeding it the trajectory information from the equation, but "examination of data showed there was an error in the original guidance equation."

The equation was worked out by personnel at Space Technology Laboratories, Los Angeles. They are drawing a new formula for a second Venus shot, scheduled in about three weeks.

That will be the United States' last chance until 1964 to explore Venus. The bright planet moves into a favorable position for only a few weeks every 19 months.

Use Sleep Pills To Halt Dog's Hostile Siege

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—McDuff, a 125-pound St. Bernard dog who had staged a hostile siege of several days at his hound masters' home, finally was subdued Friday with a servin of kidney-laced liberally with sleeping pills.

Humane officers finally slipped the huge canine the "Mickey" and took him to a kennel for observation after he had bitten a little girl twice.

McDuff was the pet of Mark Gebhard, 11, son of Dr. Paul Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University.

Mrs. Gebhard said the once-friendly McDuff suddenly showed signs of ill temper Monday and developed a viciousness that kept even the family out of the yard until the dog's attention was diverted. "We had to sneak in," she said.

Mrs. Gebhard finally called authorities after the dog twice bit her daughter, Carla, 7.

ter six more Europeans had been reported kidnaped by Moslems. The move was taken as a sign that France meant business when it warned this week that it might intervene in the Algerian dispute should the lives and property of European settlers be threatened.

Algeria's leaders also were under growing pressure from the Moslem masses, weary of the squabbling that has spread chaos and confusion throughout the country. Political and trade organizations joined in the appeals.

The price of unity appeared to favor Ben Bella, who advocates sweeping social reform and close cooperation with the Communist bloc as opposed to Ben Khedda's policy of continued close ties with France.

Po'keepsie Man Hurt in Route 9G Highway Mishap

A 22-year-old Poughkeepsie youth was seriously injured shortly before 3:50 a. m. today when his car overturned off Route 9G at Feller Road, Rhinebeck.

State Police Sergeant John McCarthy, Rhinebeck, told The Freeman, Paul Duvall, of 157 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, was driving north on Route 9G when he lost control of his car.

The vehicle crossed the highway, struck an embankment and overturned. Duvall was taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital in the Rhinebeck Rescue Squad ambulance. He was treated for deep lacerations of the left elbow and a cerebral concussion.

Duvall was admitted at the hospital for further treatment and observation, authorities said.

Must Wait Longer For Decision on Plea for Abortion

By ROBERT K. WALKER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A pretty young woman who knows that she may give birth to a deformed baby must wait still longer for a legal decision on her plea for an abortion.

Mrs. Robert L. Finkbine is asking in the court to permit aborting her two and one-half-month pregnancy.

The 30-year-old star of a Phoenix kiddies television program says she has taken Thalidomide, a European-made drug blamed for births of deformed babies. The drug is a tranquilizing ingredient.

On Friday, the state attorney general and the county attorney asked to be dismissed as co-defendants in the action.

Superior Court Judge Yale McFate said he would have to study the matter until at least Monday before ruling on the motions. A speedy hearing was requested because of Mrs. Finkbine's condition.

The Finkbines and Good Samaritan Hospital are co-complaintants in the suit. Arizona law states that abortion is permissible only when a prospective mother's life is in danger.

Mrs. Finkbine discovered she had taken the harmful drug when she read a newspaper story June 16 that told of thousands of European babies born without arms and legs because their mothers took Thalidomide during pregnancy.

Local 445 Slates Meeting Today to Discuss Pickets

Members of the Teamsters Local 445 were scheduled to meet at the Kingston Stuyvesant Hotel this morning to discuss picketing of bars, restaurants, hotels and stores in eight counties including Ulster, Orange and Sullivan.

The meeting was reportedly attended by Theodore G. Daley, secretary-treasurer and principal officer of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Warehousemen, and Helpers of America, headquarters in Yonkers.

No results or decisions reached at the meeting were known today as the Freeman went to press. However, a spokesman for the local union said that there definitely would be mass picketing of the restaurants, bars, and hotels in this area.

The announcement follows a statement Friday by Vincent J. Andretta, president-treasurer of Colony Liquor Distributors Inc., that an injunction was being sought to "enjoin Local 445 from any further activities of this kind."

Union members began picketing Colony Liquor Distributors Inc. several weeks ago.

Announce Traffic Rules for Parade

Sheriff Claude Bell and Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg have assigned 12 deputy sheriffs to do traffic duty at the firemen's parade, Port Ewen, this afternoon.

During the time the parade is moving over Route 9-W from Clay Road north in the village of Port Ewen, through traffic will be detoured over the Union Center Road at Ulster Park and back to Kingston over the Eddyville Bridge. Once the parade has cleared Clay Road it will be possible to traverse that road, through New Salem and over Eddyville Bridge.

Dutchess Couple Must Face Weapons Charge

Accused of illegal possession of a .22 caliber pistol, a Dutchess County man and a woman are slated for arraignment Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. before Town of Pleasant Valley Justice of the Peace John A. Reed.

Defendants are Richard Lee Carlock, 32, Shady Creek Road, Pleasant Valley, and Mrs. Sandra Sue Keith, 26, of 12 Conklin Street, Poughkeepsie, a former Oklahoma resident.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Mrs. Keith told deputies the weapon belonged to her husband, and Mrs. Keith had brought the gun to Dutchess County from Oklahoma.

Auto Injuries Fatal

GLENMONT, N.Y. (AP)—Donald Dobert, 17, of nearby Cedar Hill, died today in Albany Medical Center Hospital of injuries suffered Friday night when he was struck by an automobile in this Albany County community. Dobert was attempting to cross Route 32 to attend a volunteer fire department fair.

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our darling daughter, Marlene Rose Tiano, who passed away (16 years ago), Sunday, July 29, 1946.

Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of my heart we miss you so,
Often our darling, our tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before our eyes,
But never the one in our heart that lies,
The stars seem dim as we whisper low,
Our own darling daughter, we miss you so!

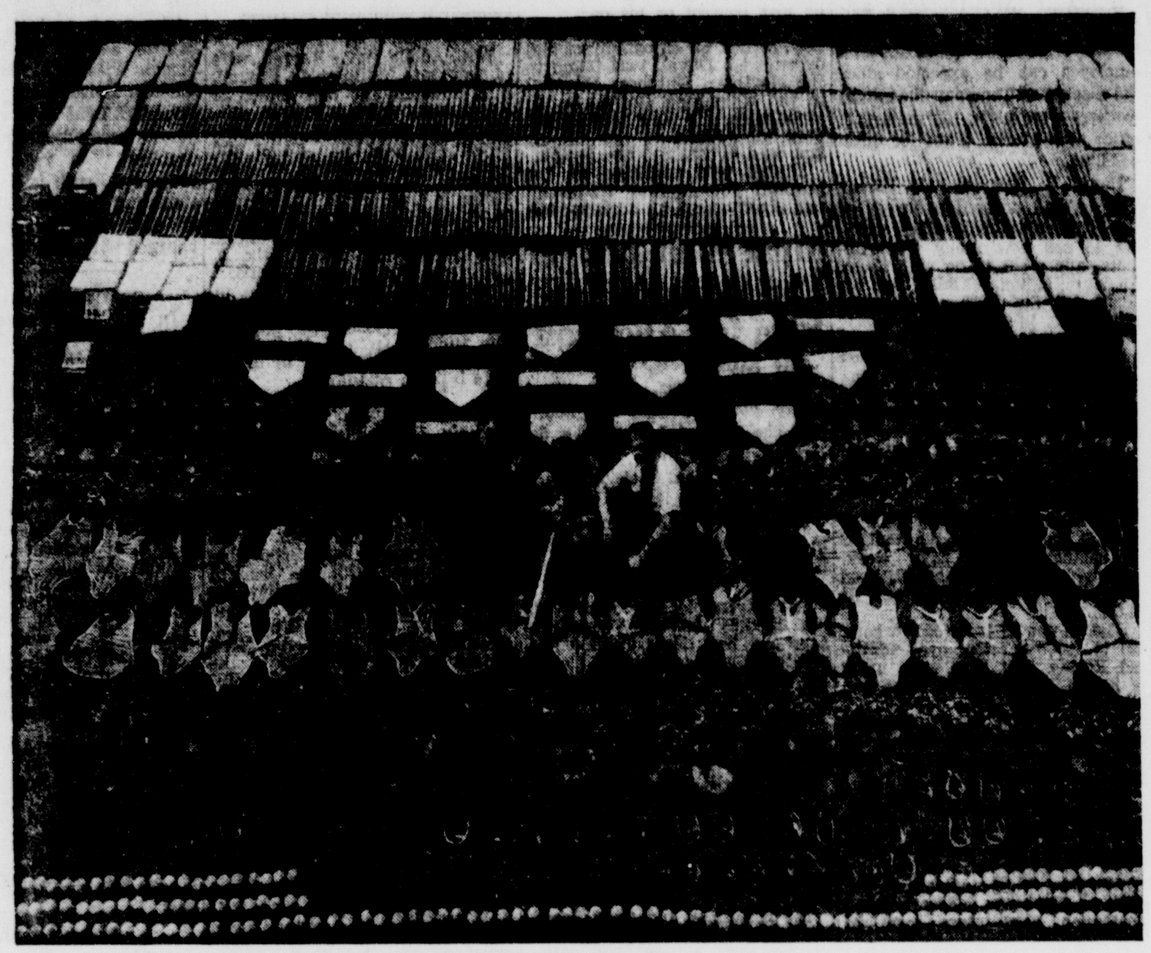
Here's How to Play Ball---



If you play little league baseball, you're probably right in the middle of a hot season. Yet, did you ever wonder what it takes to run a junior baseball program? Picture above, taken by "Rip" Stokes, right, who runs the little league in Carbondale, Ill., shows what it takes. "Rip" says that 25 per cent of the bats and 60 dozen baseballs will be used before the summer is out. Robbie Stokes and a city official pose in the picture, too.

Denmark's Copenhagen Zoo Has Modern Noah's Ark of Wild Animals

The casual observer would guess that all the wild animals for the world's zoological parks would come from the native country of each: lions from Africa, polar bears from Alaska, bison from the American West, and so on.

But in Denmark there is a Noah's Ark of wild animals, born and bred in captivity far from their natural habitats, which are a big-business export from the Copenhagen Zoo to other zoos around the world.

Today this zoo is one of the world's leading suppliers of animals.

Strange as it may seem, Denmark exports hippopotamuses, giraffes, lions and tigers—and even the rare snow leopard, hard to find even in its native Himalayas. All are shipped from the century-old zoo.

Thus, as Danish industry sends its products all over the world even though the little Scandinavian country is a land without raw materials, so is the animal export business conducted in animals which do not live naturally in the Danish countryside.

The exports began 50 years ago when three home-bred animals were sold.

There's a special story in Maren, a 36-year-old hippo who has given birth to 15 sound and healthy young. Maren's offsprings now thrill zoo-goers young and old in the United States, France, Holland, Brazil, Argentina and even the Soviet Union.

The Copenhagen Zoo was the first to breed the rare snow leopard in captivity, and created a world sensation in doing so. The zoo has supplied the rare cubs to the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago and to famed Whipsnade in England.

One of the best-known of the zoo's exports are giraffes — who survive the chill Danish winters remarkably well despite their native home in equatorial Africa.

Lions and tigers have been exported by the score, but they're not very profitable. Lion cubs fetch next to nothing in the export market—even a horse brings more money. The zoo has sold 28 tiger cubs.

Not so unusual, perhaps, is Denmark's polar bear output. A half-dozen are sold each year.

Little known is the fact that the European bison, found in the United States, originated in Denmark. There were no good pure-bred bison in America so a pair were purchased in the Danish capital city at $7,000.

Before they arrived at their destination, however, the animals spent two months in Hamburg and another month in New York in quarantine, before they set their hooves on American soil.

Most of the animals are shipped by air—and these airborne animals are weekly passengers aboard planes departing Denmark's ancient city by the sea.

Posture Is What Makes the Person

On a day when you have a few minutes to spare, try "people watching." Look about a room and see if you can identify the different varieties of "sitters."

The SLOUCHER you'll easily recognize because he is stretched out lazily, with his head barely resting on the back of his chair. The SPRAWLER sits at an angle, spreading himself out in a straggling manner so that his legs extend outward to the side of his chair.

The HUNCHER hooks his feet in the rungs under his chair and grasps the desk on either side with his hands while the upper part of his body poises alertly over it.

The DROOPER, on the other hand, looks anything but alert as he leans wearily in a round-shouldered position.

Best of the "sitter" species is the UPRIGHT who sits in his chair soldier-straight.

After noticing the good and bad postures of the "sitters," check-up on your own sitting posture. Slumping is more tiring than sitting up straight, so don't loll on the edge of your spine.

Sit squarely on the chair with body erect. Keep your head and chest up. Rest your feet flat on the floor, fairly close together.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY---

Stonecutter Finds One Way to a Happy Life

Many years ago in the country of Japan there lived a young lad whose name was Tawara. Tawara made his living cutting building blocks out of huge boulders. Although he was a good stonecutter, Tawara was not content with his position in life. He wanted to be powerful and great in the eyes of the people instead of being a humble stonecutter.

One evening as he lay in bed after a hard day of cutting stone, Tawara closed his eyes tightly and made a wish. With all his heart he wished to become rich so everyone would respect and admire him. Soon, to his surprise, he came into a very large sum of money.

Tawara was very happy with his newly acquired wealth. The first thing he did was quit his job and began living the life of ease, free from the drudgery of work. But with so much idle time on his hands Tawara soon became dissatisfied once again. He longed for something new to occupy his time.

Tawara was not happy with his position in life.

So Tawara made another wish. This time he wished that he could be a handsome prince and ride down the streets in a golden carriage so all the people would bow down to him as he passed. This, he knew, would make him happy again. To his amazement his second wish was also fulfilled.

But one day as Tawara was riding along the street in his beautiful carriage he looked up at the hot sun beating down upon the earth. Suddenly he became angry and wished that he were as powerful as the sun in the sky.

He soon found himself high up in the heavens shining down, burning the grass and scorching the fields of rice. But then along came a big, black cloud below him blotting out his powerful rays. Tawara became furious and demanded to be a cloud. Once again his wish was granted.

With his new power Tawara began a terrible downpour that washed away houses and trees and brown earth —everything but a huge stone. Immediately, Tawara wished that he were as great as the stone that would not yield to his power, and as before he got his wish. Now he was more powerful than anything in the world and he was happy again.

One day, to his dismay, Tawara found himself being slowly chipped away by the humble hands of a stonecutter. As he became smaller and smaller Tawara suddenly realized that he must make one final wish.

So he wished with all his heart that he could be a humble stonecutter. He was granted his wish and from that day on the young lad named Tawara never longed to be anything but a simple cutter of building stones.

Let's Have a Party---With Place Cards

Here's a gay place card you can make for your next party! Best of all, it can be made partially a week or two before you need it.

To make this place card, you need:

Small empty thread spools (The No. 50 or 60 are a good size. One spool will make two place cards.)

Red paint or stain. (You really can use any color you like.)

One sheet of heavy white or colored drawing paper.

First of all, saw the empty spools in half and make a cut about a half inch deep across the center of each half spool. Then apply a thin coat of paint or stain to each part of the cut spools and let them dry thoroughly. Be careful, though when doing this so that the cuts do not fill with paint.

Using this paper pattern, cut triangles from the heavy colored paper. You will need one for each place card. Write a guest's name along one side of the triangle and insert it in the cut in the top of the half spool.

Then as you put your place cards in place about a half hour or so before your party, put a small twig or cluster of flowers into the center hole of the half spool. These should be less than two inches high, so they will fit under the triangles.

These place cards add such a party note to your table, you will no doubt receive many compliments. Some of your guests may even want to make similar ones for themselves.

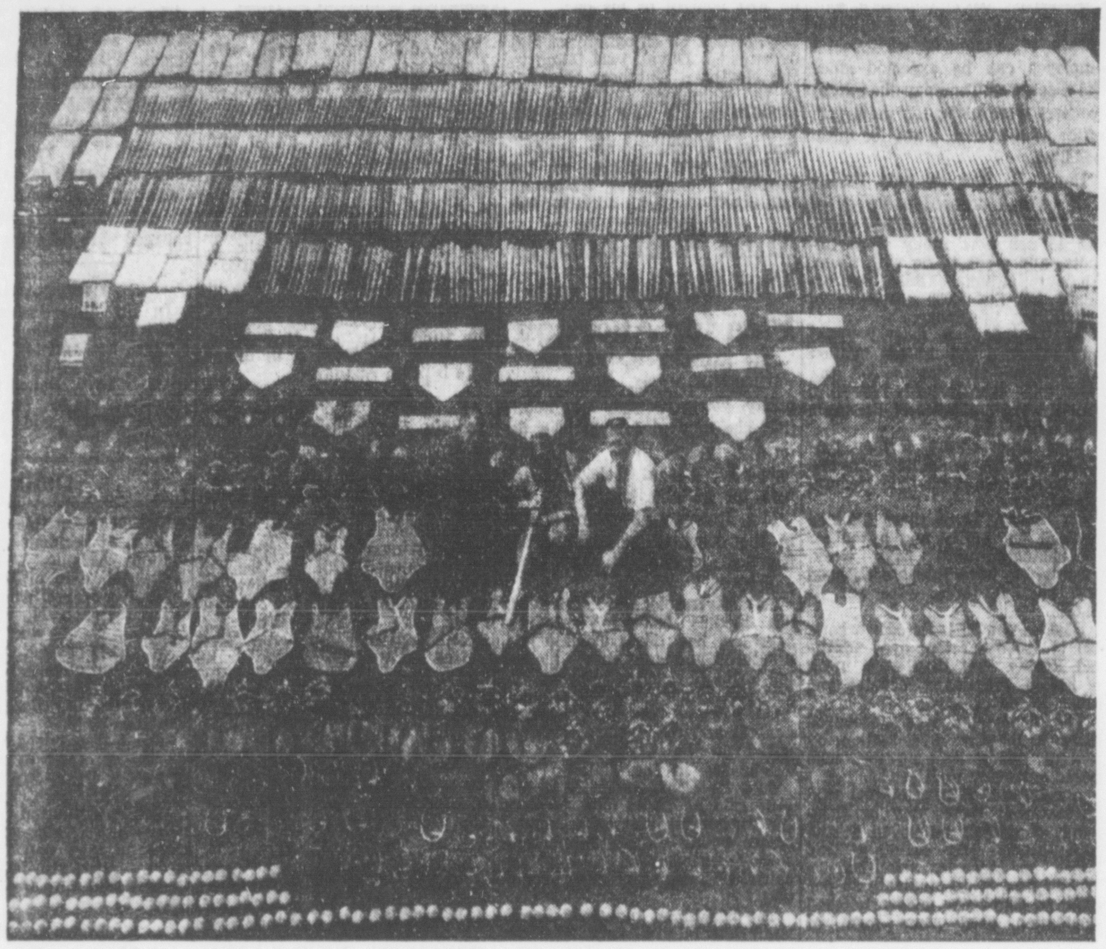
Here's How to Play Ball---



If you play little league baseball, you're probably right in the middle of a hot season. Yet, did you ever wonder what it takes to run a junior baseball program? Picture above, taken by "Rip" Stokes, right, who runs the little league in Carbondale, Ill., shows what it takes. "Rip" says that 25 per cent of the bats and 60 dozen baseballs will be used before the summer is out. Robbie Stokes and a city official pose in the picture, too.

Denmark's Copenhagen Zoo Has Modern Noah's Ark of Wild Animals

The casual observer would guess that all the wild animals for the world's zoological parks would come from the native country of each: lions from Africa, polar bears from Alaska, bison from the American West, and so on.

But in Denmark there is a Noah's Ark of wild animals, born and bred in captivity far from their natural habitats, which are a big-business export from the Copenhagen Zoo to other zoos around the world.

Today this zoo is one of the world's leading suppliers of animals.

Strange as it may seem, Denmark exports hippopotamuses, giraffes, lions and tigers—and even the rare snow leopard, hard to find even in its native Himalayas. All are shipped from the century-old zoo.

Thus, as Danish industry sends its products all over the world even though the little Scandinavian country is a land without raw materials, so is the animal export business conducted in animals which do not live naturally in the Danish countryside.

The exports began 50 years ago when three home-bred animals were sold.

There's a special story in Maren, a 36-year-old hippo who has given birth to 15 sound and healthy young. Maren's offsprings now thrill zoo-goers young and old in the United States, France, Holland, Brazil, Argentina and even the Soviet Union.

The Copenhagen Zoo was the first to breed the rare snow leopard in captivity, and created a world sensation in doing so. The zoo has supplied the rare cubs to the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago and to famed Whipsnade in England.

One of the best-known of the zoo's exports are giraffes — who survive the chill Danish winters remarkably well despite their native home in equatorial Africa.

Lions and tigers have been exported by the score, but they're not very profitable. Lion cubs fetch next to nothing in the export market—even a horse brings more money. The zoo has sold 28 tiger cubs.

Not so unusual, perhaps, is Denmark's polar bear output. A half-dozen are sold each year.

Little known is the fact that the European bison, found in the United States, originated in Denmark. There were no good pure-bred bison in America so a pair were purchased in the Danish capital city at $7,000.

Before they arrived at their destination, however, the animals spent two months in Hamburg and another month in New York in quarantine, before they set their hooves on American soil.

Most of the animals are shipped by air—and these airborne animals are weekly passengers aboard planes departing Denmark's ancient city by the sea.

Posture Is What Makes the Person

On a day when you have a few minutes to spare, try "people watching." Look about a room and see if you can identify the different varieties of "sitters."

The SLOUCHER you'll easily recognize because he is stretched out lazily, with his head barely resting on the back of his chair. The SPRAWLER sits at an angle, spreading himself out in a straggling manner so that his legs extend outward to the side of his chair.

The HUNCHER hooks his feet in the rungs under his chair and grasps the desk on either side with his hands while the upper part of his body poises alertly over it.

The DROOPER, on the other hand, looks anything but alert as he leans wearily in a round-shouldered position.

Best of the "sitter" species is the UPRIGHT who sits in his chair soldier-straight.

After noticing the good and bad postures of the "sitters," check-up on your own sitting posture. Slumping is more tiring than sitting up straight, so don't loll on the edge of your spine.

Sit squarely on the chair with body erect. Keep your head and chest up. Rest your feet flat on the floor, fairly close together.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY---

Stonecutter Finds One Way to a Happy Life

Many years ago in the country of Japan there lived a young lad whose name was Tawara. Tawara made his living cutting building blocks out of huge boulders. Although he was a good stonecutter, Tawara was not content with his position in life. He wanted to be powerful and great in the eyes of the people instead of being a humble stonecutter.

One evening as he lay in bed after a hard day of cutting stone, Tawara closed his eyes tightly and made a wish. With all his heart he wished to become rich so everyone would respect and admire him. Soon, to his surprise, he came into a very large sum of money.

Tawara was very happy with his newly acquired wealth. The first thing he did was quit his job and began living the life of ease, free from the drudgery of work. But with so much idle time on his hands Tawara soon became dissatisfied once again. He longed for something new to occupy his time.

Tawara was not happy with his position in life.

So Tawara made another wish. This time he wished that he could be a handsome prince and ride down the streets in a golden carriage so all the people would bow down to him as he passed. This, he knew, would make him happy again. To his amazement his second wish was also fulfilled.

But one day as Tawara was riding along the street in his beautiful carriage he looked up at the hot sun beating down upon the earth. Suddenly he became angry and wished that he were as powerful as the sun in the sky.

He soon found himself high up in the heavens shining down, burning the grass and scorching the fields of rice. But then along came a big, black cloud below him blotting out his powerful rays. Tawara became furious and demanded to be a cloud. Once again his wish was granted.

With his new power Tawara began a terrible downpour that washed away houses and trees and brown earth —everything but a huge stone. Immediately, Tawara wished that he were as great as the stone that would not yield to his power, and as before he got his wish. Now he was more powerful than anything in the world and he was happy again.

One day, to his dismay, Tawara found himself being slowly chipped away by the humble hands of a stonecutter. As he became smaller and smaller Tawara suddenly realized that he must make one final wish.

So he wished with all his heart that he could be a humble stonecutter. He was granted his wish and from that day on the young lad named Tawara never longed to be anything but a simple cutter of building stones.

Up in the Air

A game of tag that's slightly different has just one rule: You can't be caught if your feet are off the ground. "It" chases the other players, who avoid being tagged by climbing on a chair, swinging from a low branch, hopping onto a fence top, or even immediately sitting down on the ground and lifting the feet high in the air.

The first to be tagged becomes the new "It" and the game starts all over.

Top Designers Frown Upon Use of TV for Style Shows

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Does seeing fashion on television evoke in you an almost unrestrainable urge to empty the sugar bowl, hock the family heirlooms and indulge in an orgy of shopping?

Some New York designers doubt it.

The question of television's effectiveness in presenting fashion came up after the Telstar broadcast from Paris earlier this week showing five minutes of clothes from the houses of Balmain and Dior.

"Telstar is a wonderful, new thing," commented Norman Norell, considered the dean of American designers, "but as far as fashion goes, I don't think it meant a damn thing to the women seeing it. I have never thought of television as a fashion medium. It does not come off."

Pauline Trigere: "Television is not a good medium. They tell you not to wear black. Poof. And with all the elaborate chichi, it's difficult to see the quality look of clothes."

Ceil Chapman: "I don't think television fashion comes through. If it were broadcast in color—perhaps."

The thing that bothered Norell was exhibiting a Dior costume on television before the Dior fall line was presented to the press.

"Absolutely wild," he said. "It's not cricket. It takes the edge off the showing."

"Besides," he went on, referring to a designer's continual fear of having his best fashions pirated by unscrupulous stores and manufacturers before he can get them out himself, "it's the beginning of something frightening. Imagine—you design something, and within two hours the whole world can have seen it. Frightening."

Paris Designer Includes Furs With Late Fall Styles

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP)—If anyone went to sleep at Carven's fashion opening Thursday night, it was only because he was counting sheep—the little Persian ones so numerous in the couturier's new collection for fall and winter.

He might also have been counting minks, seals, otters and leopards.

Those who stayed awake found some pleasant dreams emerging from the Corinthian-columned dressing room of Carven's elegant showroom.

They included a use of variegated hues both with furs and chiffon; long sleeves with trumpet-shaped wrists, embroidered with jewels or lined with fur; ostrich feather cuffs on an otherwise somber dress; antique gold jewelry with dull gold brocade sleeveless costumes, and evening costumes with sweeping imperial skirts.

Carven says he was inspired by the romantic era of French history, but not enough to give in to low necklines and false crinolines. What he did succumb to was the gentleman's fashion—dandy.

Jackets with long narrow lapels, the redingote with a fitted, high waist, and high-buttoned groom suits.

Narrow shawl collars appeared to be on generously cut coats until the models peeled off the coats. The suits or even the wool dresses underneath were the possessors of the fur-edged necklines.

Does Carven love Persian lamb? Let us name the ways:

He uses it as a motorcycle helmet. He uses variegated shades of brown lamb as collar and hat trim. He adds an ermine shawl collar to a black Persian lamb coat. He tops his suits with severe, stovepipe hats made from the fur. Carven puts a blue mink on a gray Persian coat, and so on.

Carven's dresses favored the bust, showing this curve to advantage with cardings, nippers, and melon ribs. His neat little black dresses were touched with shaggy ostrich plumage, a glitter of beads, or a band of mink, but not often and not much at a time.

MAY SHE ASK MAN TO JOIN HER?

Q: If I should happen to be dining alone in a restaurant and a man I know (but not intimately) passes my table and stops and says a few words to me, is is proper, or even polite, to invite him to sit at my table, or might he think me forward or perhaps place him in an awkward position?

A: If the man were an intimate friend you could quite properly say to him, "If you're alone, do sit down and have your dinner with me." If, however, he is hardly more than an acquaintance it would not be proper to invite him to join you.

Souvenirs for One's Friends

Q: My husband and I are sailing for Europe next week. Last Saturday, a friend of ours gave a "going away" party for us and we received quite a few gifts. I would like to know if we are obliged to bring back souvenirs for all who gave us presents?

A: It is not an obligation, but if you are coming back by boat without the strict baggage weight limitation of a plane, it will be generous of you, and much appreciated by those who give you "going away" presents, if you brought back an interesting or amusing souvenir for each of them. Don't, however, let your generosity carry you away in selecting these souvenirs and don't forget that recently the amount an individual may bring into this country duty-free has been reduced from $500 to $100.

Obligation of Fiance's Parents

Q: Our son is going to be married shortly and I have been told that it is customary for the groom-to-be's parents to entertain the bride-to-be's parents before the wedding. This is our first experience with a wedding in the immediate family and we would appreciate it if you could tell us just what we should do.

A: Beyond calling on the parents after you learn that they have approved of the engagement, there is nothing more that you need do. It may of course happen that you dine with them and they with you, but this is in no way a requirement.

Top Designers Frown Upon Use of TV for Style Shows

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Does seeing fashion on television evoke in you an almost unrestrainable urge to empty the sugar bowl, hock the family heirlooms and indulge in an orgy of shopping?

Some New York designers doubt it.

The question of television's effectiveness in presenting fashion came up after the Telstar broadcast from Paris earlier this week showing five minutes of clothes from the houses of Balmain and Dior.

"Telstar is a wonderful, new thing," commented Norman Norell, considered the dean of American designers, "but as far as fashion goes, I don't think it meant a damn thing to the women seeing it. I have never thought of television as a fashion medium. It does not come off."

Pauline Trigere: "Television is not a good medium. They tell you not to wear black. Poof. And with all the elaborate chichi, it's difficult to see the quality look of clothes."

Ceil Chapman: "I don't think television fashion comes through. If it were broadcast in color—perhaps."

The thing that bothered Norell was exhibiting a Dior costume on television before the Dior fall line was presented to the press.

"Absolutely wild," he said. "It's not cricket. It takes the edge off the showing."

"Besides," he went on, referring to a designer's continual fear of having his best fashions pirated by unscrupulous stores and manufacturers before he can get them out himself, "it's the beginning of something frightening. Imagine—you design something, and within two hours the whole world can have seen it. Frightening."

Paris Designer Includes Furs With Late Fall Styles

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP)—If anyone went to sleep at Carven's fashion opening Thursday night, it was only because he was counting sheep—the little Persian ones so numerous in the couturier's new collection for fall and winter.

He might also have been counting minks, seals, otters and leopards.

Those who stayed awake found some pleasant dreams emerging from the Corinthian-columned dressing room of Carven's elegant showroom.

They included a use of variegated hues both with furs and chiffon; long sleeves with trumpet-shaped wrists, embroidered with jewels or lined with fur; ostrich feather cuffs on an otherwise somber dress; antique gold jewelry with dull gold brocade sleeveless costumes, and evening costumes with sweeping imperial skirts.

Carven says he was inspired by the romantic era of French history, but not enough to give in to low necklines and false crinolines. What he did succumb to was the gentleman's fashion—dandy.

Jackets with long narrow lapels, the redingote with a fitted, high waist, and high-buttoned groom suits.

Narrow shawl collars appeared to be on generously cut coats until the models peeled off the coats. The suits or even the wool dresses underneath were the possessors of the fur-edged necklines.

Does Carven love Persian lamb? Let us name the ways:

He uses it as a motorcycle helmet. He uses variegated shades of brown lamb as collar and hat trim. He adds an ermine shawl collar to a black Persian lamb coat. He tops his suits with severe, stovepipe hats made from the fur. Carven puts a blue mink on a gray Persian coat, and so on.

Carven's dresses favored the bust, showing this curve to advantage with cardings, nippers, and melon ribs. His neat little black dresses were touched with shaggy ostrich plumage, a glitter of beads, or a band of mink, but not often and not much at a time.

Mahoney Declares Demos' Racial Charge Shows Fear

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney says a Democratic charge of racial discrimination in the Congressional reapportionment plan enacted by the Republican-controlled Legislature reflects fear by the Democrats of the Congressional elections in November.

Mahoney, a Republican, said Friday the Democrats had given way to hysteria because they were afraid they could not win a majority of the state's Congressional delegation.

"It is unthinkable that the courts would overthrow one of the fairest Congression.' reapportionment acts in the land," Mahoney said.

A group of Manhattan Democrats is seeking in U.S. District Court to have the plan declared unconstitutional.

The New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Committee joined in the suit challenging the reapportionment.

The district now is represented by John V. Lindsey, a Republican.

Rockefeller Asks Again About Decision on King

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has repeated his request that the U.S. Justice Department determine whether the constitutional rights of Dr. Martin Luher King have been violated in Albany, Ga.

King was among 10 Negroes arrested Friday as they stepped from automobiles and began a prayer vigil. It was King's third arrest in the Georgia city in nine months.

In the telegram to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Rockefeller said Friday:

"I repeat my urgent request that the Justice Department determine whether the constitutional righs of Dr. King and his associates have been violated."

Rockefeller also said he was concerned that "the federal government take every precaution to assure the personal safety of Dr. King and his associates."

The governor made a similar request of Atty. Gen. Kennedy earlier this month after King had been sentenced to jail in Albany, Ga., on a previous charge stemming from a demonstration.

Pity Poor Weatherman

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — It should be explained at the outset that weather forecasts for this part of Florida come from the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Tampa.

Now, recently at an Arcadia lunch counter, a local character was reading his newspaper.

"What's the weather look like for tomorrow, Charlie?" asked a friend.

"Dunno," said Charlie without even looking up. "Used to be able to tell when the Good Lord was in charge, but since they gave it to that Tampa feller, I'd hate to make a guess."

Buffalo Puts Ban On Machines Selling Trinkets

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A ban has been ordered in Buffalo on vending machines which dispense trinkets haphazardly.

City Judge Casimir T. Partyka ruled Friday that such machines were slot machines, and, therefore, illegal. Later, Police Chief Howard E. Finney said that, if operators of such machines did not get rid of them in 48 hours, they would face arrest and prosecution.

Partyka described the machines as those which, "upon insertion of a coin. . .would dispense a variety of trinkets, but which of the trinkets would be released from the machines would depend on chance, unpredictable by the user."

He said the machines were "a type of gambling in trivial things that would instill in the children an instinct for future gambling." He noted that the trinkets are valuable only to children, who, "to obtain a particular trinket.. would play again and again."

Partyka made the ruling in finding Nicasio Gonzales, a 38-year-old delicatessen owner, guilty of possessing or permitting such machines in his store. Gonzales was fined $25 and the machines were ordered destroyed.

Mine Hero Dies In Disaster With Another Worker

NANTICOKE, Pa. (AP)—One of the key figures in a 1959 rescue of two dozen trapped coal miners is dead today, the victim of another mine disaster that killed him and a co-worker.

Joseph Hopkins, 62, of Port Blanchard was killed by a rock slide while working Friday in a stripping pit of the Bristol Coal Co. Killed with him was John Krakowski, 48, a laborer, of Dupont.

Hopkins helped rescue 24 miners in 1959 when the Susquehanna River broke into a mine at Port Griffith and flooded shafts.

The men were putting up crosstimbers to open a new slope into the mills vein of the Glen Alden Coal Co. Truesdale Quarry. While they were placing the timber, a rock slide from the stripping bank struck them, knocked down the timber and crushed them.

O'Connor Thinks Preconvention Caucus Good Way

NEW YORK — "The idea of a preconvention caucus of all delegates is imaginative and democratic," says Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In making the statement Friday, O'Connor took issue with two other men seeking the gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua. Both oppose the caucus idea.

State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon has called 62 county chairmen or their representatives to meet here Monday to determine whether a formal caucus would be of value. Such a caucus would probably start in mid-August.

Diamond Jack Lead Outfoxes Expert

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand is in the nature of a problem in play. The problem is to find out the opening lead by West that caused a very good player to go down at his seven no-trump contract.

Take a look at the hand and you note that declarer can run off five diamonds and three spades to start with. Then if he goes after the heart suit, it will break nicely for him so that he will have 12 tricks before cashing his ace of clubs for the last one. Also, should hearts fail to break or should declarer fail to notice that he has dropped both the jack and ten then the club finesse is going to succeed for him.

Now here is what happened to our unlucky expert: West opened the jack of hearts! Don't ask me how he happened to figure out that lead or if anyone would recommend it as a steady diet, but that is what West did play.

South took the king of hearts, ran off his five diamonds and three spades, led a heart back to his queen and continued with the six of hearts. Meanwhile, West had discarded a couple of spades, and East two clubs. South had learned nothing about the location of the rest of the hearts or the king of hearts. However, South thought he knew.

When West played the eight of hearts on the six, South was certain that he had led from jack-ten- eight deuce, so South finessed for the ten and went down.

Thalidomide Drug Reported Given To 56 Physicians

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Fifty-six physicians in Upstate New York were given experimental supplies of the drug Thalidomide, which was blamed for birth deformities, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration says.

The State Health Department announced Friday it had received such notification from the administration but that the names of physicians would not be made public.

Local health officers were being given the names and addresses of the doctors, however, "so that they may be of assistance to physicians in tracking down and removing any supplies of the drug which patients may still have," the department said.

The department said it had begun a surveillance system based on a continuing analysis of birth certificates and stillbirths filed by physicians.

Two Albany County physicians received the drug samples from the manufacturer, it was learned, but apparently it was not given to pregnant women. One doctor said he did not use the drug at all, and the other said he had given it only to a few elderly men.

The Portuguese discovered the island of New Guinea, one of the world's most backward lands, in 1511, less than 20 years after the discovery of America.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — These may be dog days in your home town, but this is the time when the television film industry starts working full blast.

The film factories, full of nope and script problems, are launching their new product, which will start reaching the home screens in September. None of the factories is busier than Four Star.

I lunched with the crooning tycoon, Dick Powell, for a production report.

Powell was seated alone at the long conference table in Four Star's sumptuous offices. Neither of his partners, Charles Boyer nor David Niven, were there, though the latter's Oscar stood on the table. Both had flitted off to make movies in Europe, leaving Dick to mind the store.

He does that well, aided by his ace executive Tom McDermott. Dick himself had been working in one of the 10 Dick Powell shows he will appear in next season. This one is a blockbuster which will probably open the season.

Powell reviewed last season's casualties: The Gertrude Berg Show ("A good series but poor ratings"); "Target; The Corrupters" ("Not the best show in the world, but good ratings"); Robert Taylor's detectives ("We might have gone a fourth year") but the company bounced back with four new shows:

"Ensign O'Toole," a Navy comedy with Dean Jones—"I think it will be the sleeper of the year."

"McKeever and The Colonel," another service comedy — in a boy's military school.

"Saints and Sinners," a hard-hitting newspaper series with Nick Adams and top names.

"The Lloyd Bridges Show," in which the former snorkler will play a different role each week.

How does Powell view the coming season?

"I think the general run of entertainment will be about the same, with perhaps more emphasis on the lighter side. The only real trend is the decline of Westerns. But they'll come back. They always do."

Expert Opinion

Sickness, death and crime all increase during periods of high humidity due, say the experts, to the weariness and tension that accompany discomfort.

MahoneyDeclares Demos' Racial ChargeShowsFear

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney says a Democratic charge of racial discrimination in the Congressional reapportionment plan enacted by the Republican-controlled Legislature reflects fear by the Democrats of the Congressional elections in November.

Mahoney, a Republican, said Friday the Democrats had given way to hysteria because they were afraid they could not win a majority of the state's Congressional delegation.

"It is unthinkable that the courts would overthrow one of the fairest Congression.' reapportionment acts in the land," Mahoney said.

A group of Manhattan Democrats is seeking in U.S. District Court to have the plan declared unconstitutional.

The Republican-drawn reapportionment plan excluded Negroes and Puerto Ricans, generally considered strong supporters of the Democratic Party, in setting lines of the 17th — "Silk-stocking"—Congressional District in Manhattan, the suit charges.

The New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Committee joined in the suit challenging the reapportionment.

The district now is represented by John V. Lindsey, a Republican.

Rockefeller Asks Again About Decision on King

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — These may be dog days in your home town, but this is the time when the television film industry starts working full blast.

The film factories, full of nope and script problems, are launching their new product, which will start reaching the home screens in September. None of the factories is busier than Four Star.

I lunched with the crooning tycoon, Dick Powell, for a production report.

Powell was seated alone at the long conference table in Four Star's sumptuous offices. Neither of his partners, Charles Boyer nor David Niven, were there, though the latter's Oscar stood on the table. Both had flitted off to make movies in Europe, leaving Dick to mind the store.

He does that well, aided by his ace executive Tom McDermott. Dick himself had been working in one of the 10 Dick Powell shows he will appear in next season. This one is a blockbuster which will probably open the season.

Powell reviewed last season's casualties: The Gertrude Berg Show ("A good series but poor ratings"); "Target; The Corrupters" ("Not the best show in the world, but good ratings"); Robert Taylor's detectives ("We might have gone a fourth year") but the company bounced back with four new shows:

"Ensign O'Toole," a Navy comedy with Dean Jones—"I think it will be the sleeper of the year."

"McKeever and The Colonel," another service comedy — in a boy's military school.

"Saints and Sinners," a hard-hitting newspaper series with Nick Adams and top names.

"The Lloyd Bridges Show," in which the former snorkler will play a different role each week.

How does Powell view the coming season?

"I think the general run of entertainment will be about the same, with perhaps more emphasis on the lighter side. The only real trend is the decline of Westerns. But they'll come back. They always do."

Expert Opinion

Sickness, death and crime all increase during periods of high humidity due, say the experts, to the weariness and tension that accompany discomfort.

Kinderhook Tops Melvin Roads, 10-7, in Legion Tournament

Winners to Meet Kingston Tonight For District Title

Kinderhook, the Columbia County representative, unleashed a late rally and went on to beat Melvin Roads of Rensselear, 10-7, at Dietz Stadium last night to move into the finals of the District American Legion tournament.

Last night's winners will meet Old Capital Motors of Kingston tonight, 8 p. m., at Dietz Stadium for the district championship. Kingston, representing Post No. 150, drew a bye after winning its opening contest.

Trailing 5-4, starting the fifth inning, Kinderhook scored three runs and then added three for good measure in the sixth. The losers tried to storm back by tallying once in the seventh but it wasn't enough.

Tom Davis rapped a triple and two singles for Kinderhook while Jack Endryck had a triple and single. Paul Shriner doubled and singled twice to pace the losers.

The box score:

Goshen Race Meet Brings In $348,811

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department reported a handle of $348,811 at this year's five-day race meet of the Orange County Driving Park Association at Goshen.

The total for the meet held July 2-6 was an increase of $11,709 over 1961, the department said.

The state's share in pari-mutual taxes was $19,459, compared with $18,709 last year, the department said Friday.

Ten Magic Miles

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (NEA) Henry T. Adios' 1:59-4/5 in Buffalo boosted the total of magic miles for pacers in 1962 to 10. It was Henry T.'s third two-minute effort of the season and the swiftest half-mile track performance of the year.

Musial, Hodges Scheduled For Honors at Polo Grounds

Two great nights for two great guys will be the slogan for the New York Mets for the month of August, when they embark on their most intensive home schedule of the season. Stan Musial will be honored on Friday night, August 17 when the St. Louis Cardinals are at the Polo Grounds, and the Mets' own Gil Hodges will be honored on the night of August 24th, when the Los Angeles Dodgers are the visitors.

The Mets meet the Phillies at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night, August 1st, to open their home stand and conclude the series with a single game the next afternoon. The Cincinnati Reds open a three-day, five-game invasion with a single game Friday night, August 3rd and Saturday and Sunday doubleheaders.

After these two series, the Mets take a road trip to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cincinnati, returning on August 14th, to face Philadelphia in a single afternoon game. There will be a day doubleheader with the Phils on August 15th and the Cardinals will come to the Polo Grounds on August 17th for Musial Night, to be followed by single games on Saturday (Ladies' Day) and Sunday.

Pittsburgh will play successive doubleheaders at the Polo Grounds on August 20 and 21. Monday, the 20th, will be a twi-night doubleheader and Tuesday a day doubleheader. San Francisco, with Willie Mays & Co., pays its final visit here with a night game Wednesday, August 22nd and a Ladies' Day game the following afternoon. Los Angeles opens with Gil Hodges Night on the 24th and follows with single Saturday and Sunday afternoon games.

In all, the Mets will play 22 games at the Polo Grounds in August.

Little LEAGUERS

Tigers Win RV Crown, Defeat Indians, 2-1

Hits by Greg Haase and Tom Williams and a scoring fly by winning hurler Tom Becker gave the Tigers a 2-1 victory over the Indians Friday and the championship of the Rondout Valley Little League. The winning markers came in the top of the sixth.

Indian hurler Gary Heinitz was rolling along with a 1-0 lead until the fatal sixth when the visiting side picked up the winning markers. Becker then shutout the losers in their last at bats to clinch the championship.

Tom Williams doubled for the champs while the Indians had four safeties, all singles. Terry Barnum stroked two hits in three trips to the dish.

The line score:

	R	H
Tigers	000 002—2	3
Indians	000 100—1	4

Tom Becker and Pete Joule; Gary Heinitz and Terry Barnum.

NL Giants Nip Braves Team, 1-0

The Giants notched a run in the last inning and nipped the Braves, 1-0, in a National Little League game yesterday.

Walt Sissca was the winner over Tim Bowens in a real pitching duel. The winners made only three hits against one for the Braves.

The line score:

	R	H
Braves	000 000—0	1
Giants	000 001—1	3

Tim Bowens and Dave Carey; Walt Sissca and Pete DeGroat.

Umpires Needed For NLL Games

Members of the Kingston National League are appealing to the 75 fathers who have sons playing in the league to volunteer to umpire so that the circuit might finish out the season.

The league is shorthanded and if some of the fathers cannot show enough interest to devote some time to umpiring, officials at a recent meeting, voted to cancel the schedule for the rest of the season.

At the meeting, held Thursday at the clubhouse, President Emilio Primo appointed a Field Day committee and a trophy committee. Members thanked the ladies for the purchase of a refrigerator and also thanked the help given in working during the all-star games.

The next meeting is slated for Monday, Aug. 13, 8 o'clock.

Glasco Braves Nip Dodgers, 2-1

Mike Amato slammed a two-run homer in the fourth frame to give the Braves a 2-1 victory over the Dodgers in a Glasco-East Kingston Little League tilt.

The Braves, who are now 5-0 in the second round, collected only two safeties, the other being a double by Bill Mahoney.

Fred Serravallo won his seventh game in eight outings. He surrendered a run in the first on a double by Tom Greco, a passed ball and an infield out. Bruce Lee doubled for the losers later in the contest.

The line score:

	R	H
Dodgers	100000—1	3
Braves	00020x—2	2

Howard, Podres Spark LA; Yanks Top Sox, 4-3, in 12th

Dodgers Open 2-Game Margin With 3-1 Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard finally is achieving a stature comparable to his height.

Southpaw Johnny Podres has found the nine-inning formula.

And the Los Angeles Dodgers have pulled out to a 2-game bulge over the San Francisco Giants in their struggle for National League supremacy.

Howard supplied the power with a 3-run homer, and Podres supplied the finesse with a 5-hitter as the Dodgers won the opener of their 3-game series with the second-place Giants 3-1 Friday night before 54,095—the largest crowd in Dodger Stadium's brief history.

Howard, a 6-foot-7 slugger heralded as the "new Babe Ruth" when he first tucked his mammoth figure into a Dodger uniform, is beginning to fulfill his expected potential. His key homer against the Giants, No. 18 of the season, was his 13th in the last 35 games and gave him 43 runs batted in over the same span.

Podres Goes Distance

Podres, at the same time, has located that elusive 9-inning formula just when the Dodgers needed it most. Short-staffed with Sandy Koufax sidelined due to a finger injury, the league-leaders' have found another stopper in Podres, who has hurled three complete games in the last four starts after failing to last the route in 13 previous outings.

Meanwhile, the two hottest teams in the league met at Cincinnati, where the Milwaukee Braves extended their winning streak to seven games while cutting off the Reds' at nine by defeating the defending champs 7-5.

In other games, third-place Pittsburgh ended a 6-game losing skid by beating Philadelphia 4-1 in the second game of a twi-nighter after the Phils took the opener 5-3. The New York Mets snapped their 11-game losing streak with a 1-0 victory behind Al Jackson's third shutout in the opener of a twi-nighter before St. Louis took the nightcap 6-5 on Charley James' three-run homer. Chicago's Cubs belted Houston 5-1.

Howard, who has raised his batting average to .306, tagged Giants' starter Juan Marichal (13-7) for his homer in the second inning after singles by Tommy Davis and Ron Fairly. Podres (7-7) didn't allow a runner past second until the seventh.

The Braves built a 4-0 lead, but the Reds tied it 5-5 as Frank Robinson hit his 17th homer and Don Pavletich connected for his first in the majors. Milwaukee then won it in the seventh on singles by Del Crandell and Frank Bolling, a sacrifice and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly off Jim Bros-(4-2). Rookie Claude Raymond (3-1) got the victory.

Two-run homers by Don Demeter and Ted Savage off Harvey Haddix (7-5) won the first game for the Phillies and Dallas Green (4-3), although the Pirates got 12 hits to Philadelphia's seven. Bob Friend (11-10) won it on a 6-hitter.

Jackson (5-12), who hadn't won since June 22, scattered nine Cardinal hits in the opener and came out a winner when the Mets scored an unearned run in the third on Clarence Coleman's bunt single, a sacrifice and an error. The triumph went to Bob Duliba, his first decision.

The Cubs moved ahead of the Colts into eighth place as Dick Ellsworth (6-14) went the route, although allowing 10 hits.

DeJohn, Cleroux To Meet Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mike DeJohn of Miami and Canadian heavyweight champion Robert Cleroux meet in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout tonight, but neither fighter expects it to go the distance.

Each has confided he expects to win by a knockout in the nationally televised (ABC) fight at Miami Beach Auditorium.

"I can knock out any guy I can hit," snorted DeJohn, formerly of Syracuse, N.Y. "And from what I hear, Cleroux can be hit."

Cleroux, a slight favorite in his first national television appearance, said, "Let's see how much talking he (DeJohn) does in the ring with my fist in his mouth."

Cleroux' manager, Al Bachman, said he expected DeJohn to try to end the fight quick with a wild punch. He said, "We'll try to offset that two ways—by giving Cleroux an extra long warmup before the fight and by getting him to be on his toes for anything in the first rounds."

DeJohn wrapped up three and one-half months of rigid training Thursday under his new manager, Lenny McMillan, a Miami Beach lawyer.

Cleroux, with a 32-1-3 record, was expected to weigh in at 205. DeJohn, whose record is 42-9-1, figured to weigh 205 to 209.

Hasbrouck Wins, 7-0

Hasbrouck Park won its second straight game Thursday, beating Block Park, 7-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Vince Fisher.

The winners scored in every inning but the second and seventh. Wally Skop and Willie Hayes each had a pair of safeties to pace the attack. Lou Kolano also rapped two hits and Frank Nawasiewicz hit a double.

Fullmer, Tiger Bout Postponed to Sept. 12

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) —The Aug. 27 NBA middleweight title fight between champion Gene Fullmer of West Jordan and Dick Tiger of Nigeria has been postponed to Sept. 12, Marv Jenson, Fullmer's manager, announced today.

Jenson said the change was made because sponsors of a closed circuit theatre telecast of the fight demanded a date which could be immediately followed by a secondary date in case the fight should be delayed by rain.

The bout will be in Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

Long's Homer Gives Champs Late Victory

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You've heard that one about how it does something to a ball player when he puts on pin stripe New York Yankees suit?

Well, here it comes again—in duplicate.

For exhibit A, let's present Dale Long.

The veteran first baseman was hammering the ball at a .167 clip for the San Francisco Giants in 1960, when the Yankees spirited Long over to the American League in mid-campaign. Long promptly hit .366 as the Yankees went on to the pennant. Then the Washington Senators snatched him away in the expansion draft. Long hit .249 for them in 1961, and .241 this year.

For exhibit B, let's take Long again.

The Yankees got him back early this month. In Friday night's game against the Chicago White Sox, he drove home one run with a sacrifice fly to put the Yankees ahead 3-2. The Sox tied it up.

Then, in the 12th inning, with two out, Long smashed a home run that gave the Yankees a 4-3 victory.

Four Game Lead

The victory gave the Yankees a 4-game bulge over the Los Angeles Angels, who blew one to the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, as the Tigers got three runs in the ninth.

Bob Allison homered in the ninth to give Camilo Pascual and the Minnesota Twins a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Baltimore and Kansas City played still another squeaker, with the Orioles tying the game 1-1 in the bottom of the ninth, the A's going ahead, 2-1, in the tenth, and the home forces storming back for a 3-2 decision.

The tight pattern was broken in Washington where the Senators, the lowest scoring team in the league, demolished the Boston Red Sox 11-2 and 14-1 in a twi-night doubleheader.

Los Angeles got two runs in the eighth against Detroit to break a 1-1 tie established by homers by Steve Bilko for the Angels and Norm Cash's 28th for the Tigers.

Al Kaline, playing his first game at home since recovering from his 2-month layoff with a fractured collarbone, slashed a 2-run single in the ninth inning to end the game.

Pascual ran his record to 15-6 as he gave up only six hits, as did Cleveland's Jim Perry. Allison smashed his homer with two out.

Robin Roberts went the first eight innings for Baltimore, giving up only a first inning homer by Ed Charles. Jerry Lumpe singled in the tie-breaker in the tenth, but the Orioles came back on a walk, a sacrifice, a double by Dick Williams and a single by Jim Gentile that bounced off first base into right field.

Braves at Beacon In NY-NJ Contest

Needing a victory to remain in pennant contention, the Kingston Braves hit the road this afternoon, playing at Beacon. Game time for the New York-New Jersey League game is 2 p. m.

Either Mike Spada or Paul Gardner, who have carried the brunt of the pitching to date, will toe the slab for Manager Dick Bartsch.

Conlan at Plate For All-Star Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Jocko Conlan, veteran National League umpire, will work behind the plate in Monday's All-Star baseball game at Wrigley Field, Chicago, Commissioner Ford Frick announced today.

Frick also named Bill McKinley of the American League to work at first base, Ken Burkhart of the National League at second base and John Rice of the American League at third base. The foul line umpires will be Al Forman of the National League and Bill Kinnamon of the American League.

The official scorers will be Bob Wolf of the Milwaukee Journal, vice-president of the Baseball Writers Association; Edgar Munzel of the Chicago Sun-Ttimes and Jim Enright of Chicago's American.

Giants Run Into Red Hot Frank Howard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, just back from Texas, probably thought nothing could get as hot as Houston in July.

Then they ran into Frank Howard of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

That unhappy meeting half explains why the second-place Giants trail the Dodgers by two full games today. The pitching of Johnny Podres, who also has found sudden success, in July, explains the other half.

In his last 35 games, Howard has hit 13 homers and driven in 43 runs. In the same span, he also has had 14 doubles, 13 singles and a triple.

Friday night, with two men on base, he hit his 18th homer of the season. It was a 430-foot line drive into the pavillion in right-center field. It was all the Dodgers needed to beat the Giants 3-1.

For the past couple of seasons, people have been telling Howard to stand closer to the plate. This advice he has rejected. "I've got to have room to move my arms," he said, "and when I stand close I feel cramped.

"If I had to pick out one thing that's really helped me lately, I'd say it was waiting longer before starting my swing. I still start too soon sometimes, but I'm waiting for the ball a lot better than I used to."

Podres, who has allowed only 10 earned runs in his last seven starts, gave up just five singles and didn't let the Giants get a man beyond second base until the seventh.

Second All-Star Tilt Monday May Be Last Two-a-Year Event

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The All-Star baseball game between National and American League stalwarts in Chicago Cubs park Monday might be significant in two respects.

It could be the last in the two-a-year program initiated in 1959, and it will be, in all probability, the first where the host owner is not present.

P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, intends to watch the game on television. This is in Mr. Wrigley's way of thinking that baseball is best seen over television since he has not watched his operatives in person this year.

The game will be televised by NBC, starting at 1 p.m., EST.

The American League, headed by New York Manager Ralph Houk, will be out to avenge a 3-1 defeat at Washington earlier this month.

Because of a heavy schedule Sunday, Managers Houk and Fred Hutchinson of Cincinnati are not expected to name their starting pitchers until all games have been played Sunday.

Same Lineups

However, since the All-Stars selected by the players must play the first three innings, the starting lineups and batting orders should be the same as in the opener at Washington.

This would have the American order as follows: Rich Rollins, Minnesota, at third; Billy Moran, Los Angeles, at second; Roger Maris, New York, in right; Mickey Mantle, New York, in center; Jim Gentile, Baltimore, at first; Leon Wagner, Los Angeles, in left; Earl Battey, Minnesota, catching; and Luis Aparicio, Chicago, at short.

Demeter Enjoys Atlanta Hurling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steven Demeter loves Atlanta. And he should. The Cracker pitching and ball park are two of the principal reasons the Toronto slugger ranks among the leading home run hitters in the International League.

Demeter has 19 homers this season, six of them at the expense of Atlanta pitching and five of them on the Crackers' home grounds.

He got another one Friday night, all the margin Ron Piche needed in pitching the Maple Leafs to a decision over the Crackers. Rochester edged Richmond, 4-3, and Columbus beat Syracuse, 5-3, in the only other games played. Buffalo at Jacksonville was rained out.

Piche tossed a three-hitter at the Crackers, walked none and was never in trouble. Doug Clemens' double and singles by Phil Gagliano and Jim Baumer were the only Atlanta hits.

Demeter's homer came in the sixth and was the 30th by Toronto off Atlanta pitching this year.

Larry Elliot had four hits in as many trips and drove in two runs in leading Columbus past Syracuse.

Groat, Pittsburgh, at short; Bob Clemente, Pittsburgh, in right; Willie Mays, San Francisco, in center; Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco, at first; Tommy Davis, Los Angeles, in left; Ken Boyer, St. Louis, at third; Del Crandall, Milwaukee, catcher; and Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh, at second.

Each club was allowed to add three players for the second game with the Americans picking up Yogi Berra of New York, Pete Runnels of Boston and pitchers Ken McBride of Los Angeles and Jim Kaat of Minnesota while dropping Bill Monbouquette of Boston.

The National added Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, Billy Williams of Chicago and Ed Mathews of Milwaukee and replaced Milwaukee pitcher Bob Shaw with pitcher Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia.

Kinderhook Tops Melvin Roads, 10-7, in Legion Tournament

Winners to Meet Kingston Tonight For District Title

Kinderhook, the Columbia County representative, unleashed a late rally and went on to beat Melvin Roads of Rensselear, 10-7, at Dietz Stadium last night to move into the finals of the District American Legion tournament.

Last night's winners will meet Old Capital Motors of Kingston tonight, 8 p. m., at Dietz Stadium for the district championship. Kingston, representing Post No. 150, drew a bye after winning its opening contest.

Trailing 5-4, starting the fifth inning, Kinderhook scored three runs and then added three for good measure in the sixth. The losers tried to storm back by tallying once in the seventh but it wasn't enough.

Tom Davis rapped a triple and two singles for Kinderhook while Jack Endryck had a triple and single. Paul Shriner doubled and singled twice to pace the losers.

Goshen Race Meet Brings In $348,811

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department reported a handle of $348,811 at this year's five-day race meet of the Orange County Driving Park Association at Goshen.

The total for the meet held July 2-6 was an increase of $11,709 over 1961, the department said.

The state's share in pari-mutual taxes was $19,459, compared with $18,709 last year, the department said Friday.

Musial, Hodges Scheduled For Honors at Polo Grounds

Two great nights for two great guys will be the slogan for the New York Mets for the month of August, when they embark on their most intensive home schedule of the season. Stan Musial will be honored on Friday night, August 17 when the St. Louis Cardinals are at the Polo Grounds, and the Mets' own Gil Hodges will be honored on the night of August 24th, when the Los Angeles Dodgers are the visitors.

The Mets meet the Phillies at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night, August 1st, to open their home stand and conclude the series with a single game the next afternoon. The Cincinnati Reds open a three-day, five-game invasion with a single game Friday night, August 3rd and Saturday and Sunday doubleheaders.

After these two series, the Mets take a road trip to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cincinnati, returning on August 14th to face Philadelphia in a single afternoon game. There will be a day doubleheader with the Phils on August 15th and the Cardinals will come to the Polo Grounds on August 17th for Musial Night, to be followed by single games on Saturday (Ladies' Day) and Sunday.

Pittsburgh will play successive doubleheaders at the Polo Grounds on August 20 and 21. Monday, the 20th, will be a twi-night doubleheader and Tuesday a day doubleheader. San Francisco, with Willie Mays & Co., pays its final visit here with a night game Wednesday, August 22nd and a Ladies' Day game the following afternoon. Los Angeles opens with Gil Hodges Night on the 24th and follows with single Saturday and Sunday afternoon games.

In all, the Mets will play 22 games at the Polo Grounds in August.

Little LEAGUERS

Tigers Win RV Crown, Defeat Indians, 2-1

Hits by Greg Haase and Tom Williams and a scoring fly by winning hurler Tom Becker gave the Tigers a 2-1 victory over the Indians Friday and the championship of the Rondout Valley Little League. The winning markers came in the top of the sixth.

Indian hurler Gary Heinitz was rolling along with a 1-0 lead until the fatal sixth when the visiting side picked up the winning markers. Becker then shutout the losers in their last at bats to clinch the championship.

Tom Williams doubled for the champs while the Indians had four safeties, all singles. Terry Barnum stroked two hits in three trips to the dish.

Umpires Needed For NLL Games

Members of the Kingston National League are appealing to the 75 fathers who have sons playing in the league to volunteer to umpire so that the circuit might finish out the season.

The league is shorthanded and if some of the fathers cannot show enough interest to devote some time to umpiring, officials at a recent meeting, voted to cancel the schedule for the rest of the season.

At the meeting, held Thursday at the clubhouse, President Emilio Primo appointed a Field Day committee and a trophy committee. Members thanked the ladies for the purchase of a refrigerator and also thanked the help given in working during the all-star games.

The next meeting is slated for Monday, Aug. 13, 8 o'clock.

Glasco Braves Nip Dodgers, 2-1

Mike Amato slammed a two-run homer in the fourth frame to give the Braves a 2-1 victory over the Dodgers in a Glasco-East Kingston Little League tilt.

The Braves, who are now 5-0 in the second round, collected only two safeties, the other being a double by Bill Mahoney.

Fred Serravallo won his seventh game in eight outings. He surrendered a run in the first on a double by Tom Greco, a passed ball and an infield out. Bruce Lee doubled for the losers later in the contest.

Dodgers Open 2-Game Margin With 3-1 Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard finally is achieving a stature comparable to his height.

Southpaw Johnny Podres has found the nine-inning formula.

And the Los Angeles Dodgers have pulled out to a 2-game bulge over the San Francisco Giants in their struggle for National League supremacy.

Howard supplied the power with a 3-run homer, and Podres supplied the finesse with a 5-hitter as the Dodgers won the opener of their 3-game series with the second-place Giants 3-1 Friday night before 54,095—the largest crowd in Dodger Stadium's brief history.

Howard, a 6-foot-7 slugger heralded as the "new Babe Ruth" when he first tucked his mammoth figure into a Dodger uniform, is beginning to fulfill his expected potential. His key homer against the Giants, No. 18 of the season, was his 13th in the last 35 games and gave him 43 runs batted in over the same span.

Podres Goes Distance

Podres, at the same time, has located that elusive 9-inning formula just when the Dodgers needed it most. Short-staffed with Sandy Koufax sidelined due to a finger injury, the league-leaders' have found another stopper in Podres, who has hurled three complete games in the last four starts after failing to last the route in 13 previous outings.

Meanwhile, the two hottest teams in the league met at Cincinnati, where the Milwaukee Braves extended their winning streak to seven games while cutting off the Reds' at nine by defeating the defending champs 7-5.

In other games, third-place Pittsburgh ended a 6-game losing skid by beating Philadelphia 4-1 in the second game of a twi-nighter after the Phils took the opener 5-3. The New York Mets snapped their 11-game losing streak with a 1-0 victory behind Al Jackson's third shutout in the opener of a twi-nighter before St. Louis took the nightcap 6-5 on Charley James' three-run homer. Chicago's Cubs belted Houston 5-1.

Howard, who has raised his batting average to .306, tagged Giants' starter Juan Marichal (13-7) for his homer in the second inning after singles by Tommy Davis and Ron Fairly. Podres (7-7) didn't allow a runner past second until the seventh.

The Braves built a 4-0 lead, but the Reds tied it 5-5 as Frank Robinson hit his 17th homer and Don Pavletich connected for his first in the majors. Milwaukee then won it in the seventh on singles by Del Crandell and Frank Bolling, a sacrifice and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly off Jim Brosnan (4-2). Rookie Claude Raymond (3-1) got the victory.

Two-run homers by Don Demeter and Ted Savage off Harvey Haddix (7-5) won the first game for the Phillies and Dallas Green (4-3), although the Pirates got 12 hits to Philadelphia's seven. Bob Friend (11-10) won it on a 6-hitter.

Jackson (5-12), who hadn't won since June 22, scattered nine Cardinal hits in the opener and came out a winner when the Mets scored an unearned run in the third on Clarence Coleman's bunt single, a sacrifice and an error. The triumph went to Bob Duliba, his first decision.

The Cubs moved ahead of the Colts into eighth place as Dick Ellsworth (6-14) went the route, although allowing 10 hits.

DeJohn, Cleroux To Meet Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mike DeJohn of Miami and Canadian heavyweight champion Robert Cleroux meet in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout tonight, but neither fighter expects it to go the distance.

Each has confided he expects to win by a knockout in the nationally televised (ABC) fight at Miami Beach Auditorium.

"I can knock out any guy I can hit," snorted DeJohn, formerly of Syracuse, N.Y. "And from what I hear, Cleroux can be hit."

Cleroux, a slight favorite in his first national television appearance, said, "Let's see how much talking he (DeJohn) does in the ring with my fist in his mouth."

Cleroux' manager, Al Bachman, said he expected DeJohn to try to end the fight quick with a wild punch. He said, "We'll try to offset that two ways—by giving Cleroux an extra long warmup before the fight and by getting him to be on his toes for anything in the first rounds."

DeJohn wrapped up three and one-half months of rigid training Thursday under his new manager, Lenny McMillan, a Miami Beach lawyer.

Cleroux, with a 32-1-3 record, was expected to weigh in at 205. DeJohn, whose record is 42-9-1, figured to weigh 205 to 209.

Hasbrouck Wins, 7-0

Hasbrouck Park won its second straight game Thursday, beating Block Park, 7-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Vince Fisher.

The winners scored in every inning but the second and seventh. Wally Skop and Willie Hayes each had a pair of safeties to pace the attack. Lou Kolano also rapped two hits and Frank Nawasiewicz hit a double.

Fullmer, Tiger Bout Postponed to Sept. 12

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) —The Aug. 27 NBA middleweight title fight between champion Gene Fullmer of West Jordan and Dick Tiger of Nigeria has been postponed to Sept. 12, Marv Jenson, Fullmer's manager, announced today.

Jenson said the change was made because sponsors of a closed circuit theatre telecast of the fight demanded a date which could be immediately followed by a secondary date in case the fight should be delayed by rain.

The bout will be in Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

Long's Homer Gives Champs Late Victory

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You've heard that one about how it does something to a ball player when he puts on pin stripe New York Yankees suit?

Well, here it comes again—in duplicate.

For exhibit A, let's present Dale Long.

The veteran first baseman was hammering the ball at a .167 clip for the San Francisco Giants in 1960, when the Yankees spirited Long over to the American League in mid-campaign. Long promptly hit .366 as the Yankees went on to the pennant. Then the Washington Senators snatched him away in the expansion draft. Long hit .249 for them in 1961, and .241 this year.

For exhibit B, let's take Long again.

The Yankees got him back early this month. In Friday night's game against the Chicago White Sox, he drove home one run with a sacrifice fly to put the Yankees ahead 3-2. The Sox tied it up.

Then, in the 12th inning, with two out, Long smashed a home run that gave the Yankees a 4-3 victory.

Four Game Lead

The victory gave the Yankees a 4-game bulge over the Los Angeles Angels, who blew one to the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, as the Tigers got three runs in the ninth.

Bob Allison homered in the ninth to give Camilo Pascual and the Minnesota Twins a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Baltimore and Kansas City played still another squeaker, with the Orioles tying the game 1-1 in the bottom of the ninth, the A's going ahead, 2-1, in the tenth, and the home forces storming back for a 3-2 decision.

The tight pattern was broken in Washington where the Senators, the lowest scoring team in the league, demolished the Boston Red Sox 11-2 and 14-1 in a twi-night doubleheader.

Los Angeles got two runs in the eighth against Detroit to break a 1-1 tie established by homers by Steve Bilko for the Angels and Norm Cash's 28th for the Tigers.

Al Kaline, playing his first game at home since recovering from his 2-month layoff with a fractured collarbone, slashed a 2-run single in the ninth inning to end the game.

Pascual ran his record to 15-6 as he gave up only six hits, as did Cleveland's Jim Perry. Allison smashed his homer with two out.

Robin Roberts went the first eight innings for Baltimore, giving up only a first inning homer by Ed Charles. Jerry Lumpe singled in the tie-breaker in the tenth, but the Orioles came back on a walk, a sacrifice, a double by Dick Williams and a single by Jim Gentile that bounced off first base into right field.

Braves at Beacon In NY-NJ Contest

Needing a victory to remain in pennant contention, the Kingston Braves hit the road this afternoon, playing at Beacon. Game time for the New York-New Jersey League game is 2 p. m.

Either Mike Spada or Paul Gardner, who have carried the brunt of the pitching to date, will toe the slab for Manager Dick Bartsch.

Conlan at Plate For All-Star Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Jocko Conlan, veteran National League umpire, will work behind the plate in Monday's All-Star baseball game at Wrigley Field, Chicago, Commissioner Ford Frick announced today.

Frick also named Bill McKinley of the American League to work at first base, Ken Burkhart of the National League at second base and John Rice of the American League at third base. The foul line umpires will be Al Forman of the National League and Bill Kinnamon of the American League.

The official scorers will be Bob Wolf of the Milwaukee Journal, vice-president of the Baseball Writers Association; Edgar Munzel of the Chicago Sun-Ttimes and Jim Enright of Chicago's American.

Kick in It

HIRAM, Ohio — (NEA) — Lou Groza has a simple formula for high and true placekicks.

"You keep your toe up and your head down when you kick," says the fabulous Cleveland Browns' veteran. "That is how you get the ball in the air."

Giants Run Into Red Hot Frank Howard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, just back from Texas, probably thought nothing could get as hot as Houston in July.

Then they ran into Frank Howard of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

That unhappy meeting half explains why the second-place Giants trail the Dodgers by two full games today. The pitching of Johnny Podres, who also has found sudden success, in July, explains the other half.

In his last 35 games, Howard has hit 13 homers and driven in 43 runs. In the same span, he also has had 14 doubles, 13 singles and a triple.

Friday night, with two men on base, he hit his 18th homer of the season. It was a 430-foot line drive into the pavillion in right-center field. It was all the Dodgers needed to beat the Giants 3-1.

For the past couple of seasons, people have been telling Howard to stand closer to the plate. This advice he has rejected. "I've got to have room to move my arms," he said, "and when I stand close I feel cramped.

"If I had to pick out one thing that's really helped me lately, I'd say it was waiting longer before starting my swing. I still start too soon sometimes, but I'm waiting for the ball a lot better than I used to."

Podres, who has allowed only 10 earned runs in his last seven starts, gave up just five singles and didn't let the Giants get a man beyond second base until the seventh.

Went From There

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) — Jim Davenport of the baseball Giants played football at Mississippi Southern with Don Owens, the football St. Louis Cardinals' tackle. Bubba Phillips of the Indians were the quarterback.

Second All-Star Tilt Monday May Be Last Two-a-Year Event

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The All-Star baseball game between National and American League stalwarts in Chicago Cubs park Monday might be significant in two respects.

It could be the last in the two-a-year program initiated in 1959, and it will be, in all probability, the first where the host owner is not present.

P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, intends to watch the game on television. This is in Mr. Wrigley's way of thinking that baseball is best seen over television since he has not watched his operatives in person this year.

The game will be televised by NBC, starting at 1 p.m., EST.

The American League, headed by New York Manager Ralph Houk, will be out to avenge a 3-1 defeat at Washington earlier this month.

Because of a heavy schedule Sunday, Managers Houk and Fred Hutchinson of Cincinnati are not expected to name their starting pitchers until all games have been played Sunday.

Same Lineups

However, since the All-Stars selected by the players must play the first three innings, the starting lineups and batting orders should be the same as in the opener at Washington.

This would have the American order as follows: Rich Rollins, Minnesota, at third; Billy Moran, Los Angeles, at second; Roger Maris, New York, in right; Mickey Mantle, New York, in center; Jim Gentile, Baltimore, at first; Leon Wagner, Los Angeles, in left; Earl Battey, Minnesota, catching; and Luis Aparicio, Chicago, at short.

Groat, Pittsburgh, at short; Bob Clemente, Pittsburgh, in right; Willie Mays, San Francisco, in center; Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco, at first; Tommy Davis, Los Angeles, in left; Ken Boyer, St. Louis, at third; Del Crandall, Milwaukee, catcher; and Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh, at second.

Each club was allowed to add three players for the second game with the Americans picking up Yogi Berra of New York, Pete Runnels of Boston and pitchers Ken McBride of Los Angeles and Jim Kaat of Minnesota while dropping Bill Monbouquette of Boston.

The National added Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, Billy Williams of Chicago and Ed Mathews of Milwaukee and replaced Milwaukee pitcher Bob Shaw with pitcher Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia.

Demeter Enjoys Atlanta Hurling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steven Demeter loves Atlanta. And he should. The Cracker pitching and ball park are two of the principal reasons the Toronto slugger ranks among the leading home run hitters in the International League.

Demeter has 19 homers this season, six of them at the expense of Atlanta pitching and five of them on the Crackers' home grounds.

He got another one Friday night, all the margin Ron Piche needed in pitching the Maple Leafs to a decision over the Crackers. Rochester edged Richmond, 4-3, and Columbus beat Syracuse, 5-3, in the only other games played. Buffalo at Jacksonville was rained out.

Piche tossed a three-hitter at the Crackers, walked none and was never in trouble. Doug Clemens' double and singles by Phil Gagliano and Jim Baumer were the only Atlanta hits.

Demeter's homer came in the sixth and was the 30th by Toronto off Atlanta pitching this year.

Larry Elliot had four hits in as many trips and drove in two runs in leading Columbus past Syracuse.

Wilson, Wilm at Dedication Of New Belleayre Ski Center

Remarks by Lt. Governor Malcolm L. Wilson and State Conservation Commissioner Dr. Harold G. Wilm highlighted the dedication of the new half-million dollar novice ski area at Belleayre Ski Center yesterday.

Addressing a crowd of more than 300 persons, Commissioner Wilm indicated that the Belleayre expansion was due to the growing demand on the part of state residents for recreational facilities and pointed to his own experiences in the crowds at Belleayre as proof of the facility shortage which is being lessened by projects of the Conservation Department.

The new novice area will accommodate 2000 skiers and includes three trails, a double chair-lift, two new parking lots, and a lodge-cafeteria.

Lt. Governor Wilson forecast that the Catskill region will see major expansion of public recreation facilities. Among such expansion moves, he pointed to the Woodland Valley and Beverkill campsites in the Central Catskills, and added that in the Kaaterskill Lakes area in Greene County, property is now being acquired for more development.

Convenient Resort

The Republican leader stressed that the Catskill region is the most convenient resort and vacation area in the New York City metropolitan area. He added that the state is well aware of the pressing need for the development of additional outdoor recreational facilities to accommodate the residents of the metropolitan district.

Wilson concluded his remarks with the statement that there is a strong possibility of further development at Belleayre for more intensive use of existing facilities.

Included in the gathering were most of the political leaders of Ulster County. Attending the affair from the Kingston area were Mayor John J. Schwenk; Albert Kurdt, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Harry Rigby Jr.; and Ralph Smith, a director of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

Stiff breezes and cloudy weather which sharply curtailed the complimentary rides on the upper chair lift and forced the crowd indoors quickly after the ceremonies were the only marrings of the dedication program which concluded with an inspection of the lodge-cafeteria and a buffet dinner.

Music was provided by the American Federation of Musician's Band.

The Rev. Roger Dixon offered the invocation, while the Rev. John O. Gorman gave the benediction.

Sifford Leading Canadian Golf

MONTREAL (AP)—Charlie Sifford, who held the first round lead in the Canadian Open golf championship in 1355 but faded to 19th, was on top of the field today at the midway point, with better hopes of holding on.

The 39-year-old Sifford, five times U.S. Negro champion, posted a precise 67 Friday on the par 72 Laval-sur-le-Lac course for a 2-round total of 138.

It was Sifford's second straight round without a bogie, and he was hitting his approaches so close to the hole that his longest birdie putt was 15 feet. Most were much shorter. He had an opening 71.

A stroke back at 139 was an international trio, Bruce Crampton of Australia, Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg, and veteran Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The first round leader, George Knudson of Toronto, faded to a 75 for a 140 total. Don Fairfield shared the spot with 69, 71.

U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus soared to a 75 for 145. Gary Player, who won the U.S. PGA title last week, was out of the chase, having been disqualified after he discovered he had turned in an incorrect score of 75 instead of a 76 on the first round and notified tournament officials.

Arnold Palmer passed up the tournament.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Frank Howard, Dodgers, smashed three-run homer in second inning, giving National League leading Los Angeles a 3-1 victory over second-place San Francisco in opening game of their three-game series.

Pitching — Al Jackson, Mets, snapped club's 11-game losing streak with third shutout of the season, scattering nine St. Louis hits for 1-0 victory in opener of doubleheader.

Kid Stuff

TRENTON, N. J. — (NEA) — 13-year-old boy, fishing with a piece of bread on a string, accomplished something many sophisticated anglers, with expensive equipment, would like.

Stuart Blaustein of Brooklyn caught a 22-inch largemouth bass, 14 inches in girth and weighing five pounds, 13 ounces.

The lad made the catch with the simple equipment fishing a small pond in Sussex County, near a camp he is attending.

Pedestrian Killed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Samuel Way, 71, of Syracuse, was struck and killed by an automobile early today as he walked along Route 690 near the State Exposition grounds.

Junk Woes That Go With Trash

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

More efficient disposal of household trash is a concern when summer weather adds its special aesthetic and practical problems to this daily task.

Most of us, dependent on regular collections by private or community trucking firms, make our peace with the collector and arrange the trash and garbage as he asks. This may mean meeting him more than halfway on his visit to our house and moving trash cans from the back entrance to the front curb.

In some areas, homemakers are asked to separate papers, metals and garbage. Even the household equipped with a garbage disposer and incinerator has a certain percentage of trash which cannot be banished by either appliance.

No one pays much attention to the dull gray trash cans when they fade into the dull gray winter landscape. But outdoor living calls attention to the disreputable can parked convenient to the back door but too near the patio. Aside from appearances, trash cans can become offensively smelly and insect-ridden in warm weather. Added problems to me are two inquisitive puppies who show great ingenuity in removing lids and tipping over cans in search of hidden treasures.

I have been looking for a container for the cans which would discourage animal raiders and add a neater appearance to the back yard. Recently, I saw a new all purpose aluminum utility house which is large enough (43x24x35 inches) to hold two good-sized cans or barrels. This lightweight storage locker has an enclosed base to prevent stains on cement or stone walks, a hinged top lid and front-opening doors for easy access. Although the ribbed, non-rusting aluminum doesn't need paint for surface protection, it can be painted for camouflage (green and white) or for a bright dash of color.

Incidentally, galvanized trash cans painted in various colors and decorated with simple and jaunty designs brighten the alleys and curbs of Chicago's Old Town area where the artist-residents put their talents to work to alleviate the dreary look of trash collecting.

Moving trash cans around is a nuisance but, if it must be done, a sturdy dolly is a great aid. I bought a small one years ago and it is still a useful aid to moving any weighty object.

If you buy plastic barrels, make sure the plastic is intended for outdoor use and extremes of temperature. I use a plastic barrel for garbage because it can be swabbed clean with soap and water with little effort and no rust problem. I use galvanized cans (which are less expensive) for papers and similar trash. If they must be used for garbage, I line them with newspapers first. Both types can be sprayed with insecticides and deodorizers. Spray the area around the trash cans with insecticides too.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

By: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John B. Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main St., Kingston, New York.

Legislation—The Senate at committee level is now considering veteran's legislation. Most significant was a hearing held by the Senate Finance Committee in relation to reopening National Service Life Insurance Program. The discharge petition to bring HR 3745 to the floor of the House now has 204 signatures—219 signatures are necessary.

Education — Projections prepared by the VA indicate that there are 150,000 to 200,000 Korean Conflict veterans still eligible to take advantage of the educational provisions of the GI Bill. However, they have only about 2½ years in which to complete their training or education—the law provides that all education or training of nondisabled Korean veterans will end by January 31, 1965.

Pension — Recent legislation now provides that persons entitled to Social Security Benefits become eligible at 62 rather than waiting until age 65. Many veterans entitled to a VA pension will be in this category. It is quite possible that many veterans might choose to begin receiving Social Security at 62, although they will be paid only 90 per cent of the amount they would draw at age 65. In doing so, it may be to their advantage in view of the income regulations under Public Law 86-211. In many cases veterans have been removed from the pension rolls completely or had pensions reduced because of being forced to accept the full payment of Social Security at age 65. None of the benefits from Social Security can be waived in part or in whole for the purpose of qualifying for VA pension. The decision is up to each individual as to whether or not it will be to his advantage to apply for benefits at age 62, instead of waiting until he reaches the age of 65.

Benefits — The proper execution of required forms will speed up applications for veterans benefits. Every item on the application form must be filled out legibly before the claim can be adjudicated. Failure to provide the necessary information delays the decision on a claim and often leads to an exchange of correspondence before a complete answer can be obtained. In the event some doubt exists as to how forms should be filled out, veterans should contact Mr. Tyler or Mr. Culver at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen, or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York, Monday through Friday, office hours for the summer during July and August 9 to 4.

Revive Garden Party's Pleasure

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Added to the boisterous fun of family picnics and cookouts on the summer scene are the rediscovered pleasures of the afternoon garden party.

This is a justly favored way to introduce summer visitors, to honor an anniversary or to entertain mixed-age groups, combining a certain formality of service, a gracious setting and freedom to enjoy the spaciousness of outdoors.

Now, if you've been too busy battling crab grass to pay attention to the more romantic trends in garden living, don't be dismayed at the idea of trying to approximate Edwardian elegance in the back yard. The present-day trend takes a lighthearted look at the Victorian and Edwardian era, rejecting the too-precious and the overly fragile, adapting menus, adding frills and whimsy to the decor.

You don't need a grape arbor for a garden party setup, but if you own one you're in rare luck. Screened summer houses or gazebos, homemade or prefabricated, are other choice locales. Basically, the best background will be the prettiest part of the lawn.

My own choice would be under our catalpa trees which, no matter how you feel about catalpa pods and blossoms, afford lovely shade and a thick green canopy overhead.

Here are some ideas I got from Joan's setting which I hope will be helpful to you, too. First, she picked a cool, elegant color scheme and carried it out to the nth degree. Colors are cerulean blue and white, lilac and green.

Secondly, without making a big show of practicality every bit of tableware is handsome but non-breakable and light to tote (remember: food and beverage and tableware will have to be carried from the kitchen). Melmac dinnerware is patterned with a giant hydrangea blossom in lilac and green; matching celadon green cups, wicker baskets for sandwiches and cakes are petaled like flowers and have handles for passing about.

The punch bowl is made with two large porcelain-enameled bowls in bright blue (one is inverted) and the cups are hung on picture molding hooks around the edge.

Curlicue wicker chairs and hanging baskets for plants and flowers hark back to Victorian days. (Wicker furniture and basketry are widely available.)

The menu is the old-fashioned garden party kind. Watercress and thin cucumber sandwiches, cream cheese and nut bread, tiny iced cakes and punch are the essentials.

The dinner plates, which are large coupe-shaped ones, handle all the refreshments, including the punch cup.

Rear Living Room Provides Privacy in Ranch House

By JACK McELENEY

A living room at the rear of the house has many things to recommend it and the modern ranch-type dwelling offered today by Associated Architects is an excellent example of this form of design.

First and foremost it offers the best guarantee of privacy and insurance against disturbance by street noises. It also provides isolation from any confusion that might arise from other activities within the house itself.

There are many fine features about the big spacious living room in "The Athens." There is a big rear window wall that virtually opens the room to the outdoor scene. It has an end-wall fireplace flanked by built-in combination bookcases and log storage units and decorator shelving enhances the entry from the main hall.

There are many choices for furniture grouping in a room such as this, all of which will fit well into a general scheme that includes a dining area at the end next to the kitchen.

Big Roomy Kitchen

The dining area is where the more formal meals will be served but for family affairs the corner nook in the large kitchen will undoubtedly be the favored spot.

In "The Athens" the kitchen has traded positions with the living room and the homemaker will find it a pleasant place to work. The main work area, including the sink counter and cabinet space and refrigerator, occupies a straight line across the front wall with a double sash window to provide ample natural light and ventilation. The work unit continues in an L shape with room for a built-in cooking surface or an adjoining range.

The architects were careful to avoid any awkwardness in relation to traffic through the house by the inclusion of a hall-like foyer that, while providing access to it, completely bypasses the kitchen.

Plenty of Closets

The foyer has a guest closet which is part of a pattern of excellent storage space throughout the house. There is another closet adjoining the guest closet opening on the hall that leads to the sleeping area. There are two linen closets; the bathroom boasts a towel closet, and all three of the bedrooms have sliding door wardrobes. In fact, the rear room has two, to establish equal closet rights for him and her.

The bathroom is unusually spacious and includes not only the conventional tub but a shower stall.

There is an entry off the kitchen that leads either to the basement or the attached garage. A door at the rear of the living room leads to a fine private porch which also has an entrance to the garage.

"The Athens" has 1,350 square feet of living space with the garage adding another 264 square feet. The cubage is 24,000 cubic feet with basement and 20,000 cubic feet without. The over-all basic measurements are 56 feet by 34 feet.

Blueprints can be obtained at a moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. They are available with or without a basement. In a without basement plan, the space occupied by the stairway becomes a heater room.

These plans also feature alternate section views for cement block and brick veneer construction.

New Handbag Glamour

Last year's straw handbag can be given new glamour by painting it in bright colors with a handy aerosol self-spraying paint can. Since paint sticks better to a clean surface, vacuum the bag first to remove any dust and wipe away any oil, grease or lipstick with a cloth soaked in odorless paint thinner. If you spray the bag with a gold lacquer, it's a good idea to finish with a coat of clear varnish for additional protection.

Cool Seat

Ever jumped up in pain when you've plopped down in your swim suit on a metal chair that's been standing in the sun? There's a simple way to prevent that happening again: just enamel the seat and back white. White paint will reflect most of the sun's heat and keep the chair cool. Before painting, remove any rust with steel wool and wipe away any oil or grease with paint thinner. Apply an anti-corrosive primer before brushing on the exterior enamel.

Marks' 70 Takes Medal In ENYGA at Stamford

Ronnie Marks, 25-year-old IBM employe and former Wiltwyck club champion, scored a par 70 Friday at Stamford Country Club to win Class A medalist honors in the Eastern New York Golf Assn. championship qualifying round.

Marks' 36-34 on the par 34-36 Stamford layout included four birdies on the back nine to edge a powerful trio by one stroke. At 71 were defending champion Leon Randall, also of Wiltwyck, on 35-36; Dr. Hugo Isabella, Pine Haven, with 36-35, and John Moynihan Jr., Troy Country Club, also with 36-35.

Karl Reynard, president of the host club, was medalist in Class B with 39-39-78. Leader in Class C, which has no defending champion, was Richard Farley, on 42-47-90. He is the Delaware County district attorney.

Marks, after three bogeys and a birdie on the fourth going out, birdied the 10th, 14th, 15th and 16th to more than atone for errors on the way in. He and Randall were joined by William (Buzzy) Costello to give Wiltwyck a three-pronged threat for the title to be decided Sunday afternoon.

Par and Marks' card:

Par out:	353 444 434	34
Marks out:	354 345 435	26
Par in:	544 435 434	36—70
Marks in:	445 424 335	34—70

Real Estate

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—(NEA) — Admiral's Voyage in each of his last three starts has been narrowly defeated in a $100,000-added race.

Fred W. Hooper's colt was beaten a nose in the Jersey Derby and Belmont Stakes and a neck in the Hollywood Derby. The difference between first and second money in the three stakes adds up to $192,265, a high price for a few inches of real estate.

Throw in the Santa Anita Derby in March when the son of Crafty Admiral ran second by three parts of a length, and Admiral's Voyage this season has dropped $279,365 by a total margin of about a length.

GranHamnerNow With Kansas City

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Granny Hamner, the former Star Philadelphia Phillie shortstop trying to make a major league comeback as a pitcher, joined the Kansas City Athletics here Friday night for a tryout.

Obviously, he felt good just to be back in a major league uniform, among friends he played beside three years ago.

After warming up on the sidelines, the 35-year-old right-hander took the mound and threw batting practice pitches for 15 minutes.

Each batter got a small dose of Hamner's specialty—a dancing knuckle ball which enabled him to post a 10-4 record with the Binghamton Triplets in the Class A Eastern League.

Hamner, manager of Binghamton, took a turn as a starting pitcher earlier in the season. Since then he has completed every start and compiled a 1.91 earned run average.

Some of the Kansas City batters mumbled to themselves as they swung at the knucklers — hardly the usual pitch for batting practice. Gino Cimoli shook his head in amazement at one pitch, and Ed Charles slammed his bat to the ground after merely tipping a couple balls.

Wilson, Wilm at Dedication Of New Belleayre Ski Center

Remarks by Lt. Governor Malcolm L. Wilson and State Conservation Commissioner Dr. Harold G. Wilm highlighted the dedication of the new half-million dollar novice ski area at Belleayre Ski Center yesterday.

Addressing a crowd of more than 300 persons, Commissioner Wilm indicated that the Belleayre expansion was due to the growing demand on the part of state residents for recreational facilities and pointed to his own experiences in the crowds at Belleayre as proof of the facility shortage which is being lessened by projects of the Conservation Department.

The new novice area will accommodate 2000 skiers and includes three trails, a double chair-lift, two new parking lots, and a lodge-cafeteria.

Lt. Governor Wilson forecast that the Catskill region will see major expansion of public recreation facilities. Among such expansion moves, he pointed to the Woodland Valley and Beverkill campsites in the Central Catskills, and added that in the Kaaterskill Lakes area in Greene County, property is now being acquired for more development.

Convenient Resort

The Republican leader stressed that the Catskill region is the most convenient resort and vacation area in the New York City metropolitan area. He added that the state is well aware of the pressing need for the development of additional outdoor recreational facilities to accommodate the residents of the metropolitan district.

Wilson concluded his remarks with the statement that there is a strong possibility of further development at Belleayre for more intensive use of existing facilities.

Included in the gathering were most of the political leaders of Ulster County. Attending the affair from the Kingston area were Mayor John J. Schwenk; Albert Kurdt, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Harry Rigby Jr.; and Ralph Smith, a director of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

Stiff breezes and cloudy weather which sharply curtailed the complimentary rides on the upper chair lift and forced the crowd indoors quickly after the ceremonies were the only marrings of the dedication program which concluded with an inspection of the lodge-cafeteria and a buffet dinner.

Music was provided by the American Federation of Musician's Band.

The Rev. Roger Dixon offered the invocation, while the Rev. John O. Gorman gave the benediction.

Sifford Leading Canadian Golf

MONTREAL (AP)—Charlie Sifford, who held the first round lead in the Canadian Open golf championship in 1355 but faded to 19th, was on top of the field today at the midway point, with better hopes of holding on.

The 39-year-old Sifford, five times U.S. Negro champion, posted a precise 67 Friday on the par 72 Laval-sur-le-Lac course for a 2-round total of 138.

It was Sifford's second straight round without a bogie, and he was hitting his approaches so close to the hole that his longest birdie putt was 15 feet. Most were much shorter. He had an opening 71.

A stroke back at 139 was an international trio, Bruce Crampton of Australia, Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg, and veteran Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The first round leader, George Knudson of Toronto, faded to a 75 for a 140 total. Don Fairfield shared the spot with 69, 71.

U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus soared to a 75 for 145. Gary Player, who won the U.S. PGA title last week, was out of the chase, having been disqualified after he discovered he had turned in an incorrect score of 75 instead of a 76 on the first round and notified tournament officials.

Arnold Palmer passed up the tournament.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Frank Howard, Dodgers, smashed three-run homer in second inning, giving National League leading Los Angeles a 3-1 victory over second-place San Francisco in opening game of their three-game series.

Pitching — Al Jackson, Mets, snapped club's 11-game losing streak with third shutout of the season, scattering nine St. Louis hits for 1-0 victory in opener of doubleheader.

Kid Stuff

TRENTON, N. J. — (NEA) — 13-year-old boy, fishing with a piece of bread on a string, accomplished something many sophisticated anglers, with expensive equipment, would like.

Stuart Blaustein of Brooklyn caught a 22-inch largemouth bass, 14 inches in girth and weighing five pounds, 13 ounces.

Pedestrian Killed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Samuel Way, 71, of Syracuse, was struck and killed by an automobile early today as he walked along Route 690 near the State Exposition grounds.

Junk Woes That Go With Trash

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

More efficient disposal of household trash is a concern when summer weather adds its special aesthetic and practical problems to this daily task.

Most of us, dependent on regular collections by private or community trucking firms, make our peace with the collector and arrange the trash and garbage as he asks. This may mean meeting him more than halfway on his visit to our house and moving trash cans from the back entrance to the front curb.

In some areas, homemakers are asked to separate papers, metals and garbage. Even the household equipped with a garbage disposer and incinerator has a certain percentage of trash which cannot be banished by either appliance.

No one pays much attention to the dull gray trash cans when they fade into the dull gray winter landscape. But outdoor living calls attention to the disreputable can parked convenient to the back door but too near the patio. Aside from appearances, trash cans can become offensively smelly and insect-ridden in warm weather. Added problems to me are two inquisitive puppies who show great ingenuity in removing lids and tipping over cans in search of hidden treasures.

I have been looking for a container for the cans which would discourage animal raiders and add a neater appearance to the back yard. Recently, I saw a new all purpose aluminum utility house which is large enough (43x24x35 inches) to hold two good-sized cans or barrels. This lightweight storage locker has an enclosed base to prevent stains on cement or stone walks, a hinged top lid and front-opening doors for easy access. Although the ribbed, non-rusting aluminum doesn't need paint for surface protection, it can be painted for camouflage (green and white) or for a bright dash of color.

Incidentally, galvanized trash cans painted in various colors and decorated with simple and jaunty designs brighten the alleys and curbs of Chicago's Old Town area where the artist-residents put their talents to work to alleviate the dreary look of trash collecting.

Moving trash cans around is a nuisance but, if it must be done, a sturdy dolly is a great aid. I bought a small one years ago and it is still a useful aid to moving any weighty object.

If you buy plastic barrels, make sure the plastic is intended for outdoor use and extremes of temperature. I use a plastic barrel for garbage because it can be swabbed clean with soap and water with little effort and no rust problem. I use galvanized cans (which are less expensive) for papers and similar trash. If they must be used for garbage, I line them with newspapers first. Both types can be sprayed with insecticides and deodorizers. Spray the area around the trash cans with insecticides too.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

By: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John B. Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main St., Kingston, New York.

Legislation—The Senate at committee level is now considering veteran's legislation. Most significant was a hearing held by the Senate Finance Committee in relation to reopening National Service Life Insurance Program. The discharge petition to bring HR 3745 to the floor of the House now has 204 signatures—219 signatures are necessary.

Education — Projections prepared by the VA indicate that there are 150,000 to 200,000 Korean Conflict veterans still eligible to take advantage of the educational provisions of the GI Bill. However, they have only about 2½ years in which to complete their training or education—the law provides that all education or training of non-disabled Korean veterans will end by January 31, 1965.

Pension — Recent legislation now provides that persons entitled to Social Security Benefits become eligible at 62 rather than waiting until age 65. Many veterans entitled to a VA pension will be in this category. It is quite possible that many veterans might choose to begin receiving Social Security at 62, although they will be paid only 90 per cent of the amount they would draw at age 65. In doing so, it may be to their advantage in view of the income regulations under Public Law 86-211. In many cases veterans have been removed from the pension rolls completely or had pensions reduced because of being forced to accept the full payment of Social Security at age 65. None of the benefits from Social Security can be waived in part or in whole for the purpose of qualifying for VA pension. The decision is up to each individual as to whether or not it will be to his advantage to apply for benefits at age 62, instead of waiting until he reaches the age of 65.

Benefits — The proper execution of required forms will speed up applications for veterans benefits. Every item on the application form must be filled out legibly before the claim can be adjudicated. Failure to provide the necessary information delays the decision on a claim and often leads to an exchange of correspondence before a complete answer can be obtained. In the event some doubt exists as to how forms should be filled out, veterans should contact Mr. Tyler or Mr. Culver at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen, or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York, Monday through Friday, office hours for the summer during July and August 9 to 4.

Rear Living Room Provides Privacy in Ranch House

By JACK McELENEY

A living room at the rear of the house has many things to recommend it and the modern ranch-type dwelling offered today by Associated Architects is an excellent example of this form of design.

First and foremost it offers the best guarantee of privacy and insurance against disturbance by street noises. It also provides isolation from any confusion that might arise from other activities within the house itself.

There are many fine features about the big spacious living room in "The Athens." There is a big rear window wall that virtually opens the room to the outdoor scene. It has an end-wall fireplace flanked by built-in combination bookcases and log storage units and decorator shelving enhances the entry from the main hall.

There are many choices for furniture grouping in a room such as this, all of which will fit well into a general scheme that includes a dining area at the end next to the kitchen.

Big Roomy Kitchen

The dining area is where the more formal meals will be served but for family affairs the corner nook in the large kitchen will undoubtedly be the favored spot.

In "The Athens" the kitchen has traded positions with the living room and the homemaker will find it a pleasant place to work. The main work area, including the sink counter and cabinet space and refrigerator, occupies a straight line across the front wall with a double sash window to provide ample natural light and ventilation. The work unit continues in an L shape with room for a built-in cooking surface or an adjoining range.

The architects were careful to avoid any awkwardness in relation to traffic through the house by the inclusion of a hall-like foyer that, while providing access to it, completely bypasses the kitchen.

Plenty of Closets

The foyer has a guest closet which is part of a pattern of excellent storage space throughout the house. There is another closet adjoining the guest closet opening on the hall that leads to the sleeping area. There are two linen closets; the bathroom boasts a towel closet, and all three of the bedrooms have sliding door wardrobes. In fact, the rear room has two, to establish equal closet rights for him and her.

The bathroom is unusually spacious and includes not only the conventional tub but a shower stall.

There is an entry off the kitchen that leads either to the basement or the attached garage. A door at the rear of the living room leads to a fine private porch which also has an entrance to the garage.

"The Athens" has 1,350 square feet of living space with the garage adding another 264 square feet. The cubage is 24,000 cubic feet with basement and 20,000 cubic feet without. The over-all basic measurements are 56 feet by 34 feet.

Blueprints can be obtained at a moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. They are available with or without a basement. In a without basement plan, the space occupied by the stairway becomes a heater room.

These plans also feature alternate section views for cement block and brick veneer construction.

Revive Garden Party's Pleasure

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Added to the boisterous fun of family picnics and cookouts on the summer scene are the rediscovered pleasures of the afternoon garden party.

This is a justly favored way to introduce summer visitors, to honor an anniversary or to entertain mixed-age groups, combining a certain formality of service, a gracious setting and freedom to enjoy the spaciousness of outdoors.

Now, if you've been too busy battling crab grass to pay attention to the more romantic trends in garden living, don't be dismayed at the idea of trying to approximate Edwardian elegance in the back yard. The present-day trend takes a lighthearted look at the Victorian and Edwardian era, rejecting the too-precious and the overly fragile, adapting menus, adding frills and whimsy to the decor.

You don't need a grape arbor for a garden party setup, but if you own one you're in rare luck. Screened summer houses or gazebos, homemade or prefabricated, are other choice locales. Basically, the best background will be the prettiest part of the lawn.

My own choice would be under our catalpa trees which, no matter how you feel about catalpa pods and blossoms, afford lovely shade and a thick green canopy overhead.

Here are some ideas I got from Joan's setting which I hope will be helpful to you, too. First, she picked a cool, elegant color scheme and carried it out to the nth degree. Colors are cerulean blue and white, lilac and green.

Secondly, without making a big show of practicality every bit of tableware is handsome but non-breakable and light to tote (remember: food and beverage and tableware will have to be carried from the kitchen). Melmac dinnerware is patterned with a giant hydrangea blossom in lilac and green; matching celadon green cups, wicker baskets for sandwiches and cakes are petaled like flowers and have handles for passing about.

The punch bowl is made with two large porcelain-enameled bowls in bright blue (one is inverted) and the cups are hung on picture molding hooks around the edge.

Curlicue wicker chairs and hanging baskets for plants and flowers hark back to Victorian days. (Wicker furniture and basketry are widely available.)

The menu is the old-fashioned garden party kind. Watercress and thin cucumber sandwiches, cream cheese and nut bread, tiny iced cakes and punch are the essentials.

The dinner plates, which are large coupe-shaped ones, handle all the refreshments, including the punch cup.

New Handbag Glamour

Last year's straw handbag can be given new glamour by painting it in bright colors with a handy aerosol self-spraying paint can. Since paint sticks better to a clean surface, vacuum the bag first to remove any dust and wipe away any oil, grease or lipstick with a cloth soaked in odorless paint thinner. If you spray the bag with a gold lacquer, it's a good idea to finish with a coat of clear varnish for additional protection.

Cool Seat

Ever jumped up in pain when you've plopped down in your swim suit on a metal chair that's been standing in the sun? There's a simple way to prevent that happening again: just enamel the seat and back white. White paint will reflect most of the sun's heat and keep the chair cool. Before painting, remove any rust with steel wool and wipe away any oil or grease with paint thinner. Apply an anti-corrosive primer before brushing on the exterior enamel.

Marks' 70 Takes Medal In ENYGA at Stamford

Ronnie Marks, 25-year-old IBM employe and former Wiltwyck club champion, scored a par 70 Friday at Stamford Country Club to win Class A medalist honors in the Eastern New York Golf Assn. championship qualifying round.

Marks' 36-34 on the par 34-36 Stamford layout included four birdies on the back nine to edge a powerful trio by one stroke. At 71 were defending champion Leon Randall, also of Wiltwyck, on 35-36; Dr. Hugo Isabella, Pine Haven, with 36-35, and John Moynihan Jr., Troy Country Club, also with 36-35.

Karl Reynard, president of the host club, was medalist in Class B with 39-39-78. Leader in Class C, which has no defending champion, was Richard Farley, on 43-47-90. He is the Delaware County district attorney.

Marks, after three bogeys and a birdie on the fourth going out, birdied the 10th, 14th, 15th and 16th to more than atone for errors on the way in. He and Randall were joined by William (Buzzy) Costello to give Wiltwyck a three-pronged threat for the title to be decided Sunday afternoon.

Par and Marks' card:

Par out:	353 444 434	—34
Marks out:	354 345 435	—36

Real Estate

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—(NEA) — Admiral's Voyage in each of his last three starts has been narrowly defeated in a $100,000-added race.

Fred W. Hooper's colt was beaten a nose in the Jersey Derby and Belmont Stakes and a neck in the Hollywood Derby. The difference between first and second money in the three stakes adds up to $192,265, a high price for a few inches of real estate.

Throw in the Santa Anita Derby in March when the son of Crafty Admiral ran second by three parts of a length, and Admiral's Voyage this season has dropped $279,365 by a total margin of about a length.

GranHamnerNow With Kansas City

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Granny Hamner, the former Star Philadelphia Phillie shortstop trying to make a major league comeback as a pitcher, joined the Kansas City Athletics here Friday night for a tryout.

Obviously, he felt good just to be back in a major league uniform, among friends he played beside three years ago.

After warming up on the sidelines, the 35-year-old right-hander took the mound and threw batting practice pitches for 15 minutes.

Each batter got a small dose of Hamner's specialty—a dancing knuckle ball which enabled him to post a 10-4 record with the Binghamton Triplets in the Class A Eastern League.

Hamner, manager of Binghamton, took a turn as a starting pitcher earlier in the season. Since then he has completed every start and compiled a 1.91 earned run average.

Some of the Kansas City batters mumbled to themselves as they swung at the knucklers — hardly the usual pitch for batting practice. Gino Cimoli shook his head in amazement at one pitch, and Ed Charles slammed his bat to the ground after merely tipping a couple balls.

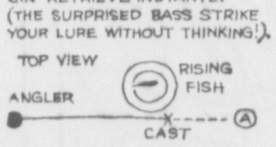
CASTING TO THE RISING FISH

WHEN BASS ARE IN SHALLOW WATER, IT OFTEN PAYS TO CAST A SPOON OR PLUG RIGHT AT THEIR SPLASH AS SOON AS YOU CAN AND BEGIN RETRIEVE INSTANTLY—(THE SURPRISED BASS STRIKE YOUR LURE WITHOUT THINKING!)



AT ALL OTHER TIMES, AIM CAST SO LURE DROPS TO ONE SIDE OF THE FISH OR BEYOND FISH (A); SO RETRIEVE PASSES NEAR FISH. IF THERE'S A CURRENT, ALLOW FOR THE DRIFT.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

3 Minor Traffic Mishaps Reported To City Police

Three minor traffic mishaps were reported to Kingston Police Headquarters in the past 24 hours.

At 4:10 p. m. Friday a car being operated by Betty Tiano, 28, of 175 Miller's Lane, was in collision with a car being operated by Harry Rowles, 28, of 174 Tillson Street, Port Ewen, according to police reports.

Both cars were reportedly going north on Broadway and the Tiano car stopped for a traffic light at the intersection of Cornell Street and was struck from the rear by the Rowles vehicle.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Sheldon F. O'Rourke.

Friday at 11:05 p. m., police reports say that a car being operated by Leonard J. Parise, 38, of 113 Spring Street, collided with a car parked at the curb in front of 24 Abeel Street. The parked car was owned by Rose Marie Genther, 15 DuBois Street. The Parise car was headed east on Abeel Street when the accident occurred.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolman Harold DeGraff.

A car being operated by Robert Wolf, 18, of 140 Spring Street, was damaged about the left side when it was in collision with an unknown vehicle this morning around 1 o'clock according to City Police.

The Wolf vehicle was reportedly headed toward Broadway on Emerson Street when an unidentified vehicle approaching in the opposite direction struck it and kept going.

Area Chairman Supports Vidal

Support for the designation of Gore Vidal, Barrytown, as Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, was pledged Friday by Albert Hecht, chairman of the Ditchess County Democratic committee.

Hecht said he will work for Vidal's designation Monday at a pre-convention meeting in New York City for the party county chairmen throughout the state.

The pre-convention meeting has been called to seek a concensus of gubernatorial thinking because, with the state convention set for Sept. 17-19 at Syracuse, the election campaign period is reduced to six weeks.

"I am still working for Gore Vidal's nomination and have every reason to believe he will be receptive to the nomination," Hecht said.

Vidal, author and playwright, has been silent on whether he would accept the party's nomination. In 1960 he was unsuccessful candidate when he ran for Congress against incumbent J. Ernest Wharton (R-29th District) and lost by 24,000 votes.

Report Jewelry, Cash Burglary At Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie police today are investigating theft of jewelry valued at more than $1,300 from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manzi, 30 Delafield Street, that city.

The theft occurred while the family was on vacation. Manzi told Detectives Jack Durkin and Frank Dunlap that $725 in cash also was missing from his home. The jewelry consisted of a gold and diamond wedding band, a black cameo, pearl earrings and a sapphire and gold umbrella shaped pin.

Entrance was gained to the Manzi home by breaking a rear door. The burglary was discovered Wednesday by Manzi's brother, Anthony, who notified authorities.

Gage St. Girl Missing

Park Department Kids Dog Shows Start on Monday

The annual Ken-L-Ration Kids Dog Shows sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Department will be run the week of July 30 in the various city parks.

The shows highlighting the summer recreation program will be conducted by the recreation staff and the Ken-L-Ration Company which donates the prizes for the show.

Any child having a dog of any breed whether pedigreed or plain mixed is invited to compete in the show. The judges for the show will show no partiality because a dog happens to be a well bred dog. In the past shows throughout the years the bulk of the prizes have been won by mixed breeds.

Prizes for the first three places in each classification will be awarded with every child entering a dog receiving a Ken-L-Ration shirt, a can of dog food and a booklet on how to care for your dog.

The winning dogs in all park shows will receive trophies and ribbons with the owner of the dog judged best of show winning a fine wrist watch. Classifications to be judged are as follows:

Best Costumed Dog; Dog with longest tail; Dog with shortest tail; Largest Dog; Smallest Dog; Best Trick Dog; Best Cared for Dog; Best of Show.

Monday, July 30, Block Park; Tuesday, July 31, Forsyth Park; Wednesday, Aug. 1, Cornell Park; Thursday, Aug. 2, Hutton Park; Friday, Aug. 3, Lawton Park.

All dogs entered in the park show will be eligible to compete in the county finals at Forsyth Park during the Ulster County Fair on August 15 at 1:30 p. m.

Rosendale Slates All-Day Picnic At DeWitt Lake

The all-day picnic sponsored under direction of the Town of Rosendale recreation program will be held at DeWitt Lake on Monday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Swimming and games are planned for the day, and those attending are asked to bring their own lunch.

Buses for children will leave the Tillson School at 9 a. m. and make stops at the Chalet, Runne's and Schmid's service stations and Yonnetti's store.

If the weather is rainy or cold the picnic will be held Wednesday, Aug. 1.

33 Americans Killed In Viet Nam Honored

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. authorities announced here today that 33 Americans killed or wounded in South Viet Nam since December 1961 have been awarded the Purple Heart.

Purple Hearts also have been awarded to American military personnel killed or wounded before the major U.S. military buildup began here December 1961, but authorities said a complete list of them was not available here.

Americans wounded in action since Dec. 1, 1961, included Spec.4 David B. Delota, Owego, N.Y.

Highland Grange Picnic on Aug. 26

The annual picnic of Highland Grange 888 will be held Sunday, Aug. 26, at Tillson Lake beginning at 10:30 a. m., and not as previously announced.

Those planning to attend will pack their own lunch. All Juvenile and Subordinate Grange members in the county are invited to attend.

SaysActionTaken To Release Five Americans in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Acting Premier Prince Souphanouvong said today he has taken the first steps to release five Americans held prisoner by his pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops.

Souphanouvong said he ordered his troops to move the Americans to areas near air strips in anticipation of their release. He said he expected to have "precise information next week" on when the prisoners would be freed.

The U.S. Embassy has said the Americans known to be captive of the Pathet Lao are: Grant Wolfkill, a National Broadcasting Co. cameraman from Shelton, Wash.; John McMorrow, of Galloway, Tenn., and John Shore Jr., of Brooklyn, N.Y., civilian airmen with the charter firm Air America; Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio; and Maj. Lawrence Bailey, Laurel, Md.

Souphanouvong spoke to newsmen after his return from his former rebel headquarters at Khang Khay and a meeting with U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger. Unger had called on Souphanouvong to inquire about what had been done about freeing the prisoners as called for in the Geneva agreement that guarantees Laos' neutrality.

Accidents Fewer Despite Flying Step-up: Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rate of military aircraft accidents continues downward despite the stepped-up tempo of flying and increasing complexity of aircraft, Air Force and Navy spokesmen said today.

They also said in answer to questions that no sharp change in this trend had been noted since the close of the 1962 fiscal year on June 30.

For the first six months of this year, the Air Force accident rate is estimated at 5.8 for each 100,000 hours flown. The rate includes all type of accidents, both fatal and nonfatal. It compares with 6.89 for a six-month period in the previous year.

The Navy's accident rate decreased, meanwhile, by 9 per cent in fiscal 1962 over the previous fiscal year, the service said.

Highest in State

WHITEFACE MOUNTAIN — Not quite air mail, but at 4,500 feet the newly named Whiteface Mountain, N. Y. post office box is the highest mailing station in New York State. John King, acting manager, Whiteface Mountain, announced today, that Ronald MacKenzie, postmaster of Lake Placid and a member of the Adirondack Mountain Authority, officially designated Whiteface Mountain, as a New York rural Post Office Station. Whiteface's mailing address was formerly Wilmington, N. Y.

With Seventh Fleet

Donald D. Davis Jr., airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Davis of Route 28, Kingston and J. T. Mitchell machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell of Napanoch, are serving aboard an amphibious assault ship operating as a unit of our Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific area.

The ship and crew recently returned to Subic Bay, the Philippines, after a week-long visit to Hong Kong.

Killed in Car Mishap

POTTERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Charles Wallace, 46, of Pottersville, was killed early today when the automobile in which he was riding left Route 9 north of this Warren County community and crashed into a pond.

Chickens for Egg Production Fewer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) The State Agriculture Department says the number of chickens being raised in the state for egg production is the lowest in the 38 years records have been kept.

A total of 7,026,000 chickens are being raised, a 6 per cent drop from last year.

Medical College Awarded $28,860 For Cancer Work

ALBANY—The National Cancer Institute has granted $28,860 to Albany Medical College for research to determine the effect of several anti-cancer drugs on one of man's built-in defense mechanisms against disease.

Dr. Robert Megirian, assistant professor of pharmacology, is in charge of the project, which will extend over a three-year period.

Dr. Megirian's investigation is based on previously published evidence indicating that one of the ways the human body might slow down the growth of an invading cancer is through a mechanism known as phagocytosis. In phagocytosis certain cells, called phagocytes, devour other cells, micro-organisms or foreign particles, and deposit them in organs from which they can be removed from the body.

Animal experiments have demonstrated that in some forms of cancer, the body increases its rate of phagocytosis. The phagocytosis probably devour many of the cancer cells and reduce the rate at which the cancer is able to grow and spread.

In earlier studies, Dr. Megirian found that some anti-cancer drugs tend to suppress phagocytosis, thus interfering with the body's own defense against cancer. In his present study, Dr. Megirian will extend his initial investigation to cover a more detailed investigation of these and other anti-cancer drugs.

Phagocytosis will be determined by measuring the rate at which phagocytic particles are removed from the blood stream and deposited in the tissue of the liver and spleen of the animals. Rates will be compared in the experimental and control animals, to see which drugs increase or decrease phagocytosis.

Dr. Megirian, who has written several scientific papers on the action of phagocytic cells, joined the Albany Medical College faculty last year. He formerly served as a research pharmacologist with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Troopers Asked To Probe Fire In Napanoch Area

Napanoch fire officials have asked State Police to conduct a full investigation of fire which early today leveled a two-story frame building on the property of the Napanoch Country Club.

Chief Ronald Murphy told The Freeman he called in the state troopers to probe the origin of the blaze which aroused guests at the club and tourists in the nearby overnight camps.

The reason for the investigation, Chief Murphy said, is because this morning's fire occurred a week following a fire of undetermined origin which broke out in a mattress in the club's main building.

Chief Murphy said the frame structure which was destroyed this morning was occupied as a boiler house, storeroom and pressure tanks for the deep wells.

While Napanoch firemen were at the scene from 2:20 to 4:15 a. m., Ellenville Fire Company stood by at the Napanoch station.

Kennedys Gather For 33rd Birthday Of First Lady

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A flock of Kennedys got together today for a birthday celebration—the 33rd for First Lady Jacqueline.

President Kennedy arrived Friday evening to join in the festivities and to be first to wish his wife "happy birthday."

The President wasn't saying what he gave his wife for a present.

Killed as Truck Upsets

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—James Henry Maston, 28, of Charlotte Court House, Va., was killed Friday night when the tractor-trailer he was driving overturned on Route 9 near this Essex County village.

State Police said the trailer apparently dropped onto the left drive wheels of the truck and caused the driver to lose control.

Spencer Reappointed

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — William F. Spencer of Middleburg was reappointed Friday by Gov. Rockefeller to a nine-year term on the council of the State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Cobleskill.

Spencer, 68, is president of the unsalaried council.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer ..

NEW YORK (AP)—The rumor-buffeted U.S. dollar got a top-level reassuring pat on the back during the week that was heard and seen around the world.

President Kennedy, speaking in a news conference televised live to Europe via Telstar satellite, pledged that the dollar will not be devaluated.

"Those who speculate against the dollar are going to lose," he said.

The reaction was quick. The speculators who had bet on rumors that the dollar would be devaluated rushed to sell their gold-mining shares. Prices of shares tumbled on New York, London and Johannesburg exchanges.

The price of actual gold declined on the London bullion market.

Dollar Strengthened

There was a general strengthening of the dollar against major European currencies in foreign exchange markets here and abroad.

The dollar was in the news on another front. Americans learned that in June it wouldn't go as far in covering the cost of living as it did in May.

Mainly because of higher food prices, the Labor Department's consumers price index advanced one-tenth of one per cent to a record 105.3 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

The index has increased eight-tenths of one per cent this year, rising to new records in four of the six months.

The possibility of an income tax cut remained up in the air with Kennedy saying he wanted to see the July economic statistics before making a decision on whether to request Congress to approve a quick reduction to bolster business.

Hearings Begin

The House Ways and Means Committee began closed-door hearings on the status of the economy and the tax question was expected to be a major subject.

The stock market, moving within a moderate trading range, was considered by some brokers to be marking time pending a decision on the tax matter.

Stocks sold during the week totaled 13,914,661 shares, down from the 15,962,490 of the previous week and 17,360,360 for the comparable week of last year. Bond sales totaled $20,450,000 par value, a drop from the $24,676,000 of the previous week and $36,060,000 for the comparable 1961 week.

A development regarded as indicating rising confidence in the market was the excellent reception given a 1,589,680-share secondary offering of General Motors Corp. common stock at $49.62 a share.

Construction Good

The F. W. Dodge Corp., a statistical organization, reported the pace of new construction in the first five months of this year was "nothing short of phenomenal" although "the economy has shown less verve than expected."

Total awards through May amounted to a record $17.2 billion, a gain of 17 per cent from last year.

Another economic indicator—new orders for metal-cutting type machine tools—wasn't favorable. The total for June was $49.35 million compared with $51.65 million in May and $52 million in June 1961.

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, reported that business indicators appear to be acting "very much as they usually do six months or so in advance of a business downturn."

In the railroad industry, operating unions sued to prevent the carriers from changing work rules Aug. 16 and threatened to strike unless the plans are called off. The railroads have announced their intention to enforce economy changes in operating practices recommended by a presidential commission.

Earnings Brighten

Generally good six-month corporate earnings reports brightened the business picture. This was particularly true in the booming automobile industry, where General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors announced substantial profit increases over a year earlier.

Automobile production slipped during the week to an estimated 137,000 passenger cars from 148,475 the previous week as Chrysler and American Motors completed 1962 model year production. New car sales in the middle 10 days of July totaled 175,149, down from 177,368 a year ago. It was the first decline this year.

Steel output increased during the week but steel companies didn't expect any major gain to develop before next month. The total of 1,398,000 tons was two per cent above the previous week.

Wassaic School Employes Protest Work Conditions

Demonstrations by employes at Wassaic State School protesting what were described as "deplorable conditions" will begin at 10 a. m. on Monday, according to Alfred Baron Wurf, Albany, regional director of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Dr. George F. Elting, director at the school, had no comment. He said he would say nothing about the plan until he studies Wurf's charges.

"We will begin picketing in front of the school," Wurf said, "and we will continue until the public becomes fully aware of the situation."

Wurf described the demonstrations as "a showdown between the Department of Mental Hygiene and the employes union."

A circular distributed to Wassaic school employes listed the following demands:

1. Elimination of quotas; 2. Elimination of understaffing; 3. Correct the failure to fill line items (jobs); 4. A return of respect for the employes' role and a restoration of his dignity and stature; 5. Eliminate the approach by the department in seeking good public relations at the expense of a patient and employe alike; 6. Eradicate limitations of restrictive policies placed on institutions by the department; 7. Fill the items (jobs) or limit admissions to the school.

Killed in Crash

SUFFERN, N. Y. (AP)—One man was killed and another injured seriously Friday when two tractor-trailer trucks crashed head-on on a highway near here.

Dead was Cecil R. Flynn, 32, of Monroe, Orange County. Injured was John Paul Lang, also of Monroe.

Police said Flynn's truck went out of control and struck the other vehicle.

Pro-Integration Movement Fate Hangs in Balance

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The fate of the pro-integration Albany Movement appeared to hang in the balance today with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other key Negro leaders behind bars.

"I want you to know that the destiny of the movement is now in your hands," the Rev. Andrew Young, an aide to King, told about 700 Negroes Friday night at a church meeting.

"We're not going tonight," Young said after King and 27 other persons, including a white youth, were jailed for staging prayer demonstrations in front of City Hall.

"I think it is up to you," Young told the Negroes. "Tomorrow (Saturday) is our turn to go."

They were followed by 18 other persons, including a Cincinnati white youth. Stretchers were brought in to remove about 10 of the group, including 6 juveniles, when they intentionally went limp.

All were charged with disorderly conduct, congregating on the sidewalk and refusing to obey an officer.

In a statement handed out during the demonstrations, King and his associates said their protest was "a final effort to soften the heart of the City Commission."

Road Fatality

Catskill Native Honored for 39 Years in Army

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller awarded today to Gen. George H. Decker, chief of staff, U.S. Army, the State Conspicuous Service Medal for meritorious and distinguished service in the Army.

The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. A.C. O'Hara, chief of staff to the governor and commanding general, New York Army National Guard.

In a citation presented with the medal, Rockefeller said:

"General Decker has served a total of over 39 years in the New York State military forces and in the United States Army. The state of New York is proud to honor this distinguished native son."

Decker is a native of Catskill. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the regular army June 13, 1924. He served during World War II as deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Sixth Army in the southwest Pacific and was appointed to his present post in 1960.

Girl Scouts Will Gather Around FinalFireTonight

BUTTON BAY, Vt. (AP)—Some 10,000 Girl Scouts will gather around a huge campfire tonight in their last weekend here and pledge themselves to constant improvement in living.

Their vows of continually working toward better citizenship will be answers to a challenge given them by President Kennedy, who asked them in a message earlier in the encampment to strive always for a better way of life.

The girls will attend religious services during the weekend before breaking camp Monday and Tuesday.

Sunday afternoon a ceremony for the placement of the granite-site marker of the 1962 roundup will bring the roundup to a close. Vermont state officials will participate.

The first contingent of the 746 campers including girls from New York, New Jersey, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will leave by special train Monday morning from Port Henry, N.Y.

Demonstrations were the chief attraction Friday at the roundup.

The K-Dets of Newburgh, N.Y., rated attention for their clever take-off on the life of a West Point cadet.

The girls were drilled and coached by Major Gordon Esterbrook, West Point.

3 Minor Traffic Mishaps Reported To City Police

Three minor traffic mishaps were reported to Kingston Police Headquarters in the past 24 hours.

At 4:10 p. m. Friday a car being operated by Betty Tiano, 28, of 175 Miller's Lane, was in collision with a car being operated by Harry Rowles, 28, of 174 Tillson Street, Port Ewen, according to police reports.

Both cars were reportedly going north on Broadway and the Tiano car stopped for a traffic light at the intersection of Cornell Street and was struck from the rear by the Rowles vehicle.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Sheldon F. O'Rourke.

Friday at 11:05 p. m., police reports say that a car being operated by Leonard J. Parise, 38, of 113 Spring Street, collided with a car parked at the curb in front of 24 Abeel Street. The parked car was owned by Rose Marie Genther, 15 DuBois Street. The Parise car was headed east on Abeel Street when the accident occurred.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolman Harold DeGraff.

A car being operated by Robert Wolf, 18, of 140 Spring Street, was damaged about the left side when it was in collision with an unknown vehicle this morning around 1 o'clock according to City Police.

The Wolf vehicle was reportedly headed toward Broadway on Emerson Street when an unidentified vehicle approaching in the opposite direction struck it and kept going.

Area Chairman Supports Vidal

Support for the designation of Gore Vidal, Barrytown, as Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, was pledged Friday by Albert Hecht, chairman of the Ditchess County Democratic committee.

Hecht said he will work for Vidal's designation Monday at a pre-convention meeting in New York City for the party county chairmen throughout the state.

The pre-convention meeting has been called to seek a concensus of gubernatorial thinking because, with the state convention set for Sept. 17-19 at Syracuse, the election campaign period is reduced to six weeks.

"I am still working for Gore Vidal's nomination and have every reason to believe he will be receptive to the nomination," Hecht said.

Vidal, author and playwright, has been silent on whether he would accept the party's nomination. In 1960 he was unsuccessful candidate when he ran for Congress against incumbent J. Ernest Wharton (R-29th District) and lost by 24,000 votes.

Report Jewelry, Cash Burglary At Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie police today are investigating theft of jewelry valued at more than $1,300 from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manzi, 30 Delafield Street, that city.

The theft occurred while the family was on vacation. Manzi told Detectives Jack Durkin and Frank Dunlap that $725 in cash also was missing from his home. The jewelry consisted of a gold and diamond wedding band, a black cameo, pearl earrings and a sapphire and gold umbrella shaped pin.

Entrance was gained to the Manzi home by breaking a rear door. The burglary was discovered Wednesday by Manzi's brother, Anthony, who notified authorities.

Gage St. Girl Missing

A 14-year-old Kingston girl was reported missing from her home this morning at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Lois DeGroat, 79 Gage Street, notified police that her daughter, Linda Mae Marble, had left home by crawling through a bedroom window. When last seen the girl was wearing a black skirt and white sandals. She is five foot, five inches tall, weighs 220 pounds has black hair and brown eyes and is dark complected.

Park Department Kids Dog Shows Start on Monday

The annual Ken-L-Ration Kids Dog Shows sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Department will be run the week of July 30 in the various city parks.

The shows highlighting the summer recreation program will be conducted by the recreation staff and the Ken-L-Ration Company which donates the prizes for the show.

Any child having a dog of any breed whether pedigreed or plain mixed is invited to compete in the show. The judges for the show will show no partiality because a dog happens to be a well bred dog. In the past shows throughout the years the bulk of the prizes have been won by mixed breeds.

Prizes for the first three places in each classification will be awarded with every child entering a dog receiving a Ken-L-Ration shirt, a can of dog food and a booklet on how to care for your dog.

The winning dogs in all park shows will receive trophies and ribbons with the owner of the dog judged best of show winning a fine wrist watch. Classifications to be judged are as follows:

Best Costumed Dog; Dog with longest tail; Dog with shortest tail; Largest Dog; Smallest Dog; Best Trick Dog; Best Cared for Dog; Best of Show.

Monday, July 30, Block Park; Tuesday, July 31, Forsyth Park; Wednesday, Aug. 1, Cornell Park; Thursday, Aug. 2, Hutton Park; Friday, Aug. 3, Lawton Park.

All dogs entered in the park show will be eligible to compete in the county finals at Forsyth Park during the Ulster County Fair on August 15 at 1:30 p. m.

Rosendale Slates All-Day Picnic At DeWitt Lake

The all-day picnic sponsored under direction of the Town of Rosendale recreation program will be held at DeWitt Lake on Monday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Swimming and games are planned for the day, and those attending are asked to bring their own lunch.

Buses for children will leave the Tillson School at 9 a. m. and make stops at the Chalet, Runne's and Schmid's service stations and Yonnetti's store.

If the weather is rainy or cold the picnic will be held Wednesday, Aug. 1.

33 Americans Killed In Viet Nam Honored

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. authorities announced here today that 33 Americans killed or wounded in South Viet Nam since December 1961 have been awarded the Purple Heart.

Purple Hearts also have been awarded to American military personnel killed or wounded before the major U.S. military buildup began here December 1961, but authorities said a complete list of them was not available here.

Americans wounded in action since Dec. 1, 1961, included Spec.4 David B. Delota, Owego, N.Y.

SaysActionTaken To Release Five Americans in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Acting Premier Prince Souphanouvong said today he has taken the first steps to release five Americans held prisoner by his pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops.

Souphanouvong said he ordered his troops to move the Americans to areas near air strips in anticipation of their release. He said he expected to have "precise information next week" on when the prisoners would be freed.

The U.S. Embassy has said the Americans known to be captive of the Pathet Lao are: Grant Wolfkill, a National Broadcasting Co. cameraman from Shelton, Wash.; John McMorrow, of Galloway, Tenn., and John Shore Jr., of Brooklyn, N.Y., civilian airmen with the charter firm Air America; Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio; and Maj. Lawrence Bailey, Laurel, Md.

Souphanouvong spoke to newsmen after his return from his former rebel headquarters at Khang Khay and a meeting with U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger. Unger had called on Souphanouvong to inquire about what had been done about freeing the prisoners as called for in the Geneva agreement that guarantees Laos' neutrality.

Accidents Fewer Despite Flying Step-up: Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rate of military aircraft accidents continues downward despite the stepped-up tempo of flying and increasing complexity of aircraft, Air Force and Navy spokesmen said today.

They also said in answer to questions that no sharp change in this trend had been noted since the close of the 1962 fiscal year on June 30.

For the first six months of this year, the Air Force accident rate is estimated at 5.8 for each 100,000 hours flown. The rate includes all type of accidents, both fatal and nonfatal. It compares with 6.89 for a six-month period in the previous year.

The Navy's accident rate decreased, meanwhile, by 9 per cent in fiscal 1962 over the previous fiscal year, the service said.

Highest in State

WHITEFACE MOUNTAIN — Not quite air mail, but at 4,500 feet the newly named Whiteface Mountain, N. Y. post office box is the highest mailing station in New York State. John King, acting manager, Whiteface Mountain, announced today, that Ronald MacKenzie, postmaster of Lake Placid and a member of the Adirondack Mountain Authority, officially designated Whiteface Mountain, as a New York rural Post Office Station. Whiteface's mailing address was formerly Wilmington, N. Y.

Chickens for Egg Production Fewer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) The State Agriculture Department says the number of chickens being raised in the state for egg production is the lowest in the 38 years records have been kept.

A total of 7,026,000 chickens are being raised, a 6 per cent drop from last year.

Medical College Awarded $28,860 For Cancer Work

ALBANY—The National Cancer Institute has granted $28,860 to Albany Medical College for research to determine the effect of several anti-cancer drugs on one of man's built-in defense mechanisms against disease.

Dr. Robert Megirian, assistant professor of pharmacology, is in charge of the project, which will extend over a three-year period.

Dr. Megirian's investigation is based on previously published evidence indicating that one of the ways the human body might slow down the growth of an invading cancer is through a mechanism known as phagocytosis. In phagocytosis certain cells, called phagocytes, devour other cells, micro-organisms or foreign particles, and deposit them in organs from which they can be removed from the body.

Animal experiments have demonstrated that in some forms of cancer, the body increases its rate of phagocytosis. The phagocytosis probably devour many of the cancer cells and reduce the rate at which the cancer is able to grow and spread.

In earlier studies, Dr. Megirian found that some anti-cancer drugs tend to suppress phagocytosis, thus interfering with the body's own defense against cancer. In his present study, Dr. Megirian will extend his initial investigation to cover a more detailed investigation of these and other anti-cancer drugs.

Phagocytosis will be determined by measuring the rate at which phagocytic particles are removed from the blood stream and deposited in the tissue of the liver and spleen of the animals. Rates will be compared in the experimental and control animals, to see which drugs increase or decrease phagocytosis.

Dr. Megirian, who has written several scientific papers on the action of phagocytic cells, joined the Albany Medical College faculty last year. He formerly served as a research pharmacologist with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Troopers Asked To Probe Fire In Napanoch Area

Napanoch fire officials have asked State Police to conduct a full investigation of fire which early today leveled a two-story frame building on the property of the Napanoch Country Club.

Chief Ronald Murphy told The Freeman he called in the state troopers to probe the origin of the blaze which aroused guests at the club and tourists in the nearby overnight camps.

The reason for the investigation, Chief Murphy said, is because this morning's fire occurred a week following a fire of undetermined origin which broke out in a mattress in the club's main building.

Chief Murphy said the frame structure which was destroyed this morning was occupied as a boiler house, storeroom and pressure tanks for the deep wells.

While Napanoch firemen were at the scene from 2:20 to 4:15 a. m., Ellenville Fire Company stood by at the Napanoch station.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y. (AP) —James Henry Maston, 28, of Charlotte Court House, Va., was killed Friday night when the tractor-trailer he was driving overturned on Route 9 near this Essex County village.

State Police said the trailer apparently dropped onto the left drive wheels of the truck and caused the driver to lose control.

The truck was owned by the Griffith Lumber Co. of Haines City, Fla.

Spencer Reappointed

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — William F. Spencer of Middleburg was reappointed Friday by Gov. Rockefeller to a nine-year term on the council of the State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Cobleskill.

Spencer, 68, is president of the unsalaried council.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer ..

NEW YORK (AP)—The rumor-buffeted U.S. dollar got a top-level reassuring pat on the back during the week that was heard and seen around the world.

President Kennedy, speaking in a news conference televised live to Europe via Telstar satellite, pledged that the dollar will not be devaluated.

"Those who speculate against the dollar are going to lose," he said.

The reaction was quick. The speculators who had bet on rumors that the dollar would be devaluated rushed to sell their gold-mining shares. Prices of shares tumbled on New York, London and Johannesburg exchanges.

The price of actual gold declined on the London bullion market.

Dollar Strengthened

There was a general strengthening of the dollar against major European currencies in foreign exchange markets here and abroad.

The dollar was in the news on another front. Americans learned that in June it wouldn't go as far in covering the cost of living as it did in May.

Mainly because of higher food prices, the Labor Department's consumers price index advanced one-tenth of one per cent to a record 105.3 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

The index has increased eight-tenths of one per cent this year, rising to new records in four of the six months.

The possibility of an income tax cut remained up in the air with Kennedy saying he wanted to see the July economic statistics before making a decision on whether to request Congress to approve a quick reduction to bolster business.

Hearings Begin

The House Ways and Means Committee began closed-door hearings on the status of the economy and the tax question was expected to be a major subject.

The stock market, moving within a moderate trading range, was considered by some brokers to be marking time pending a decision on the tax matter.

Stocks sold during the week totaled 13,914,661 shares, down from the 15,962,490 of the previous week and 17,360,360 for the comparable week of last year. Bond sales totaled $20,450,000 par value, a drop from the $24,676,000 of the previous week and $36,060,000 for the comparable 1961 week.

A development regarded as indicating rising confidence in the market was the excellent reception given a 1,589,680-share secondary offering of General Motors Corp. common stock at $49.62 a share.

Construction Good

The F. W. Dodge Corp., a statistical organization, reported the pace of new construction in the first five months of this year was "nothing short of phenomenal" although "the economy has shown less verve than expected."

Total awards through May amounted to a record $17.2 billion, a gain of 17 per cent from last year.

Another economic indicator—new orders for metal-cutting type machine tools—wasn't favorable. The total for June was $49.35 million compared with $51.65 million in May and $52 million in June 1961.

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, reported that business indicators appear to be acting "very much as they usually do six months or so in advance of a business downturn."

In the railroad industry, operating unions sued to prevent the carriers from changing work rules Aug. 16 and threatened to strike unless the plans are called off. The railroads have announced their intention to enforce economy changes in operating practices recommended by a presidential commission.

Earnings Brighten

Generally good six-month corporate earnings reports brightened the business picture. This was particularly true in the booming automobile industry, where General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors announced substantial profit increases over a year earlier.

Automobile production slipped during the week to an estimated 137,000 passenger cars from 148,475 the previous week as Chrysler and American Motors completed 1962 model year production. New car sales in the middle 10 days of July totaled 175,149, down from 177,368 a year ago. It was the first decline this year.

Steel output increased during the week but steel companies didn't expect any major gain to develop before next month. The total of 1,398,000 tons was two per cent above the previous week.

Wassaic School Employes Protest Work Conditions

Demonstrations by employes at Wassaic State School protesting what were described as "deplorable conditions" will begin at 10 a. m. on Monday, according to Alfred Baron Wurf, Albany, regional director of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Dr. George F. Elting, director at the school, had no comment. He said he would say nothing about the plan until he studies Wurf's charges.

"We will begin picketing in front of the school," Wurf said, "and we will continue until the public becomes fully aware of the situation."

Wurf described the demonstrations as "a showdown between the Department of Mental Hygiene and the employes union."

A circular distributed to Wassaic school employes listed the following demands:

1. Elimination of quotas; 2. Elimination of understaffing; 3. Correct the failure to fill line items (jobs); 4. A return of respect for the employes' role and a restoration of his dignity and stature; 5. Eliminate the approach by the department in seeking good public relations at the expense of a patient and employe alike; 6. Eradicate limitations of restrictive policies placed on institutions by the department; 7. Fill the items (jobs) or limit admissions to the school.

Killed in Crash

SUFFERN, N. Y. (AP)—One man was killed and another injured seriously Friday when two tractor-trailer trucks crashed head-on on a highway near here.

Dead was Cecil R. Flynn, 32, of Monroe, Orange County. Injured was John Paul Lang, also of Monroe.

Police said Flynn's truck went out of control and struck the other vehicle.

Pro-Integration Movement Fate Hangs in Balance

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The fate of the pro-integration Albany Movement appeared to hang in the balance today with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other key Negro leaders behind bars.

"I want you to know that the destiny of the movement is now in your hands," the Rev. Andrew Young, an aide to King, told about 700 Negroes Friday night at a church meeting.

"We're not going tonight," Young said after King and 27 other persons, including a white youth, were jailed for staging prayer demonstrations in front of City Hall.

"I think it is up to you," Young told the Negroes. "Tomorrow (Saturday) is our turn to go."

King was among 10 Negroes arrested after refusing to move from in front of City Hall, where they began "a prayer vigil."

They were followed by 18 other persons, including a Cincinnati white youth. Stretchers were brought in to remove about 10 of the group, including 6 juveniles, when they intentionally went limp.

All were charged with disorderly conduct, congregating on the sidewalk and refusing to obey an officer.

In a statement handed out during the demonstrations, King and his associates said their protest was "a final effort to soften the heart of the City Commission."

Road Fatality

Catskill Native Honored for 39 Years in Army

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller awarded today to Gen. George H. Decker, chief of staff, U.S. Army, the State Conspicuous Service Medal for meritorious and distinguished service in the Army.

The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. A.C. O'Hara, chief of staff to the governor and commanding general, New York Army National Guard.

In a citation presented with the medal, Rockefeller said:

"General Decker has served a total of over 39 years in the New York State military forces and in the United States Army. The state of New York is proud to honor this distinguished native son."

Decker is a native of Catskill. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the regular army June 13, 1924. He served during World War II as deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Sixth Army in the southwest Pacific and was appointed to his present post in 1960.

Girl Scouts Will Gather Around FinalFireTonight

BUTTON BAY, Vt. (AP)—Some 10,000 Girl Scouts will gather around a huge campfire tonight in their last weekend here and pledge themselves to constant improvement in living.

Their vows of continually working toward better citizenship will be answers to a challenge given them by President Kennedy, who asked them in a message earlier in the encampment to strive always for a better way of life.

The girls will attend religious services during the weekend before breaking camp Monday and Tuesday.

Sunday afternoon a ceremony for the placement of the granite-site marker of the 1962 roundup will bring the roundup to a close. Vermont state officials will participate.

The first contingent of the 746 campers including girls from New York, New Jersey, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will leave by special train Monday morning from Port Henry, N.Y.

Demonstrations were the chief attraction Friday at the roundup.

The girls were drilled and coached by Major Gordon Esterbrook, West Point.
